WOMAN IN BOODLE CASE.

Officers Unable to Locate Mrs. Blanche Kelly, Wife of Baking Powder Agent, On Subpoenas from Grand Jury.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) July 30.—A subpoena was issued by Circuit Attorney Folk today calling on Mrs. Blanche Kelly, wife of Daniel J. Kelly, the legislative agent of the baking-powder trust, who is now at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., to appear before the St. Louis grand jury on August 6, as a witness. The subpoena could not be served, as Mrs. Kelly could not be found.

Mrs. Kelly was served with a subpoena at Jefferson City as she was leaving there last night to appear before the Cole county grand jury as a witness on August 3. It was supposed that she had returned to St. Louis, but she could not be found there today.

Other Officers Skeptical as to the Success of Pursuit Which Has Been Made.

Mountain Ranchers Furnish Provender Sufficient to Keep Desperadoes From Starving.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—Sheriff Reese telephoned from Lotus, sometimes called Uniontown, at 8:35 o'clock this evening to his son Ed Reese, in Sacramento, as follows: "We have them located south of this place, between here and the railroad. Will start in a few minutes with twenty men. Hope to catch up with them."

On being asked over the telephone for more explicit information, Sheriff Reese said: "Our information is that they are between Lotus and the railroad."

LEFT UNDERCLOTHES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PLACERVILLE July 30.—In response to the call from Weber Creek, Sheriff Bosquit, Deputy Cook and four other deputies, Lieut. Tom Smith of Company H and fourteen militiamen have all hurried south from Lotus down the river. Deputy Sheriff Cook has found on the river bank underclothing which evidently had been washed and put up to dry. This clothing is said to belong to the convicts who in haste must have left without it.

FOLSOM, July 30.—At last the Folsom State prison authorities have information concerning the location of the escaped convicts which they believe to be authentic. They are convinced that the convicts, or at least three of them, are corralled in Weber Cañon, below Weber Creek bridge. More than three convicts may be in the party, but only that many have been located with any degree of certainty.

At 5 o'clock this evening, two women living at the foot of Union Town Hill saw three men whom they believed to be the escaped convicts, approaching, and the men's appearance on nearer approach convinced them that their first impression was correct. The men were evidently strangers in the locality, and asked for information about the road to Placerville. This was given to them and after the men had gone a short distance they swerved off and made in the direction of Folsom, instead of keeping on toward Placerville. A man followed them as far as Nigger Hill, shadowing them all the time. At that point they disappeared, and Sheriff Bosquit of El Dorado county, who was at Orille, a small place near at hand, was telephoned to and soon started with two men for the point where the strangers were last seen.

At 5:30 o'clock this evening the prison authorities here received a message from C. L. Taylor, one of the leaders of the prison trailers, dated at Lotus, in which he confirmed the first story of locating convicts at Weber Creek. He said that there are four refugees in the party in Weber Cañon and that he and Charles Jolley, with Uhlenkamp and another deputy, were about to start for the spot indicated. This would give a force of twenty-four men immediately available to operate against the men who are confidently believed to be in the cañon. The scouts who reported the locating of the convicts said they discovered the camp of the convicts and found a shirt and a pair of drawers that had been hung on a low bush, and that evidently had been left by the owners in precipitate flight on approach of the scouts.

The scouts then went back and got a posse of twenty men to help surround the convicts. They have moved in that direction, and nothing more will be heard of them before tomorrow, as it is not the intention to make any attack before morning.

MORE LIGHT ON IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LOTUS, July 30.—The increase of moonlight now to be noted every night is gladly welcomed by the trailers who are searching for the escaped convicts. The time of the outbreak was well chosen by the convicts, for the moon being new, it grew dark very early Monday night, and there has not been sufficient light any night since to enable the pursuers to move after nightfall. As pointed out by Captain Swisler, in talking with other officers here, the darkness prevented the convicts from moving, but while this had the effect of keeping them from making any big movement under cover of darkness it also checked the activity of the trailers in keeping up the pursuit. The trailers may be able soon to make some of their movements after nightfall, which they consider greatly to their advantage.

LOOKS LIKE LONG HUNT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FOLSOM, July 30.—Chief Clerk Brainard F. Smith of the State Prison today in discussing the chances of capturing the escaped convicts remarked that it looks as if it would be a long hunt, with the refugees having all the advantage on their side, at the outset at least.

An officer just from the front explains that in the vicinity of Lotus and in the country around about there are a great many small mountain ranches, and nearly all of them have fruit orchards and little garden patches. The convicts, by raiding these at night, might be able to get enough raw fruit and vegetables to sustain life for some time, even if they had no other food supply. In this way they could take it easy, and wait for the trailers to grow weary of the search and leave the neighborhood, after which the convicts could make their way out of the country at their leisure. The man-hunters are very much worn already, because of the strenuous life they have been leading. It will soon be a necessity for those in command to reduce the work to a system, as human endurance will not stand the strain that some of the men have been putting on themselves.

The first week is nearly ended, and some of the men who started out with the expectation of making an early capture show signs of being willing to quit, as they have lost hope of finding the convicts. There is a confident feeling that all the convicts are still in the mountains, but some of the trailers who have been over the country are inclined to the impression that some of the convicts might have reached the railroad the first night after the Pilot Hill fight and thus made their escape. This idea is not shared by any of the commanding officers who are on the hunt, and it is most probably true that eleven of the convicts are still in the mountains, but just where they are located is the problem that has not been solved. The best that anybody has pretended to do is to discover signs of the movements of detached parties of the gang that broke out from Folsom last Monday.

GUESSING THEIR WHEREABOUTS.

HUNTERS MISS THE HUNTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALBURN, July 30.—Sheriff Keena and the Placer officers arrived in town this morning from Greenwood. They were at Cool last night owing to the report that three convicts had been tracked to that place. The tracks proved to be those of other man hunters.

While no trace has been found of the refugees since the skirmish at Pilot Hill Monday afternoon, Sheriff Keena is strongly of the opinion that the convicts will make for the railroad and in so doing will have to come to the Placer side. He will accordingly prepare himself to that end, unless something more definite is learned of their supposed location at Greenwood Creek.

Deputy Sheriff Depenendener, who is with the Keena posse and who has been in every man hunt in this section for the past fourteen years, says that you can plainly hear the big engines puffing their way over the mountains in Placer as far away as Pilot Hill and Lotus, and even farther. He believes that the convicts will soon become anxious for quicker transportation. Dependener is the possessor of the pistol carried by the dead convict Allison. The deputy was in the midst of the battle at Pilot Hill and took a bullet from the shirtfront of Allison which exactly compares with those used by Constable Leakue and Manuel Lozano of the Placer force.

Ex-Sheriff Conroy, who left yesterday for Butcher Ranch, is still out. Before leaving, Conroy, who is a man of but few words, dropped the remark in the presence of an Associated Press reporter that the convicts would head for the railroad or for Lake Tahoe. Both theories seem good ones, as the convicts must have provisions. The many resorts around Lake Tahoe would afford them ample protection from hunger, not only the hotels on the lakeshore where they could command both provisions and money, but there are hundreds of small inland resorts and cabins where they could replenish their larder and then drop back into the great Sierra Nevadas, where man seldom goes and where fish and game are plenty and where they could enjoy immunity from a conflict with the officers for months.

Hold-ups are so frequent around Lake Tahoe at this season of the year, when the country is crowded with San Francisco and valley campers, that the convicts could live well during the rest of the summer without the outside world being any the wiser.

Court Reporter C. H. Adams has reported to the Sheriff's office that a strange negro approached his house this morning and asked for breakfast. Mrs. Adams handed him some food, and he left. Adams lives in the eastern part of the town and near the railroad. The officers think there is little in the clew, but will follow it up.

SACRAMENTO ADVICES.

PEOPLE ON THE LOOKOUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—A special dispatch to the Bee from its special correspondent at Folsom says that all reports which have reached the prison of the posses and militia which are following the fugitive convicts having come in contact with them are baseless. The fact is, no trace of the fugitives has been found since Monday night, when the Sheriff's posses had the fight with the escapes at Pilot Hill. There have been no encounters between the pursuers and the pursued, for the reason that up to 10 o'clock this morning the trailers have not come in contact with their quarry.

This morning Brainard F. Smith, clerk of the prison, received a telephone message from the Sheriff's office at Auburn, stating that Sheriff Keena has returned to that place for a rest, and will take up the trace again in a few hours. Keena said that neither the Sheriff's posses nor the militia had seen anything of the fugitives, and it is his opinion, shared by Sheriff Bosquit and Capt. C. A. Swisler, that the escapes have taken the back track in the vicinity of Lotus, and are now probably in the neighborhood of Rattlesnake Bar and the Zentgraff mines. Keena frankly admitted that this is purely theoretical and speculation. If it be true that the fugitives are in the locality named, they have a number of deserted cabins in which to fortify themselves, and they can secure fruit from the several orchards hard by. Clerk Smith has sent notices to all points which can be reached by telephone of the reported invasion of the territory designated by Sheriff Keena.

As a matter of fact the residents of Sacramento, Placer and Eldorado counties have been advised of the fact that desperate men are at large, and they are on the lookout for them. This makes it doubly strange that nobody has actually seen the fugitives since Monday night.

Late last night, the prison authorities received a report from Deputy Sheriff Bosquit of Placerville that eight of the escaped convicts had been located in Black Rock Cañon, not far from Cool, Eldorado county. The report stated further that the military company had the escapes surrounded, and were closing in on them at daylight. The hopes of the prison authorities were again raised by another report from Deputy Bosquit that three of the prisoners, the negro, Seavis and two others, were seen in a ravine by four of Capt. Swisler's men. Two of the militiamen, Bosquit said, ran several miles away to notify the main body of the troops, while two of his comrades remained to watch the escapes. It was intended to surround the place with part of Swisler's detachment, and capture the fugitives at daylight. At midnight last night the prison officials retired, firmly believing that this morning they would hear news of a clash between the soldiers and the escapes, if not the capture and killing of the outlaws. This morning the officials were sorely disappointed to learn that there was absolutely no foundation for Deputy Bosquit's report. They are still confident that the escapes will be captured or killed eventually.

This morning a telephone message was received from Harry Wilkinson, grandson of the warden, who is engaged in the search of the fugitives, stating that nothing had been seen of them in the vicinity of Butcher ranch, where he was then situated. Butcher ranch is about fourteen miles above Auburn. Clerk Smith, who, with Captain of the Guard Murphy, is directing the movements of the posse from the prison, received a telephone message from a woman at Pelton's Bar, saying that a man dressed in shirt and overalls passed that place about 8 o'clock. He had no visible arms, and was not carrying blankets. She was of the opinion therefore that the man was one of the escapes. While the prison authorities know that a few of the escapes are without rifles, they do not share the woman's belief that the man she saw was one of the convicts. He is described as a man about 5 ft. 8 in. in height, with broad shoulders, but beyond this she could give no adequate description. The man was reported to be headed in the direction of Folsom.

TALK WITH KEENA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—This morning the Bee reporter had a talk with Sheriff Charles Keena of Placer county, who had just reached his residence to be refreshed from his hunt after the escaped convicts. He rejoined his posse immediately after the conversation, and they are now in the field again.

"We have not seen the escaped convicts," said Sheriff Keena, "since the shooting at Pilot Hill Monday night. We tracked them to the south fork of the American River Tuesday morning. We did not catch a single glimpse of any of the convicts, however. We have been hunting all over the country for them, starting out in different directions from the point to which we had traced them. My posse came back with me to Auburn, but we will start out on the hunt again in a few minutes. When we left, the other pursuers had gone back to see where the tracks of the escapes had been lost Tuesday morning. This is about three miles northwest from Lotus. A great many of the pursuers believe they are still in that neighborhood.

"Convict Case, the barber, is very sick. They had to carry him away after the Monday night shooting at Pilot Hill. He was not hit, however, nor was Seavis, the negro. Nobody was shot except Allison. From what I could glean from an examination of the footprints, three of the convicts are in one bunch and eight in another."

There were thirteen convicts in the escaping party. One was killed, which left twelve. It seems to be agreed that one quit the party, probably Gordon, and struck out for himself. This would seem to be corroborated by the fact that Keena could discover the footprints of only eleven men, eight in one bunch and three in another. Keena was asked if he thought, in view of Case's illness, his fellow-fugitives would desert him.

"I do not think so," replied the Sheriff.

The Sheriff said there was no truth in the story which had reached Sacramento that a convict had been caught on a freight train near Auburn.

The cardinals today visited the cells which they are to occupy during the conclave, but it cannot be said that they returned very enthusiastic over the idea of being confined, perhaps for some time, in what are rightly termed "cells," which are without running water and necessary ventilation. It was feared that the health of some of the older and more feeble cardinals might suffer. Perhaps the most dissatisfied was Cardinal Mazzary, who, as primate of Hungary, is the wealthiest of the cardinals. He is credited with an income of $400,000 annually. He insists that he cannot eat with the others, and must have his meals outside. Tonight experiments were made with the [illegible]chens, the working of which is considered quite important, as about 60 people must be fed thrice daily for an indefinite period. The trials were quite successful.

During the meeting of the Congregation of the Cardinals today, Cardinal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on, recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance. He outlined a programme for tomorrow, which will consist of mass to the Holy Ghost in the morning, together with the deliverance of the Oratio pro Pontifico eligendo. The cardinals will enter the conclave at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Each of the cardinals today received a medal struck by the Camerlingo to maintain the tradition of his sovereignty during the interregnum. It is intended to strike coins also for all the conclavists and servants who are to be present.

Cardinals Sapminiatelli, Machix and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave, and Cardinals Tripoti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world. They are to make their report to the Congregation tomorrow.

The question of the compensation to be given to the physicians who treated the late Pontiff during his last illness was also discussed in the Congregation. The executors of the will said that the money remaining after the charitable bequests left by Leo are paid would be only about $4000. This sum was considered insufficient, and a commission of Cardinals was instructed to augment it to such an amount as might seem appropriate.

DEAD PONTIFF'S ADVICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, July 30.—The Italia says: The "Constitution" left by Pope Leo to the conclave has been distributed among the cardinals. According to this authority, it was written in Latin in 1882, and recalls former constitutions and conclaves, especially that of Pius IX, and then complains of the condition of the Holy See "under hostile domination," and recommends the quick election of a new Pope. It advises the holding of the conclave in Rome, unless the Sacred College should not be in the enjoyment of full liberty, and recommends the maintenance of the rights of the Pontiff. It enjoins the election of a new Pope, not according to the personal preferences of the cardinals, but according to the dictation of their consciences, inspired only by the welfare of the church.

GETTING DOWN TO FIGURES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, July 30.—Those who know the Sacred College best consider it certain that Cardinal Rampolla will command the largest number of votes on the first ballot. His strength, it is believed, will be about twenty-five votes, but even with this large number to start with, it is thought he will have difficulty in making headway. His strongest opponents now appear to be Cardinals Serafino Vannutelli, with about twelve votes; Gotti, with ten, and Oreglia with eight. The remainder of the votes will be scattered among the lesser candidates, more as marks of personal favor than with much idea of ultimate success.

As forty-two votes (two-thirds) are necessary to elect, the first ballot will be immediately followed by another, called the accesit, or supplementary vote; that is, each cardinal choosing, if he wishes, a fresh candidate, but one who has already been voted for. It is thought very unlikely, considering the widely-scattered character of the voting which will occur on the first ballot, that any candidate will receive the prescribed two-thirds vote in the first accesit.

If Rampolla's vote is not augmented to enough to elect, it is believed that he will be obliged to throw his strength to some member of his party, and in such an event Gotti and Di Pietro are most frequently mentioned. The latter, as well as Oreglia, however, have repeatedly declared that they do not covet the election.

If, in the accesit vote, Saturday morning, Rampolla's forces, or those of one of his party are considerably augmented, it is believed the election of the new Pope might occur at the balloting Saturday afternoon, or almost surely in those to be taken Sunday. If, however, there are no decided breaks in the accesit vote, the contest may be prolonged until the leaders, finding their own success impossible, come to some agreement among themselves on a neutral candidate, among whom Cardinal Richelmy, Archbishop of Turin, and Cardinal Bacilieri, Bishop of Verona, are most spoken of. The majority of the diplomatic body accredited to the Vatican are of the opinion that if Rampolla does not succeed, Gotti will be elected.

REST FOR LEO'S SOUL.

THIRD GREAT REQUIEM MASS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 30.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The last tribute was paid to the late Pope Leo this morning, with the third great requiem mass celebrated in the Sistine Chapel of the Vatican, and the function was no less ceremonious and imposing than the two others. While there were perhaps fewer persons present, there was a greater display of gorgeous uniforms. Of the sixty-two cardinals now in Rome, all attended the mass except Cardinal Cretoni, prefect of the Congregation of Sacred Relics, who was ill.

The picture presented by the presence of cardinals, in violet robes and red capes, bordered with ermine, and escorted by Noble Guards in scarlet uniforms, and with drawn swords, the scene being softened by the clouds of incense and the chapel resounding with the strains of the incomparable Sistine choir singing "Libera Me Domine," made those present feel as though lifted into another world.

In the churches of Rome today began the offering of prayers to the Holy Ghost to assist and enlighten the cardinals to choose the right man to sit in the chair of St. Peter. During the conclave the blessed sacrament will be exposed in several churches for the special prayers of the faithful, with the same object in view.

The Mayor of Carpineto, the birthplace of Pope Leo, who proposed to erect, with local contributions, a monument to Leo XIII on top of the Lepini Mountains, surrounding the village of Carpineto, finding that his project was checked by the large amount of money required, intends to make it an international tribute to the late Pontiff, and will ask all countries to join in the movement. He says he expects considerable contributions, especially from America.

People are now recalling a prophecy which, at the time it was made, produced considerable talk among the superstitious, who held it to be an indication of who would be the next Pope, so much so that several large bets were made in favor of the cardinal indicated by the prophecy. Many years ago, the late Cardinal Parocchi, who was not then even a bishop, one day met an old woman in the country. She was a typical witch in April and planted herself before Parocchi saying: "The bishop of Santa Rufina will be the next Pope."

The woman refused to say anything more. Parocchi repeated the tale, which gained added circulation when he was appointed to that see, and before his death he was considered to be the most likely successor to Pope Leo. When Parocchi was dying he repeated the old woman's prophecy. The famous bishopric of Santa Rufina was afterwards given to Cardinal Serafino Annutelli, and now people are asking themselves, "Will the prophecy come true after all?"

The representatives of France, Austria, Spain, Prussia, Portugal, Russia, Bavaria and Belgium accredited to the Vatican have informed Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the Sacred College, that their respective governments have received from the Italian Foreign Office most exhaustive assurances that all the necessary measures have been taken to insure material and moral liberty at the conclave.

RAMPOLLA TOO PROMINENT.

NOT LIKELY TO BE POPE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The political currents, while existing, no longer divide, as they used to do, the various groups of the Sacred College. Never has the Papacy been so much as now a supernational institution, an exclusively religious ministry. When the newspapers attribute to any cardinal, French, or German, or Austrian, or Italian sympathies, they make a gross blunder. It would be more exact to say that such a State is inclined toward such a cardinal, and favors his election and candidacy.

When Leo XIII saw the plans of exclusion among the states of Europe, he selected as cardinals in his last consistories the friends of Cardinal Rampolla, in order that they might be the electors of a Pope who should continue his policy. It is probable that Cardinal Rampolla will preserve absolute reserve. To guarantee the Papacy and conclave against the greedy and eager invasions of parties; to develop the powers of the Holy See and Catholicism, and to win back the independence of the Holy See is his sole ideal. It is he who will make the Pope if he wishes, and the questions are asked: Will he wish it? Will he even select the candidate. Cardinal Rampolla del Tindaro's candidacy is not put forward directly, and is kept in discreet shadow. To tell the truth, it is advanced by public opinion, because really it is forced upon the attention of the Christian world. Cardinal Rampolla has held in his hands for sixteen years all the threads of worldly politics, and having been intimately associated with the genius of Leo XIII, he was placed in a position to acquire a vast knowledge of the political, social and moral interests of the whole world.

Nevertheless, the Secretary of State of Leo XIII will probably not be elected, not because it is opposed by tradition, that has been more than once violated, but because the election will be in the hands of his peers, many of whom, perhaps, owe their positions to him. The church is a democracy. Now, the invariable policy of democracies is a leveling one; that is why the next Pope will, perhaps, be one of the cardinals "most lacking in notoriety."

MRS. TOBERMAN'S CHOICE.

Young Widow to Wed Roland Paul, Who Vocalizes at Denver, and Whose Former Wife Keeps Boarders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Roland Paul, one of the most prominent vocalists of Denver, and hero of a divorce case, is to be married. Paul will lead to the altar a bewitching young California widow, Mrs. Francis Toberman of Los Angeles. Mrs. Toberman is expected to arrive in Denver tonight, and the wedding will be celebrated here some time next week.

Paul has known Mrs. Toberman for about a year, but the acquaintance was merely a casual one until a month or so ago. Early in the summer, Paul was ordered to California for his health, being troubled with throat affection. He went to Los Angeles, and spent several weeks there, during which time he saw Mrs. Toberman frequently. The former Mrs. Paul keeps boarders for a living.

MANUFACTURE REAL RUBIES.

NEW YORK, July 30.—In connection with recent decisions by the general board of appraisers regarding duty on imitations of precious stones, a well-known jewelry expert of this city through whose hands millions of dollars' worth of precious stones have passed, declares that rubies, beautiful in color and rivaling the natural gems, are today easily produced from the chemist's crucible. The secret of their production, which he says was known in France years ago, lies in the manner of fusing a number of small, cheap stones into a large one. It is said the manufacture is now being carried on extensively in several European countries and only the most experienced examiner can detect the difference between the real stones and those from the crucible.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CHURCH.

LYNCHBURG (Va.) July 30.—Three persons were killed and more than a score injured by lightning at New Hope church, Appomattox county, this afternoon. Paul Gowan, Charles Austin and Aubrey Wingfried were the men killed. A meeting of the James River Baptist Association was in progress, and a number of men took refuge from the storm under an awning near the building.

MISTOOK WIFE FOR BURGLAR.

FULTON (N. Y.) July 30.—Mistaking his wife for a burglar, Charles Binford shot and fatally wounded her early today. Mrs. Binford was awakened by burglars and called her husband. In the confusion that followed, Mrs. Binford was shot and the burglar escaped.

WORLD'S GREATEST CORNER IN COTTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Brown-Hayne bull clique bid 15 cents for July cotton today, and before the day's trading had closed at the New Orleans Cotton Exchange they had offered to take everything in sight at that figure for July delivery. Not a bale was tendered. W. P. Brown stood at the ringside and shouted a bid of 15 cents for 5000 bales of July. Not a bale came forward. Frank B. Hayne shouted another and another. Then intense excitement folowed, but no cotton was offered. It was the record bid at the New Orleans Exchange. Never before had any man offered 15 cents for 5000 bales.

When analyzed, today's stand of the bull cotton clique means that it was the last step in their gigantic scheme. It meant the consummation of the greatest cotton corner in the history of the world. It meant that the Brown pool had so effectually cornered the market in raw July cotton that when they offered the phenomenal price of 15 cents a pound not a single bale was at hand to be tendered to them. The whole transaction becomes important in cotton history. The bulls stood masters of the situation, absolute, complete.

It also means that the Brown people have actually bought and paid for between 250,000 and 300,000 bales of cotton, and that they have paid out the enormous sum of $20,000,000. Cotton has been brought here from the southern and eastern mills and has been imported from foreign lands to feed the greed of the Brown bulls. They have taken it, hungered for more, and have never let an opportunity slip to buy cotton. The whole day was one of intense excitement on the floor of the Cotton Exchange. The Brown people bought considerable cotton, paying 14¼ for July, bulling the price from 13¼ at the opening.

In a statement tonight Brown declared: "There is but one answer to the general proposition. You have a genuine famine, both in cotton and manufactured goods and cotton is selling at what it should bring, when you take into consideration the strained condition of the supply. The manufactured cotton goods ought to be selling at a higher price, and probably they are selling higher than the present quotations. If they are not, they will be in the near future."

LABOR.

HOGGISHNESS OF UNIONISM.

Government Printing Office a Shining Example of It.

Dictators Quake at Show-up of Shameful Exploitation.

National Employers' Association Projected for Protection and Law Enforcement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the President fearlessly declared that the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders was not supreme in the matter of discharging employés from the Government Printing Office, he called public attention to only one of the heretofore undisputed prerogatives of unionism in that institution. Since the President's announcement, however, the heads of other government departments, who are the principal customers of the big printing office have become emboldened to call attention quietly to many other regulations of the unions, which, taken together, have resulted in making the Government Printing Office the most expensive institution, when compared with the return, that the government has to maintain.

While the announcement has not been made officially, there is substantial reason to believe that the accumulation of this volunteer evidence is to be made the basis of a thorough and sweeping investigation into the operation of every branch of the Government Printing Office. This inquiry will doubtless be begun only after the Miller incident has been finally disposed of. The prediction is freely made, however, that when it is undertaken it will be shown that in every branch of work the most laborious, time-consuming and expensive methods are followed. It will be shown that the daily task of each employé is limited by union regulations and that so far is this task from a maximum day's work that every first-class workman could practically have his day's work done at noon.

The result of these methods on the cost of government printing is to make it from 150 to 200 per cent. more expensive than the same product of even a union shop under private management. It is declared that there will be no difficulty in demonstrating these facts. There are several officials in other departments of the government service who have for some time been aware of the exceedingly great cost of producing government publications at the Government Printing Office, and there are many instances where these officials have gone to first-class private printing offices, also union, and obtained samples of work and estimates of cost.

One instance of this character, which will probably figure in the forthcoming investigation, is said to have been the desire of Gov. Merriam, in his first work as Director of Census, to have the records of the census bound in a certain way, and, not knowing that the work must be done in the Government Printing Office, he took the trouble to go to a large New York establishment and have a sample book made up and estimates of cost submitted. When he was informed that the work would have to be done in the government office he submitted the New York sample for a standard. When the work of the government office was completed it was declared to be decidedly inferior to the sample submitted, and to have cost 150 per cent. more than the bid for better work submitted by the New York house. The private bidder employed only union labor.

As Gov. Merriam is no longer at the head of the Census Bureau, the remaining officials are reluctant to discuss the incident. It is known to have been brought forward recently, however, as showing the necessity of a general revision of the methods of the Government Printing Office. The necessity for such revision is admitted by some of the more conservative members of the labor organizations controlling the institution, who see in the hide-bound course which has been pursued for many years with reference to government printing a source of weakness to their organization.

The Public Printer seems in no hurry to enter upon an inquiry into the charges made by the Bookbinders' Union against Assistant Foreman Miller, who continues his work at the government bindery without molestation. The fact that Mr. Palmer has not taken up the investigation is regarded as an indication that he is acting upon suggestions from a higher authority. The Arbitration Committee has been holding frequent meetings, but that body appears to be contentedly awaiting action by the Public Printer, and exhibits no indication of impatience with the delay.

It is learned that Miller made an appeal from the action of the local union to Tatum, president of the International Brotherhood, which is according to the rules of the organization. It is thought the Public Printer may be awaiting action on this appeal before taking up the inquiry, though action by higher officials of the union can have no bearing whatever on the pending inquiry.

Expressions by individual members of the book-binders and affiliated unions indicate that their leaders are very much concerned over the attitude in which the unions are placed by this contention with Miller. Heretofore there was no question about the power of the unions in the Government Printing office.

There is some criticism of the President for making the declarations which accompanied the order for Miller's reinstatement, but the more conservative union men are inclined to the belief that, no matter what may be the result of the inquiry into the Miller charges, the rules of the union should be changed to make them harmonize with the law and regulations governing the civil service.

It is expected that Mr. Palmer will publish his decision this week, and this indecision leads to the belief that before the decision is made public it will go to Oyster Bay.

TO UNITE ALL EMPLOYERS.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PLAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans are being prepared for the formation, with headquarters in New York City, of a National Employers' Association, whose purpose will be to protect the interests of employers, great and small, against suffering through unreasonable demands of organized labor.

This association will, when rounded out, include all the great manufacturers of the country, railroads, great retail interests and the majority of the banking institutions. Nearly all existing organizations, local in scope, but with the same object in view, will be affiliated with the national body.

The recent meeting of a few leading employers at Indianapolis was a move in the direction of the national association, although it did not furnish the directing power. The proposed organization will represent the ideas of no individual, but the conservative beliefs of a majority of the employers of the United States.

It has practically been decided that the national association shall work on these basic principles:

Freedom of contract, that is, no dictation by labor unions.

No sympathetic strikes to be tolerated.

No limitation of output.

Enforcement of law.

Those who are directing the movement in its early stages say that experience has shown the platform quoted the only one on which employers can profitably do business. The purpose of the association will not be to fight organized labor, but solely to protect business interests. Arbitration will not be opposed; neither will it be an integral factor in the workings of the national body.

Frederick W. Job, secretary of the Chicago Employers' Association, who is in New York, declined to discuss the national association plan, saying he was not at liberty to speak of it. He, however, spoke of the Chicago association:

"The question is just this," said Mr. Job, "If a man enters your house with the intention of taking your life, are you going to keep still and be killed, or try to do some shooting yourself? That is exactly the question of the employers and organized labor. When it comes to a battle, we fight organization with organization, and you may be sure our side will get justice in the end. The policy of our organization is to meet fire with fire."

BANISHED UNIONISTS.

SEEKING BALM AT DENVER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

IDAHO SPRINGS (Colo.) July 30.—The Coroner's jury in the case of Philipp Fierre, the Italian union miner who was found fatally injured near the scene of the blowing up of the Sun and Moon mine Tuesday night, tonight returned a verdict that he "came to his death as a result of an attempt on his part and others to blow up the buildings of the Sun and Moon mine."

Although Fierre was supposed to have been killed by a bullet from the pistol of the watchman at the mine, an autopsy failed to establish the fact, and officiating physicians incline to the belief that he was killed by the explosion.

Two more Italian members of the miners' union were arrested today. The men who were driven out of town by the business men last night are in Denver and have engaged attorneys to look after their interests. The Western Federation of Miners officials are interesting themselves in their behalf.

GIRLS TAKE WARPATH.

TWO THOUSAND SEWERS OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—Nearly 2000 young women, who compose the Wrapper Makers' Union, are on strike for a nine-hour day. A crowd of the strikers invaded one shop where the girls had refused to quit. They overturned sewing machines and scattered partly-finished garments around the floor. Police reserves had to be called to quell the disturbance, and several strikers were arrested.

CLASH IN RUSSIA.

TROOPS KILL TEN STRIKERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 30.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Ten striking workmen were killed and eighteen wounded as the result of a volley fired by troops at Mikhailovq on the Tiflis-Batoum, July 28.

The strikers attempted ta stop trains and a detachment of forty soldiers was summoned. The soldiers were greeted with a shower of stones and some revolver shots. After repeated warnings the troops were commanded to fire.

The street car service at Odessa is suspended in consequence of a strike of drivers and conductors for higher wages.

Pittsburgh Building Fight On.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) July 30.—Five hundred stonecutters and stonemasons were locked out today by the contractors. This is the first step taken in the impending fight between the Builders' League and the Building Trades Council.

Drivers Get "Recognition."

NEW YORK, July 30.—The drivers of the New York Transfer Company, who went on strike yesterday, resumed work today, their demand for recognition of their union having been granted.

Judge Gray an Arbitrator.

WILMINGTON (Del.) July 30.—Judge George Gray decided today to accept his appointment as the fifth member of the Alabama coal strike commission, which is to settle by arbitration the trouble of the Alabama miners over wages.

Penalty on Averdupois.

CHICAGO, July 30.—At the meeting of the Union-Made Garment Makers' Association, which ended last night, it was decided to adjust prices to accord with the size of the garment. Thus, a man weighing 130 pounds might be able to buy his suit for $10, while the man whose physique would measure 250 pounds on the scales might be charged $15.

Iron Moulders Compromise.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) July 30.—The strike of the iron moulders, which has been on since May 1, for an increase of wages was settled today by the strikers accepting the manufacturers' compromise offer. This offer the men would not accept when it was made previous to May 1. The agreement calls for a minimum wage of $3 for a nine-hour day and an advance of ten cents a day to all moulders getting more than $3. All future disputes are to be settled by arbitration

CONVICTS.

Bosquit, at Placerville, stating that a man named Coleman of the Darling mine, six miles northeast of Georgetown, Eldorado county, said to Bosquit that he had been held up at 8 o'clock Tuesday night by two men, who reported themselves as officers and asked the location of different posses in the field. Thinking the men were officers, Coleman told them all he knew. They then allowed him to depart.

After Coleman reached Georgetown he became convinced that the two men who stood him up were not officers, but members of the escaping band of convicts. This morning he telephoned to Deputy Sheriff Bosquit, giving the information reported above. Two men have been sent to the scene of the Tuesday night hold-up to make investigation. Deputy Sheriff Bosquit says his father is of the opinion that the convicts are in the river bottom near Bassi's ranch, at Bear Creek.

Deputy Sheriff T. Haggerty of the Sacramento posse arrived at Folsom prison shortly before noon, having driven over from Lotus, Eldorado county. He left his chief, David Reese, at Union House, near Lotus. When the escapes deserted their wagon, after the fight at Pilot Hill Monday night, Haggerty said, they took enough provisions to last for a few days. When it was suggested that by this time the prisoners' supplies must have run out, Haggerty said: "If men can live on bread and water in a dungeon for a week, they can go into the mountains and last twice as long when liberty is the prize in sight."

Haggerty said he believed the majority of the prisoners are staying together, for they know full well what is behind and around them. He says they have strong field glasses with which they can observe clearly from the elevation thereabouts the movements of their pursuers, and know just what is going on. When they detect danger they beat to cover, and the thick underbrush, chapparal and mesquite, affords them safety from detection.

INQUIRY INTO CONSPIRACY.

"KID" THOMPSON IMPLICATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—The inquiry into the conspiracy to break jail was taken up again today by Capt. Murphy and Dist.-Atty. Seymour. Convict Andy Meyers was brought out of the dungeon and subjected to an hour of stiff questioning. Seymour would quiz him awhile, and then Murphy would take a turn at it, with the result that under the unbroken fire of questions he gave way somewhat. While still disavowing any connection with the plot, he let fall some information against Leverone and others. As the result of these examinations Leverone, Meyers, "Kid" Thompson (who is doing a life sentence from Los Angeles for train robbery), and possibly one or two others will have to answer a charge of conspiracy. A number of convicts, among them "Spike" Hennessy, "Red Shirt" Murphy and others whose names will not be given out, were under examination.

The main point of today's examination is that Meyers will be deprived of hoped-for evidence with which to prove an alibi. He has given the names of several convicts who, he said, would testify that he was not at the outer gate when the assault on the officers occurred. These prisoners have been examined, and they all testify that Meyers was not by the chapel across the prison yard when the assault began, as he says he was.

A small posse of guards left Folsom at noon to intercept the man reported to be headed that way from Dalton's Bar.

NOISY PRISONERS.

For the first time since the break occurred, the prisoners were allowed to meet in the dining-room of the prison together this morning. Since Monday morning the convicts have been led out into the dining-room ninety at a time, for their meals. Yesterday they were given dinner in their cells, owing to the fact that they had been very restless all morning. They kept up a shouting and yelling and it was deemed best to keep them in their cells. The prisoners were given the midday meal in close confinement, a treatment which they did not relish. After dinner they quieted down, and made no disturbance the rest of the day. They were let out in smal squads for supper, and this morning the entire 800 were seated at table at once. They made no demonstrator whatever and adjourned quietly to their cells. It will be several days, however, before they are let out to their work.

It has just been learned that Warden Thomas Wilkinson, immediately after his return to the prison, upon being released by his captors, last Monday morning, went inside the prison and ordered the 800 convicts back into their cells. Wilkinson was unarmed, and entered the prison alone. The 800 convicts were shouting and jeering in demoniac glee over the fruitful outcome of the break, and when Wilkinson came among them they surrounded him. He ordered them to return to their cells. Some of them obeyed on the instant, while others hung back and sullenly sought their quarters. Several openly expressed their satisfaction at his safe return.

In speaking of the incident, Miss Antoinette Wilkinson, daughter of the warden, said to a Times reporter this morning:

"The newspapers have been keen to criticise my father, but not one of them have said a word about his bravery. After the convicts had been driven back into the prison they commenced to yell and shout at the top of their voices, and soon began beating on the walls separating the prison from our quarters. We were warned to go out the front way and drive out of the grounds in case by any chance the demons should succeed in finding a weak spot and tough it force their way out. My lady friend and I drove over the hill and on into the valley with the cries of the men ringing in our ears. We were soon informed that father had gone to the prison. I could still hear the cri of the men and knew that father would not hesitate to go among them. By the time I reached the prison father had the men in their cells but they continued to yell for some time."

WOODS'S PHIPPINE CAREER.

J. W. Woods, the leader of the convict band, is said by the prisoners here to have been a soldier with the United States regulars in the Philippines. According to their story he deserted from the Federal troops and joined the Filipinos. He was quite a hero among the convicts, who say he was once surrounded by a detachment of troops and managed to break through their lines at night and, gathering a force of Filipinos, procured those who had before had him in jeopardy. He took the United States soldiers prisoners and had them shot to death. Later Woods was captured and was tried by a court-martial on a charge of desertion and aiding the enemy. He was convicted, and the findings of the court-martial sent to Washington, where Secretary of War disapproved the findings, for the reason that Woods was tried by a mixed court-martial and that he could not be tried, being a regular, by the decision of a mixed court. By some means or other Woods was never tried again by a court-martial. He has per-ters, leading the Filipinos, and is thoroughly familiar with the tactics of guerrilla warfare.

PLOT LONG IN HATCHING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—A Folsom special says Captain of the Guard R. J. Murphy is of the opinion that while the plot to break jail so successfully carried out last Monday had probably been hatching for several months, it was not definitely decided to make the dash for liberty until a few minutes before it occurred. Identically the same coup was planned for the Fourth of July, but Capt. Murphy was advised of it, and thwarted it in its incipiency. Practically the same prisoners planned it then.

In speaking of the break, Murphy said to the Bee representative that he did not believe more than two or three men at th most, in addition to those who succeeded in making their escape, had a hand in the plot. Murphy said that usually a few men would evolve a scheme of this kind and quietly pass the world along to a few more. One or two of the latter would be sure to let the prison authorities know what was going on.

When the ringleaders would see the officers were on the alert they would know their secret had been divulged, and they would then temporarily abandon the plot. Later on, the ringleaders would take the plot up again, having in the meantime "weeded out" the other convicts of whom they were suspicious of having given their plans away. Probably the second scheme would be thwarted, but eventually they would secure a dozen who would "stick," and a break would occur.

The fact that the notorious train robber and outlaw, "Jack" Brady, who is serving a life sentence from Sacramento county, was not in the conspiracy has occasioned much comment and speculation. Capt. Murphy said the convicts told him while they were marching him across the prison farm that they did not want any "notoriety" men with them, and for that reason had not approached Brady or any of the convicts who, as free men, became notorious by reason of their misdeeds. Brady works in the lower yard gang, and had gone to his work when the mutiny began.

Murphy said to the Bee that the ringleaders never contemplated taking with them the negro, Seavis, or J. J. Alison, who was killed in the fight with the posse at Pilot Hill last Monday night. They were near the chapel when the break occurred, and as the escapes swept across the prison yard with the officers they grasped the situation and ran to join their fellow-convicts in the flight for freedom. The escaping convicts told Seavis they did not want him, but he insisted upon going along.

The knives which the ringleaders held over the officers and free men never came into their possession until last Sunday, Capt. Murphy believes. All the cells were searched Saturday, and the convicts had no weapons about their clothing then. They were let out for a short time Sunday, and then secured the knives and razors, which must have been planted about the prison yard.

At first it looks as if any one attempting to recover from a "plant" in the yard would be detected, but Murphy said it could be easily done. Opium has been secreted in the prison yard, and where opium can be "cached" a knife or razor can be hidden, he argued.

Some of the convicts were in the quarry Sunday, and it is possible some of them could have brought the knives into the prison, but Murphy does not believe they did. There were only a few convicts in the quarry—the gang known at the prison as the "Trippers."

Save what prisoners are at work in the prison farm, several kitchen crews, house attendants, and trusties, all are confined to the prison, and will be kept inside until the excitement attending the recent break has subsided.

PLOT AT WALLA WALLA.

OFFICIALS STOP THE HOLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The prison authorities at Walla Walla yesterday frustrated the desperate attempt of two convicts to cause the wholesale jail delivery of convicts. H. W. Mitchel and James Burkey had succeeded in boring a hole large enough for a man to crawl through in the sixteen-inch brick wall of the jute mill. At the opportune time it was intended that they, together with as many other prisoners as could safely be let into the secret, should overpower the prison guards and secure their liberty. The two convicts named have been employed in operating a jute machine in one corner of the mill which was shielded from the close vigilance of the guards. When they had a resting spell each day they would bore quietly through the brick and by Tuesday evening had made a hole sixteen inches in depth.

From day to day the chips and dust of the brick had been picked up and placed in a barrel along with jute scraps. All brick in the first tier had been saved whole, and were replaced each evening. The outbreak would have been attempted last night or tonight. The prison officials are congratulating themselves that they have avoided a jail break like that at Folsom.

EARLY-MORNING DIET.

Hungary Obstructionist Legislators Stay Until Midnight and Withdraw Amid Cheers and Singing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BUDAPEST, July 30.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The third session of the lower house of the Hungarian Diet yesterday, after two suspensions due to disorder in the house, lasted until this morning. At midnight the obstructionists withdrew, singing the national anthem, and declaring that any further sitting would be illegal, as Wednesday's session ended at midnight, and Thursday's had not been called in form. The majority, after having cheered the departing members, adopted Premier Hedervery's motion, providing for the reading of the indemnity bill. The house subsequently adjourned until Friday.

It is reported that the public prosecutor has instituted proceedings against former Deputy Dienes, who was charged by Deputy Zolman Papp, in the House yesterday, with attempting to bribe him with 10,000 kroner in cash to desert his fellow-obstructionists and leave Budapest.

BRIBERY AND OBSTRUCTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUDAPEST, July 30.—It is announced that Count Ladislaus Szapery, Governor of Fiume, has resigned and will appear before the Parliamentary Commission which is to inquire into the bribery charges. It is reported that he furnished the money to bribe Deputy Soloman Papp. Count Szapery is a rich Hungarian sugar magnate, and it is said that he endeavored to stop the tactics of the obstructionists on his own responsibility and without the knowledge of the government.

At a meeting of the opposition deputies today they resolved to continue their obstructive tactics and declared that they would have nothing to do with Premier Hedervary. The resolution embodied an address, which it was decided to present to the Emperor. The address announces that there will be a continuance of the obstruction until the national demands which they claim were guaranteed in 1867 (the date of the union of Hungary with Austria) are granted.

The meeting further resolved to spare the offenders at tomorrow's sitting of the diet. Premier Hedervary is determined to dissolve Parliament after forcing the provisional appropriation bill by cloturing debate.

TALKED WITH TWO OF THE [illegible]

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEVADA CITY, July 30.—[illegible] Green, a cowboy, who arrived here today, reports having seen two armed men between what is known as Yankee Jim's and the North Fork of the American River, in Placer county, seven miles from Colfax. Green says with the men for ten minutes and the Sheriff's office here he positively identified the photographs of Ed [illegible] and Joseph Murphy as those of the men he met. Each man had two revolvers, one Winchester rifle and a belt filled with cartridges. They were dressed in overalls with plain shirts and were carrying their coats under their arms. Green came upon them on an up-the-way path. The smaller of the two greeted him, saying: "Hello, pard, how far is it to Colfax?"

Green replied that it was [illegible] miles.

"Guess we won't go there," [illegible] ued one of the men.

According to Green both men are between 150 and 160 pounds, both are smooth-shaven and their hair was cut short. One was about 45 and the other 24 years of age. Learning that Green was not an officer, the convicts spoke to him to go. Constable McLeary of Colfax has notified the people in that section of the county and they are [illegible] exercised.

DOYLESTOWN BANK FAILS.

Old National Institution of Pennsylvania Wrecked by Officers' Speculations in Stocks.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DOYLESTOWN (Pa.) July 30.—The following notice was posted on the door of the Doylestown National Bank today:

"This bank closed and in hands of the Comptroller of the Currency.

[Signed] "T. P. KANE,

"Deputy Comptroller.

"J. W. SCHOFIELD, examiner."

The posting of the notice caused considerable excitement here, as the depositors of the institution are large. The bank examiners have been working over the books of the institution for several days past, but no statement has been issued, either by them or the officers of the bank.

The bank is one of the oldest in the State. The president of the bank is Henry Leer, a prominent lawyer and candidate for judge on the Republican ticket. George P. Beck is cashier of the bank.

The capital of the bank was $150,000, and the last report to the Comptroller showed: Surplus and profits $[illegible]; deposits, over $1,000,000; loans and discounts and stock and securities $[illegible]; $1,051,360.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The Doylestown National Bank has been closed by order of the Comptroller of the Currency. Bank Examiner J. W. Schofield has been appointed receiver. The statement issued by the Comptroller of the Currency says that the failure of the bank was brought about by speculation in stocks on the part of the officers and a number of customers of the bank.

MONEY SUNK IN STOCKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DOYLESTOWN, July 30.—[illegible] of the directors of the bank will talk further than to say that they have no information that anything was wrong until informed by the government officials. Francis L. Worthington, one of the directors, in a further statement tonight said:

"I understand there was speculation in Consolidated Lake Superior stock, and most of the money may have been sunk in that. We find that this speculation has been going on for a long time, since 1897. President Lear and Cashier Brock have borrowed money without saying anything to the directors. Now that the whole thing has come to light, we find that the president has secured about $[illegible] and the cashier $30,000, or thereabouts. One of the bank's clerks, Fred Clayton, secured between $12,000 and $14,000. The bank holds the personal notes of these men, and some security was given, but it is practically worthless."

Worthington said he did not think the bank would resume business. President Lear is a prominent lawyer in the county. He is now at Longport, near Atlantic City, N. J., and is said to be prostrated as a result of the failure of the bank. Cashier Brock is chief burgess of Doylestown, assistant chief of the fire department, a vestryman in the Episcopal church, and a member of various organizations.

PORT OF SPAIN (Island of Trinidad) July 30.—[By West Indian Cable.] Passengers who have just arrived here from Caracas say that in consequence of the incident which occurred last Monday at La Guayra, where as a result of friction between the Spanish Consul and the local authorities, the exequatur of the Consul was withdrawn, the diplomatic corps at Caracas met and decided to send a joint note protesting against the action of the La Guayra authorities and the withdrawal of the exequatur of the Spanish Consul.

They took this action, it is said, for the purpose of assisting the Spanish claims before the mixed tribunal, because of the precedent which would be established, and because they considered it contrary to the proper [illegible] made with the powers and signed by Mr. Bowen, the United States Minister, acting as the representative of President Castro.

General Fund in Treasury of State Exhausted.

Gov. Pardee is Compelled to Order Transfer of Funds.

Downfall of the Rev. Osborn. Burning of Chico Bridge. Suicides by Score.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—The general fund in the State Treasury became exhausted today. The Governor was notified and he directed the following transfers to be made to the general fund as a loan from the others funds to be drawn upon: From the State school land fund, $700,000; school land deposit fund, $68,000; state library fund, $25,000; estates of deceased persons fund, $30,000; dissolved savings banks fund, $30,000; making the total amount transferred $921,000. This amount of money will carry the State along until probably the middle of November. From then until December 15 of this year, when the first installment of State taxes will begin coming in, a sufficient amount of money will have to be borrowed from other funds.

For the general fund in the State treasury to become exhausted is an unusual occurrence in California. The present shortage of money in the general fund is due to the low tax rate during the last year of ex-Gov. Gage's administration. There should have been about $1,500,000 more in the general fund than there was on June 30, 1900, which would have obviated the necessity for recourse to other funds to enable the State to conduct its business.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—A communication addressed to the Associated Press and signed by thirty-five passengers who arrived here today from the Orient on the steamer Siberia protests strongly against the action of the customhouse officials who examined their baggage at Honolulu. They claim to have been treated without common civility and to have been subjected to much inconvenience and bodily discomfort.

Coming from a warm climate most of them were lightly attired, but despite their vigorous protests, their heavy clothing was placed under official seals, not to be broken until San Francisco was reached. The baggage in the staterooms was closely inspected and all deemed unnecessary by the officers was bundled up, sealed and placed in the hold with the trunks and other personal effects. Many of the passengers designate as "an atrocious outrage," and wish the matter called to the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury.

ENCAMPMENT FEATURES.

GEN. MILES WILL BE THERE.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles has accepted an invitation to attend the coming National Encampment of the G.A.R. in this city.

A prominent feature of the coming encampment will be the exhibit of the Sacramento Valley Veterans' Brigade, composed of Grand Army Posts of Sacramento Valley. These posts have organized for the purpose of displaying the far-famed resources of the State to visiting comrades. Each post connected with the brigade will contribute $100 toward the expense of headquarters and display. The sum of $1500 has already been collected for the exhibit and entertainment of visitors.

The Wisconsin department has notified the Executive Committee that they propose to arrive several days before the encampment opens, 500 to 1000 strong, to hold a campfire and reunion with former citizens of Wisconsin now residing on the Pacific Coast. The date fixed for the reunion is the evening of August 19, at B'nai B'rith Hall in this city.

The "Four Hundred," from Johnstown, Pa., composed of members of Grand Army posts, is slated to arrive here August 12. Out of the sixty-five members of Whipple Post, No. 49, of Eureka, Cal., more than forty are prepared to attend the encampment, with fully as many more members of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, besides a large number of other people from Humboldt county. The entertainment fund now amounts to $1,[illegible]

EPPINGER'S MISDEEDS.

TESTIMONY MOST DAMAGING.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Receiver in Bankruptcy M. J. Green today continued his investigation into the affairs of the late firm of Eppinger & Co. Fred S. Mitchell, formerly bookkeeper for the firm, testified that Jacob Eppinger had torn checks out of the checkbook without making any note on the stub. This, he said, had gone on for a period covering eight or nine years, and when he had called the attention of the senior member of the firm to the matter Jacob had told him not to make any entry.

"I could not tell for what amounts the checks were made out," said the witness, "until they were returned from the bank after being paid. Joe Eppinger, son of Mr. Eppinger, took the checks from me and tore them up. The checks were drawn in this manner about twice a month. The only way the book could be made to balance was by taking the balances of the bank and putting in wrong figures at the bottom of the columns."

A. G. Platt, the certified accountant who has exported the books of the defunct firm, testified to the condition of the books. He said that the discrepancy in the footings amounted to $234,[illegible]. This difference, he said, represented amounts drawn out and not entered in the books. No trial balances, he said, had been taken in many years.

[illegible] manager of the American National Bank, who acted in connection with the Bank of Monterey as against the other creditors, next testified. He said that he had grown fearful of the condition of things in the Pacific Coast Warehouse on May 2 and had sent Inspector Burker to Crockett to get a report on the grain. The report of Burker was far from reassuring, as he declared there was a shortage of grain, both as to quality and quantity. Then Bowles sent for Herman Eppinger and asked him to take up his loans. The latter were as follows: One for 13,500; one for $12,000, another for $19,000 and a fourth for $17,500.

After several consultations and much delay Herman Eppinger gave two orders to Bowles and G. P. McNear, one of the directors of the bank, for the grain in the Pacific Coast Warehouse.

REV. OSBORNE'S DOWNFALL.

REJECTED BY EPISCOPALIANS.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PORTLAND (Or.) July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Howard Osborn, for whose arrest a warrant was issued recently on a charge of selling mortgaged property and who for some months has filled the Methodist pastorate at Independence, Or., has been refused admission to the Episcopal Church by Dr. George B. Van Waters of this city, chairman of the standing committee of the diocese of Oregon. The story of the rejection is told by Bishop B. Wistar Morris as follows:

"Several months ago, Osborne made personal application to Bishop Morris for admission to the Episcopal Church. On the bishop's recommendation, he was sent to the Episcopal College at San Mateo, Cal., where he was to pursue the necessary studies in preparation for orders. The applicant's failure to pursue the regular method provided in such cases by filing his credentials for official action with the standing committee of the diocese apparently aroused the suspicions of the chairman of that committee, who was advised of Osborne's action soon after he had departed for California.

"Dr. Van Waters, by virtue of his official position, investigated the record of the Independence clergyman, and was soon apprised of the facts concerning his misconduct. As the application had not been made in regular order, no official action was taken by the standing committee, but the chairman, on his own responsibility, advised its rejection, and so notified Osborne."

SUICIDES BY SCORE.

'FRISCO BIRTHS AND DEATHS.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Statistician Coffey of the Health Department has completed his report of births and deaths occurring in this city during the past fiscal year. There were 5619 births, as against 5479 for the previous year, while the deaths were 7615, as compared to 6993 for the preceding twelve months. There were 734 deaths classed as violent, including 500 due to misadventure or neglect and shock following operations, the last-named cause being credited with 75. Gas asphyxiation was credited with 106 and other forms of asphyxiation with 11. There were 36 homicides and 198 suicides.

CHICO BRIDGE BURNED.

WORK OF AN INCENDIARY.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
CHICO, July 30.—Two hundred feet of the middle span of the Sacramento River bridge between Butte and Glenn counties, opposite this city, was burned this morning at 3 o'clock. An hour or so after the fire the draw fell into the river and floated to the shoals below, where it is out of the way of navigation. The bridge was owned by T. H. Barnard of Chico and the California Bridge Company of San Francisco, and by them had for years been conducted as a toll bridge. It is thought that the fire was due to incendiarism. There was no insurance. The bridge will not be rebuilt.

BETTER FRUIT BLEACH.

PROF. COLBY MAKES DISCOVERY.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, July 30.—Prof. George E. Colby of the department of agricultural chemistry in the University of California, has discovered in the laboratory an instantaneous fruit bleach, the basis of which is sodium peroxide. This will be used as a substitute for the sulphur used as a fruit bleach found fault with so much by the German dealers in California dried fruit, and which has militated so much against the trade. Prof. Colby's experiments have been followed by a number of packing companies and these and others interested will cooperate with him in completing the work and placing it on a practical basis.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Michael Nolan, chief of the gang who brutally assaulted and robbed Mrs. Matthews in her home at No. 543 Haight street on March 4, pleaded guilty in Judge Cook's court today. He asked that sentence be pronounced immediately.

Assistant District Attorney Ashe protested, asking to be heard before sentence was pronounced. At his suggestion passing of sentence was deferred until next Saturday.

Attorney Schooler intimated that John Davis, the last of the accused men, would plead guilty tomorrow.

PORTLAND CAR ROBBERS.

FOUR SUSPECTS WITH BOOTY.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
PORTLAND (Or.) July 30.—Sheriff Story has arrested four men who are charged with holding up and robbing an electric car of the Oregon City line within the city limits on the night of July 14. The men are Ira Landers, Arthur Hicks, Earl McIntosh and David Simmons. On each of the men arrested was found some article of jewelry, which the Sheriff claims was taken from the passengers on the electric car, and he feels certain that he has the right men.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR DIMMICK.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The Supreme Court has ordered that a writ of habeas corpus issue in the case of Dimmick, ex-cashier of the local mint, now a prisoner at San Quentin. This establishes an innovation in the local jurisprudence, establishing a precedent while settling a question rare in litigation, as to whether or not a State court could act in the matter of a man tried and sentenced by a Federal court. The writ is returnable on Monday next.

COAST BRIEFS.

Indian Band on a Tour.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Twenty-five young Indian musicians, composing the band of the United States Indian School at Phoenix, Ariz., are visiting here. The band includes Indian boys from ten of the forty or more tribes represented among the 700 pupils of the school. The largest number are Apaches, and there are Hopis, Maricopas, Walapais, Pimas, Klamaths and others. The boys have made a tour of the interior cities of the State, and will return via the coast towns. Their trip is educational in its object.

Tulare Fruit Harvest On.

TULARE, July 30.—The fruit harvest in this vicinity is opening up in a lively manner. Two or more cars of Tragedy prunes and early peaches are being shipped daily. The growers as well as the packers of raisins and other dried fruits are active, and for some weeks have been engaging pickers and cutters. The drying of nectarines and early peaches began this week.

Yolo Hay Fields Afire.

WOODLAND, July 30.—A field fire in the vicinity of Madison, Yolo county, today destroyed seventy tons of baled hay belonging to Fred Markert, also the hay-baling outfit of John Rolf. Both were fully insured. A large area of stubble pasture was also destroyed.

Libel for Goods Damaged.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—A libel has been filed in the United States District Court against the American steamer Minnetonka by the Pacific Hardware and Steel Company for $13,936, the value of goods damaged on the voyage from New York to this port. Carelessness on the part of the masters and owners and unseaworthiness of the vessel is alleged as grounds for recovering damages.

Buying Fraser Sockeyes.

WHATCOM (Wash.) July 30.—American salmon canners have entered the market as buyers of sockeyes on the Fraser River, British Columbia. This is made possible by the drawback recently allowed by the Treasury Department on salmon packed for export. Canadian buyers have forced the price from 12½ cents, the basis agreed upon, to 18 cents in American waters, at the same time fighting an advance to 14 cents on the Fraser River.

Olney to Urge Assessments.

OAKLAND, July 30.—Mayor Olney has decided to appear tomorrow morning before the State Board of Equalization at Sacramento to argue in person his contention that the tracks of the Southern Pacific Company in this city, upon which the Seventh street, Berkeley and Webster-street trains are operated, should be assessed by the county and city assessors.

Christian Church Board Elected.

SANTA CRUZ, July 30.—The following members of the State Board of the Christian Church of California were elected today: A. C. McKeever of Fresno; A. C. Platt of Selma; D. A. Russell of Hollister; W. G. White of San Francisco; W. F. Reager of Sacramento and Thomas Barr of Oakland. J. P. Dargitz was elected corresponding secretary.

Science and Woman Suffrage.

PACIFIC GROVE, July 30.—"Science, Natural, Political and Mental," was the subject taken up by the W.C.T.U. Congress of Reform this afternoon. The session opening with a paper on "The Science of Health," by Mrs. O. J. Ward. Miss S. M. Severance of Los Angeles spoke on "Woman Suffrage." The final session of the congress will take place tomorrow afternoon.

New Placer Gold Strke.

VICTORIA (B. C.) July 30.—The steamer Cottage City, which arrived this afternoon with $290,000 gold from Dawson and $13,000 from Cassiar, brought news of a new strike of placer gold in Cassiar district, near the headwaters of the Stickeen. Great excitement was caused at White Horse by the arrival of three men, who came out from the gold fields for supplies. They reported the country very rich.

He Produced the Will.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—A few days ago Mrs. Ella Chamberlain brought suit against her son-in-law, Butler Smith, seeking to compel him to produce the will of his deceased wife, in which petitioner is bequeathed $125 per month. Smith brought the will into court today, his attorney declaring that the documents had been in the possession of handwriting experts.

SANTOS-DUMONT'S BALLOON.

PARIS, July 30.—The Velo this morning says that Santos-Dumont after the successful demonstration with his dirigible balloon at the review, July 14, offered to place his balloon at the disposal of France in case of war. Subsequently he received a letter from Gen. Andre, the Secretary of War, accepting the offer.

JURY FAILED TO AGREE.

The case against "Blind Pig Bill" Thomas, for selling liquor illegally at the Simons place on Pico Heights, will have to be tried over again. The case was given to the jury at 10:10 o'clock last night and for more than three hours the jury remained in the jury-room. They were unable to reach a verdict, although they stood eleven for conviction and one for acquittal. It was practically certain before the jury retired one member of it had made up his mind to favor the accused, and it is doubtful if his vote would have been otherwise no matter what evidence was introduced.

RAILROADS CLASH OVER FREIGHT SPEED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The standard and differential lines in the Trunk Line Association have clashed again upon the subject of freight-train speed between New York and Chicago. The effect is the reopening of an unsettled controversy on this subject, provoked last spring, the prospect being that unless the Vanderbilt roads modify their latest arrangements, there will be more serious trouble than seemed imminent in the beginning.

When the subject first engaged attention friction was started by the Vanderbilt lines lengthening their schedules and making delivery in Chicago. The time was made seventy-two hours instead of sixty at that point, and thirty in place of twenty-four hours for Buffalo. This was done without a conference of all interested roads, and at a period when freight congestion, owig to the volume of traffic and shortge of cars, was causing general embarrassment, owing to vexatious delays.

Shippers were deluging the traffic and operating departments with bitter complaints, and he railroads were at their wits' end in the effort to get freight to destination somewhere near the time designated by the time-cards for its arrival. In taking such summary action the plea made as an excuse for adopting the olicy was that circumstances compeled it, because by so doing it bcam possible to guarantee deliveris at specified time.

It was agred that a committee be appointed to repair and report a plan to provide for conditions of similar emergency. It was said that the committee has never had a meeting, and no one interested in the work seems to be able to give any explanation for their negligence.

By this time something akin to a normal state of affairs had been reached, and here being no unity of procedure, the old schedules were resumed. Since then there had been comparative indifference and quiet until within a few days, an announcement in a fruit-trade paper reawakened the old feeling of displeasure among differential lines. This announcement stated that the Merchants' Dispatch had been successful in inducing the New York Central to put on a new train for the special benefit and convenience of fruit dealers by establishing fifty-hour service between New York and Chicago. This was received with manifest indignation by the Central's competitors, but here particularly by the differential lines.

They find it hard enough under ordinary conditions to get a share of the lemon shipments, which are now heavy, and with the new competition they will be lucky if they get anything at all, not only of lemons, but fruit traffic in general, unless they jump into the ring and put up a fight that would mean a free war between the weak and strong lines.

CONTROL OF MEXICAN CENTRAL.

GOULD AND HARRIMAN RIVALS.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There are indications of a prospective contest for control of the Mexican Central Railway. The Gould and Harriman interests are believed to be desirous purchasing this property, and Wall street places credence in the report that George J. Gould has acquired about 40,000 shares which were held by L. Stow, just prior to the suspension of W. L. Stow & Co. Stow has resigned as director of the Mexican Central company.

About [illegible] shares of Mexican Central stock have changed hands within the last few days. The controlling stockholder is H. Clay Pierce of St. Louis, and some of his associates here declare that he has no intention of parting with his stock. Pierce has heretofore been supported in his control by F. H. Prince of Boston and a syndicate of wealthy Mexicans. The report is current that some of the Mexican stockholders are willing to sell their shares to the Gould and Harriman interests.

The amount of capital stock of the Mexican Central now outstanding is $47,962,100. This road is steadily increasing in earning power, and the men who now control it have great faith in its future.

CANADA'S NEW RAILWAY.

LAURIER STATES THE TERMS.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
OTTAWA (Ontario) July 30.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced in Parliament today the details of the contract between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the government for the building of a national transcontinental railway. The road will stretch from Moncton, B. C., to Port Simpson, on the Pacific Ocean, a distance of 3300 miles.

The government will build with public moneys the line from Moncton to Winnipeg, and lease the line to the company for fifty years. For seven years the lease will be free, the company paying operating expenses. The next three years the company will pay over all net earnings. For the remainder of the life of the lease, the company will pay the government 3 per cent. on the gross receipts. The government will supervise the building of the line, but the company's engineers will do the work. From Winnipeg to the Pacific, the company must build the line within seven years.

The government will guarantee 75 per cent. of the cost of construction, up to $13,000 per mile on the prairie and $30,000 a mile on the mountain section. The government will hold a first mortgage on the line between Winnipeg and the Pacific as security for its guarantee, and the Grand Trunk Railway will guarantee the bonds of the Grand Trunk Pacific for its proportion of the cost of the section. The company will have running privileges over the Inter-Colonial. All companies will have running privileges between Moncton and Winnipeg, subject to the company's terms. Unrouted traffic in the winter must go to St. John and Halifax, at Portland rates.

ESPEE LAYS OFF.

SUSPENSION AT TUNNEL.

The Southern Pacific yesterday suspended building operations on the Chatsworth cut-off, laying off 200 men at the tunnel. It was stated last night that the shut-down is due to lack of steel rails, and that work will be resumed as this material arrives from the East.

RAILROAD NOTES.

E. W. Gillette, general freight and passenger agent of the Salt Lake, returned to his headquarters in Salt Lake City last night. F. L. Moore, who has been appointed commercial agent of the Salt Lake, with offices in Salt Lake City, will leave Saturday. For over a year Mr. Moore has been city passenger agent for the New York Central lines here, having previously been connected with the Clark interests.

G. A. Parkyns, assistant general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, was called to San Francisco last night.

F. L. Miller, district passenger agent of the Rock Island, has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Santa Catalina.

Hugh B. Rice, the "tickets everywhere" man, reports that Dr. W. R. T. McLain of this city has gone to Paris for a few months' rest. Dr. McLain will visit England and Scotland before his return.

J. W. Thompson, general western agent of the Rock Island, is down from San Francisco.

Chickering Piano

Owners of Chickering Pianos feel a pardonable pride in telling their friends that they own a Chickering. It is superior musical discernment and a refined taste that prompts the purchase of a Chickering in preference to any other make. It is not necessary to explain to anyone possessing knowledge of piano history and values, why a Chickering is the best piano in the world. But to the few inexperienced ones we urge investigation of the Chickering's merits before buying.

Purchasing a Chickering is making an investment as safe and satisfying as a government bond.

We are exclusive agents for the Chickering. Beware of imitations.

Packing Company Calls on Underwriting Syndicate for Half of Original Subscription, Which Means a Loss.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pacific Packing and Navigation Company has called upon the underwriting syndicate for 50 per cent. of its original subscription. The amount involved is in the neighborhood of $1,500,000, and is payable in a few days. According to one of the underwriters, the amount to be paid in is almost a complete loss.

According to the original agreement, the subscribers are to receive for, say, every $100 deposited, one bond of the par value of $100, with one share of preferred stock and one share of common stock thrown in. As the preferred stock is quoted around $2 a share with no bids, the common stock below $1 a share, and the bonds of an unknown value, it is apparent that the underwriters stand to lose heavily.

The managers of the underwriting syndicate today issued a call for the final installment of 10 per cent. of the $5,000,000. The payments made by the underwriting syndicate will not go to reimburse the treasury of the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company, but into the vaults of the Knickerbocker Trust Company. It is understood that the Knickerbocker Trust Company has advanced more than $1,500,000 to the salmon combine, all of which is secured, and that the loan must be made good through the contributions of the underwriters.

FLEEING FROM BALAKHAMY.

BAKU, July 30.—The fires in the extensive petroleum works at Balakhamy, which are believed to have been of incendiary origin, are still raging. The military are unable to cope with the strikers. Matters are so threatening in the Balakhamy that foreigners are fleeing to the coast for safety. Dispatches from Odessa say that the strike there is spreading to other factories.

WHITE GOING TO GERMANY.

Sheriff Gets Warrant From State Department.

American Embassy Will Help Extradite Masterson.

Banks to Have Leeway in the Matter of Exchanging Bonds. Women for Matrons.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff W. A. White of Los Angeles county was here today and obtained a warrant from the State Department for the arrest of Edwin F. Masterson, who is under arrest at Lunden, Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, awaiting extradition. Sheriff White left this afternoon for New York where he will sail for Germany. The charges against Masterson are forgery and uttering false papers in the United States. The State Department's officials will communicate with our embassy in Berlin and facilitate Masterson's extradition in every way. No trouble whatever is apprehended in bringing him back, as the crime with which he is charged is included in extraditable offenses in the treaty.

LEEWAY FOR BANKS.

IN THE MATTER OF BONDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Treasury Shaw will not insist upon his order, made some time ago, that national banks which, a year ago, were in financial stress and were allowed to deposit State and city bonds with the treasury as security for government deposits, shall substitute government bonds for State and city bonds by August 1. Last August and September the government accepted about $20,000,000 State and city bonds, and the banks have taken up but a small part of the amount, notwithstanding it is now some months since Secretary Shaw issued the order that they be retired from the treasury by August 1.

The Secretary will not revoke his order, but it was announced at the Treasury Department today that owing to the unsettled conditions obtaining and likely to obtain in the money market for some weeks to come, the Secretary will allow the banks a little leeway to make exchange. The government money held by the banks on State and city bonds deposited with the treasury amounts to more than $15,000,000, and to insist that government bonds be substituted or money be returned to the treasury between now and Saturday morning would, it is feared, cause an unnecessary disturbance.

PHILIPPINE CUSTOMS.

FOUR-FOLD MORE BUSINESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A statement prepared by the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department shows the customs revenues in the Philippines for the first four months of 1903 to have been $2,931,782, against $2,901,011 in the same period in 1902, and $1,215,657 in 1899. A comparison of the customs revenue under Spanish administration during the ten years from 1885 to 1895, with the period from August 30, 1898, to April 30, 1903, under American occupation, shows the volume of business to have increased about four-fold.

FILIPINO COMMERCE CHAMBERK

PURE FOOD ACT.

APPLIED TO FOREIGN GOODS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The Agricultural Department today took its first action under the Pure Food Act of July 2, 1902, by requesting permission of the Secretary of the department to take samples and make chemical analysis of certain food products shipped to this country from abroad. The permission asked for has been granted, and an official examination of these products will be made to determine whether their use is deleterious to health.

An inquiry will also be made to determine as to whether their use is prohibited in the country of their origin. In either of these contingencies their entry into this country will be prohibited.

GENERAL POLICY BOARD.

MAJESTIES IN MOTORS SEE WILDEST IRELAND.

RUGGED SCENES AND HEARTY WELCOME FOR ROYALTY.

King Edward Expresses Pleasure at Industrial Activity and Cordial Spirit Seen, and Mountaineers are Appreciative—Board Yacht at Galway.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GALWAY (Ireland) July 30.—[By Atlantic Cable.] King Edward and Queen Alexandra today continued by motor their inspection of some of the wildest and most picturesque regions of Ireland. The start was made at 9 o'clock from the little town of Leenane, on the shore of Killarney Bay, where the Mayor, the local rector, the parish priests and a deputation representing 20,000 inhabitants of the wild Connemara Mountains presented an address. The King, in replying, said he had already inspected some of the cottage industries and he wished to assure the inhabitants that he was greatly pleased with the spirit of industrial activity and the warm, hearty welcome of the people, which he and the Queen both would long remember.

The hearty tone of His Majesty's speech was received with every evidence of appreciation.

The royal party drove off in motors through the beautiful lake and mountain country, everywhere greeted loyally by the inhabitants, many of whom journeyed leagues across the mountains to catch a sight of them.

The motor journey ended at Recess, where the party had luncheon. The town was decorated and the hotel was surrounded by a guard of honor of "Connemara cavalry," peasants from the surrounding country astride saddleless mountain ponies and wearing "Jerry" hats decorated with tri-color ribbons and green rosettes.

Their Majesties took a train for Galway and arrived here late in the afternoon. Here they were accorded an enthusiastic reception. The King was presented with addresses by the Council and other bodies, to which he replied briefly. Their Majesties then boarded the royal yacht which was lying in Galway Bay.

Tomorrow they will take a train from Kenmare, near which place they will be the guests of Lord Lansdowne, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, at his country seat "Dirreen," county of Kerry.

Unafflicted Residents Free to Leave Petition Government for Permission to Remain on Molokai.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HONOLULU (T. H.) July 30.—[By Pacific Cable.] A number of people at the leper settlement on the Island of Mokolai who are not afflicted with the disease were recently granted permission to leave their place of virtual confinement. A few availed themsives of the opportunity to visit Honolulu and various other places, but others have presented a petition asking permission to remain on Molokai. The Territorial authorities are carefully scrutinizing the records of the petitioners and will grant the request of those who are proved to be of good character.

MISCHIEVOUS SOLDIERS.

People living in the vicinity of Federal Camp have been greatly annoyed recently by the depredations of the mischievous element among the soldiers and complaints have been made to the civil and military authorities. The offenses of the soldiers consist chiefly of appropriating fruits and flowers and a number of night raids on gardens and orchards have been reported. One outcome of the complaints has been a doubling of the guards about the camp and neighborhood to prevent further trouble.

TO ENCOURAGE IMMIGRATION.

Gov. Dole has appointed T. F. Lansing to be Commissioner of Immigration. This office is a new one and was created for the purpose of encouraging the coming to the islands of tourists, farmers, laborers and other desirable people.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fall weather is to prevail several days, according to the forecaster who has figured this July as one of the most remarkable on record, the thermometer reaching 90 deg. only seven times during the month. The maximum of the other days was between 70 and 80 deg. The rainfall for the month has been an inch and a half above the average. The mercury reached 72 deg. in the middle of the afternoon, and for a low mark touched 60. deg. In Minneapolis 50 deg. was reached, a record for the month. In St. Paul it was 52 deg., while Lisbon, N. D., took the palm for frigidity, with 36 deg. Temperatures at 7 a.m.: New York and Boston, 74 deg.; Philadelphia and Washington, 78; Chicago, 62; Minneapolis, 52; Cincinnati and St. Louis, 72.

HONORE PALMER'S BRIDE.

It is reported that Honore Palmer and Miss Grace Greenway Brown of Baltimore are to be married in Paris August 10, and that this is the reason for the family gathering on the other side. Mrs. Potter Palmer has been abroad several months, and July 18 her son and his fiancée, with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field, the latter a sister of Miss Brown, sailed to join Mrs. Palmer in London. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will travel on the continent, and will not return to Chicago until September.

GIRLS PUBLISH PAPER.

Rosalind Mason and Emma Power, aged 12 and 13, members of Chicago's smart set, are at the head of the first paper in the West to be owned and published exclusively by "women." It is called the Baby Tribune, and is published at No. 100 Lincoln Park boulevard, the home of Rosalind's parents. Every line in the four pages is written and edited by these girls. On the first page is a big "extra," telling of the damage by the hailstorm last week to the flowers in the neighborhood. There is over a column of society news of the world. The items are decidedly breezy.

OAK PARK PICNIC.

The annual Oak Park business men's picnic today had the effect of making that aristocratic suburb deserted. Shutters were drawn on houses and business places and the population spent the day in the grove on the Des Plaines River. Most of the fun was afforded by the young women's sack race.

ELEVATOR MAN'S WINDFALL.

Working as an elevator man in the Ashland Block, W. W. Condon, a youth of Coldwater, Mich., learned today that he had fallen heir to $300,000 left by his grandmother. He left home seven years ago, and relatives searched for him in vain. Today he was located by the police.

STIRRING UP REBELLION IN EASTERN CUBA.

REVOLUTION PROCLAIMED BY PUPO'S MOUNTED BANDITS.

Gen. Rodriguez Orders Mobilization of Rural Guards, and Governor of Santiago is Empowered to Enlist Volunteers—Authorities Confident of Quelling Uprising.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAVANA (Cuba) July 30.—[By West Indian Cable.] In spite of the assertion made yesterday by Señor Yero, Secretary of the Interior, that the killing of three men and the capture of a fourth man, their leader, who had attempted to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, province of Santiago, effectually ended the only semblance of an uprising in Cuba, the rumors of uprisings in Eastern Cuba were fully confirmed today in the government's reports received from the Governor and other officials of Santiago province.

These reports are to the effect that since the night of Sunday last sixty armed and mounted men have appeared outside villages in the Cauto River district, proclaiming a revolution. The movement was said to demand the payment of the former members of the revolutionary army. No acts of violence have been reported, but the inhabitants of Cauto region are excited. The leader of the revolutionary party is named Pupo. He is a brother of one of the bandits killed by the rural on Tuesday.

Gen. Rodriguez, commander-in-chief of the Rural Guard, has ordered the mobilization of all the Rural Guards in Eastern Cuba, and the Governor of Santiago province has been instructed to enlist as many volunteers as may be deemed necessary to coöperate with the mounted troops.

Secretary of the Interior Yero says there is no doubt that the authorities will be able to cope successfully with the situation, as all reports, he says, agree that popular sentiment is with the government of President Palma, and that those who have risen in rebellion mostly belong to the wanton, lazy class of Puerto Principe.

Up to this afternoon no further information had been received in Havana regarding the uprising in Eastern Cuba. The Rural Guards have begun to patrol both sides of the Cauto River in search of the rebels. The military and civil officials have not yet reported the number, location and doings of the rebels with any degree of exactness. Farmers who have arrived at Victoria de Las Tunas, the center of the disturbed district, report that they have not seen any armed men.

UPRISING PETERED OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAVANA, July 30.—Up to 10 o'clock tonight the reported uprising in the province of Santiago has not been confirmed either by government or other reports. Gen. Lora, commanding the rural guard of the eastern district, has telegraphed that he proceeded from Bayamo to Cauto del Paso and returned without finding or hearing anything of the reported uprising. The Mayor of Victoria de las Lunas wired this afternoon that diligent inquiries in the surrounding villages disclosed no signs of revolutionists. The Mayor says the existence of the band is now doubted. Señor Yero, Secretary of the Interior, and other government officials are now inclined to believe that the Santiago authorities were misled by persistent rumors. Mounted rural guards to the number of 300 and many volunteers are now engaged in a search for the reported revolutionists in the provinces of Santiago and Puerto Principe.

Late tonight Col. Reyes, a revolutionary veteran, in whom the government has great confidence, wired from Santiago province that the region was completely tranquilized; that the people were satisfied, and that there was no reason for alarm. Gen. Lora telegraphed tonight from Bayamo that it had been definitely determined that the reports of an uprising originated with the bandits who were shot on Monday and had circulated stories before that date that their band numbered seventy. The government is satisfied that the incident is closed.

"Father of His Country" Had His Headquarters in the Old Log House There During the Revolution—Rain has Made the Counterfeit Presentment More Distinct.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch. The remarkable likeness, in stone, of the face of George Washington, near an old log house at Mamaroneck, opposite the entrance to Orienta Point, has been made more distinct, through recent heavy rains. Washington had his quarters at this place during the Revolution, and the house figures in Cooper's novel of "The Spy" as the home of Harvey Birch. The added distinctiveness of the features of the "Father of his Country" has caused a rush of amateur photographers to the spot, and a number were there today "snapping" the rock. The likeness was produced by some workmen in blasting rock to widen Boston Post road, at the entrance of Orienta Point. The fact can be seen only at certain angles. The coloring of the stone helps to make the face. The mouth is outlined by a dark red streak. The eyes are formed by indentations and the nose by a protrusion, while the neck and chin are almost perfect. Washington is said to have stopped at this spot and made the old house his headquarters in 1789, while on his way to Connecticut to meet Rochambeau. Later, J. Fenimore Cooper visited the place while courting his bride, and made it famous by incorporating it in his novel.

This Sale of Tailoring

Would not be a success if it was an ordinary sale. When we first entered the tailoring business we determined that each season we would close out our stock and commence the new season with fresh suitings. When the time comes to "clean-up" we aim to get our cost price out of the materials and workmanship.

We don't believe that any tailoring has quite so much style and snap as Silverwood's. Getting this tailoring at cost is a proposition that few men can pass over.

RIOTOUS NEGROES CAUSE UPROAR IN CHURCH AT BOSTON.

Policeman Stabbed With Hatpin and Trouble Maker Slashed With Razor. Educator's Enemies Started Disturbance by Asking Questions and Hissing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, July 30.—An atempt by half a dozen colored persons opposed to Booker T. Washington, president of Tuskegee Institute, to ask questions at a meeting which he was addressing tonight at the Zion Church almost resulted in a riot and twenty-five policemen were called to quell the disturbance. Several arrests were made, one policeman received a deep stab from a hatpin, while a man, said to be one of those opposed to Washington, received several razor cuts and is now in the hospital.

After the arrests, Mr. Washington was allowed to proceed, and spoke for nearly two hours.

Both factions at the close of the meeting issued statements. Mr. Washington said in his statement that the colored people of Boston should not be held responsible for a few riotous individuals, and William Munroe Trotter, one of those who were arrested, stated that the cause of the rioting was the absurd ruling of the chairman, Mr. Lewis, in ordering the arrest and ejection of any person who hissed the speaker.

It is said that the disturbance was prearranged and after the meeting Trotter and his friends admitted that they went there with the intention of asking Washington a number of questions and to resent any attack that might be made on the New England representatives to the recent Afro-American Council at Louisville. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Colored Business Men's Association of this city and William H. Lewis, one of the United States Assistant District Attorneys, presided.

WORLD'S BIGGEST CLOCK.

St. Louis Exposition to Exhibit Timepiece With Floral Dial One Hundred and Twenty Feet in Diameter.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) July 30.—The greatest clock in the world, the dial of which will be 120 feet in diameter, is being built here for use at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition next year. Only the hands and machinery are being made here, for the dial is to be a brilliant bed of flowers. The clock will be placed on the side of the hill north of the Agricultural building.

The minute hand will be sixty feet long and the ring at the end, which will be fastened to the machinery, will be eight feet in diameter. The minute hand will move five feet every minute. The numerals marking various hours will be fifteen feet in length and made of bright-colored coleus. In a broad circle surrounding the dial will be twelve flower beds, one opposite each hour, and each two feet wide and fifteen feet long. At night the timepiece will be illuminated with 2000 incandescent lights.

BARE CHANCE OF LIFE.

Surgeons Expect to Be Able to Determine Today Whether Valentino Torres's Victim Will Die.

Abel Rivas, who was shot through the abdomen Wednesday night at Ord and New High streets by Valentino Torres, was removed from Police Headquarters to the County Hospital yesterday morning, and, last night it was stated by the surgeons at the latter institution that they considered he had a bare chance of recovery. Until today or possibly until tomorrow, it will be impossible to determine with any degree of certainty what the result of the wound will be. If peritonitis supervenes the patient is almost sure to die, but the longer the time that elapses before inflammation arises, if it appears at all, the better are his chances. He is very weak and constantly complains of severe pain, which is considered an unfavorable sign. Realizing the desperate nature of the wound he has made an ante-mortem statement, which is similar to that made by him a short time after he was shot.

Torres is confined in one of the steel cages on the second floor of the City Jail. He refuses to make any statement about the case except to reassert that he acted in self-defense. No formal charge has been filed against him as yet and none will be until it is known what the result of his victim's wound will be.

BUSINESS.

A constant drip of small selling in the New York stock market caused prices to crumble. The money market shows a growing ease for time loans. Higher prices for wheat brought heavy realizing sales at Chicago, and the market turned weak. Corn had an easier tone until the firmness in wheat had rallying effect.

THE LIBERTY BELL.

Philadelphia is just now greatly wrought up over the fact that the heirs of John Wiltbank, a pre-Revolutionary bell founder, assert that the old Liberty Bell, the nation's most sacredly prized relic, is the private property of their family. These heirs have gone the length of instituting proceedings in the courts to make good their claim, and, therefore, that their intentions are serious is a matter that admits of no doubt. They have retained able counsel to represent them, who say they are confident of securing a decision favorable to their clients.

It appears that the authorities in Philadelphia once thought so little of the historic value of the bell that they actually gave it to John Wiltbank in part payment for a new bell. This was when the old liberty sounder got that crack in its side which is so familiar to all who have seen it or the pictures of it. It was in 1828 when the bell became cracked, on the occasion of Gen. Lafayette's memorable visit to the United States, and when the people gave him such a joyous welcome in grateful recognition of his services in the Revolutionary War. Afterward, the short-sighted Philadelphians decided that they didn't want a cracked bell hanging in Independence Hall, and, forthwith, ordered a new one from Wiltbank, turning the relic over to him as part payment for his work. Fortunately, however, John Wiltbank foresaw the day when that old bell would be reverenced by the American people as no other thing in their possession would be, and it was that belief that restrained him from throwing it into the metal pot as he might have done, and as it was, indeed, expected he would do. It was thus that the bell was saved to posterity, and it is upon that fact that his heirs now base their claims.

Imagine the fortune that the Liberty Bell would be worth to private owners. Exhibited throughout the country, there is no show on earth that could vie with it as an attraction. On the other hand, the popular clamor would, doubtless, become so great that Congress would be compelled to buy it and the owners could fix their own price. If the Wiltbank heirs succeed, they will need worry no more concerning their financial condition. They will have money galore.

In any event, there is no possibility now that the nation will be deprived of the bell. The people would not agree to let it go, even if it must be purchased over again. It will be preserved and venerated while the republic exists, to remain an object of patriotic and sacred care while the memories that it typifies find a throb in the hearts of Americans.

Some pains has been taken to cable over to this country from London the more or less important bit of intelligence that "a rather well-known gentleman of athletic propensities" has been distinguishing himself in the dear old town by doing a cake walk from a prominent restaurant to Hyde Park corner, but as the gentleman's name is not given the importance of the information dwindles somewhat. The really striking feature of the cablegram is the light that it lets in upon the fact that the cake walk in London has taken such a hold upon the population that it is performed in midday upon a swell thoroughfare of that great capital. And that isn't the only thing American that looms up out of the fog over yonder.

Lillian Russell's automobile has been misbehaving with that charming lady of the pink tights and the perennial youth. Our Blanche Bates was also in the mix-up with airy, fairy Lillian. The fact that a machine will act unruly with a load like that goes to show that all the mean things that are said about it are fully justified

FOUND IN THE DIRECTORY.

That barometer of progress, the City Directory, contains, this year, 2036 pages, as compared with 1751 last year. The publishers made a careful canvass of the city for estimate of population. Their census shows Los Angeles to have contained, a couple of months ago, a population of 134,687. This coincides very closely with the results obtained from the school census, recently taken, so that we may consider ourselves justified in estimating the present population of Los Angeles as at least 135,000. The following table, showing the number of persons and firms engaged in professional and business lines of work in Los Angeles, according to the directory, will prove interesting to many at a distance, and is likely to be something of a revelation to not a few of our own people:

Architects	54	Laundries	55
Attorneys	374	Livery stables	90
Bakeries	72	Meat markets	112
Barbers	172	Mining companies	334
Blacksmiths	48	Nurses	124
Cigar dealers	128	Oil companies	168
Contractors	944	House painters	160
Dentists	134	Physicians	324
Dressmakers	248	Plumbers	72
Druggists	84	Job printers	58
Fuel and feed	104	Railroad agencies	34
Furnished rooms	616	Real estate	796
Grocers	424	Restaurants	404
Hospitals	25	Saloons	174
Hotels	71	Shoes	112
Insurance agents	200	Tailors	164
Jewelers	73	Teachers	324

From this it may be seen that Los Angeles, in 1903, is fairly well supplied with professional gentlemen, especially lawyers, physicians, real estate agents and teachers. Those lines may be said to be fully filled. The list not only furnishes evidence of the remarkable activity prevailing in Los Angeles along all lines of enterprise, but it also confirms what The Times has said from time to time, to the effect that Los Angeles is a poor place for those who are looking for light employment in professional and business lines, for the reason that so many partial invalids come to this city who are able to do a little work, and are satisfied if they can earn a little more than sufficient to pay their living expenses.

One of the most interesting features of the directory this year, as showing the great industrial development of the city, is the department devoted to contractors. It contains the names of no less than 944 individuals and firms. There are contractors for asphalt, brick, bridge building, calcimining, cement, excavating, mill work, grading, heating and ventilating, house-moving, irrigation, masonry, oil wells, painting, paving, plastering, plumbing, railroad buildings, roofing, sewer work, sprinkling, stone work, street work, tanks, and whitewashing. The building contractors alone number 388, giving some idea of the remarkable building activity prevailing in and around the city.

Any intelligent person, of an investigating turn of mind, may find much further information of interest within the covers of this big book, which has become as indispensable "in every well regulated family" as a dictionary.

STAGE DEGRADATION.

It has been announced from Paris that Gabrielle Bompard, the notorious murderess, who killed a wealthy man for the sake of gain, and who was recently banqueted by a number of prominent journalists, academicians and others, on her release from jail, is about to come to America for the purpose of giving a series of lectures on the possibilities of hypnotism. She is to be accompanied by an editorial writer on the Paris Journal. She does not attempt to deny her complicity in the crime for which she was imprisoned, but claims that she was hypnotized to such an extent that she lent herself to the most horrible of deeds without realizing what she was doing. This is a convenient plea, and if carried out to its fullest extent might be advanced as an argument against the punishment of any criminals. Not that there is nothing in hypnotism, for that there certainly is has been proved on many occasions, to the satisfaction of any reasonable person, but it will not do to push this theory too far in excuse for crime.

The proposed appearance of this self-admitted murderess—whether through hypnotism or otherwise—on the lecture platform seems to be about the limit in that line, although there is no telling what further surprises the future may have in store for us. It is not necessary to enter into a discussion of that time-honored question of the decadence of the stage, nor is it necessary to insist upon Shakespeare, for Shakespeare is more fitted for reading than for acting in these days, so far removed from those in which and of which he wrote. As The Times has previously observed, however, there is certainly a wide margin for exploitation between "King Lear" and "Where Smith Lost His Suspenders." Some of the stuff seen on the boards nowadays is such veritable and deplorable "tommy-rot" that it is astonishing to find houses in which such matter is offered to the public regularly crowded to the doors. It is certainly not flattering to the intelligence of the average American audience that such a condition of affairs should prevail. It explains also, perhaps, to some extent, why get-rich-quick schemers and quack doctors manage to accumulate wealth so easily in this country.

The managers cannot be blamed for giving the public that which the public wants, so long as they confine themselves within the limits of ordinary decency, but the question is whether a self-admitted murderess on the platform is a decent sight. It certainly is not a nice one.

Chicago has a freak judge who renders an opinion to the effect that it is lawful to picket an establishment from which men have left their employment, to the end that other men shall not take their places. This monstrous doctrine is not only contrary to the opinion of other judges, but is a flagrant assault upon common sense and common justice. Any man in this world has a right to quit his job at any time he sees fit, provided he hasn't contracted to work for a definite period, but once he does quit he has no more rights on the premises than had he never been within ten thousand miles of the sound of the whistle of the factory—no more right, in fact, than the employer would have to maroon the quitter and compel him to go to work. These are certain elements of justice and fair play that even a Chicago judge ought to understand.

When the government has concluded its straightening out of the circumlocution office at the New York Customhouse there would appear to be room for a like operation at Honolulu, where travelers are said to be slammed around in the most heartless manner. In addition to this their baggage, containing their winter clothes, which they always need upon reaching San Francisco, is put under bond to the end that embarking passengers at that city have to go trailing up Market street wearing linen dusters and open-work shirt waists. When a customhouse officer commences showing his little brief authority he is about the most offensive thing known to civilized nations.

There is no truth in the report that New York is using Judge Parker, who has some few aspirations to the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1904, as a means of reducing the abnormally high temperature of the midsummer season. He has declined to act as a refrigerator for the dear public, even though he should never get a nomination for anything. But this isn't saying that the judge isn't fully qualified by nature to fill the bill.

The open season for deer has arrived in Oregon in the usual brisk style. A prominent citizen has been picked off in the brush by a rifle in the hands of a friend with whom he was hunting. Perhaps it would be advisable for deer hunters to hunt a la solitaire if they want to be sure to return intact to civilization after a plunge into the wilds.

Should the promoters of the asphalt trust be made to disgorge, what will happen to Mr. Morgan and his friends who organized the steel trust, the steamboat trust and eighteen or twenty other colossal combines whose stocks are just now going down the toboggan at a hair-raising rate of speed?

Chicago automobilists have failed to defeat the city ordinance requiring them to display large numbers on their machines. And in Los Angeles we have hardly commenced to discuss the passage of such an ordinance, as yet. And this is where Chicago is several days' march ahead of us.

San Francisco, which has 3102 saloons in daily use, is making a hard struggle to keep the number down to this figure. It does seem as if one ought to be able to get a drink in that city without having to walk his legs off in order to find a place.

There seems to be some difference of opinion as to which one of the escapes from Folsom was killed the other day, but as there is no dispute as to the happy dispatch of at least one of them let us not quibble as to individuals.

BOER FAMILIES WILL LOCATE IN MEXICO.

LARGE TRACTS OF LAND SECURED FOR COLONIZATION PURPOSES.

The Fertile Plains of the State of Tamaulipas to be Fully Developed. Irish Immigrants Will Join the South African Fugitives in the Undertaking.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) July 16.—Marion Butler, ex-United States Senator from North Carolina, and chairman of the Populist National Committee, returned to Monterey this week from the State of Tamaulipas, where he closed a contract with the Boer generals, Joubert and O'Donnell, for 100,000 acres of land for colonization purposes. Hundreds of Boer families will be located on the tract, and in addition it is the intention of Gen. O'Donnell to bring to Mexico many families from Ireland, the land of his birth.

The tract of land is located between the Soto la Mariana River and the Carrazal River, and fronts for the entire distance on the Gulf of Mexico. The Boer generals also secured an option on an additional 100,000 acres of land adjoining the tract contracted for, and the sale of the latter tract probably will be consummated before the end of the year.

Senator Butler was in Monterey about a month ago, and at that time was in correspondence with Joubert and O'Donnell in reference to the establishment of a colony on a portion of the Tamaulipas ranch. Subsequently he joined the Boer generals in the City of Mexico, and together they journeyed to Tamaulipas and inspected the land. They found it well watered by numerous streams, the largest of which, the Solo la Mariana, is navigable by steamboats drawing fifteen feet of water for a distance of forty miles from its mouth.

While in the City of Mexico Senator Butler and Gens. Joubert and O'Donnell conferred with Secretary Mariscal in reference to concessions to be granted the colonists by the government. As a result of the conference the colonists will be exempt from all taxes, except the stamp tax, for a long term of years, and will not be required to pay import or export duties on goods and cattle shipped into Mexico and products shipped out of the country. The first Boer families will arrive in Mexico about the first of next year.

Gens. Joubert and O'Donnell passed through Monterey on their way to New York, Europe and South Africa. They appeared to be enthusiastic over the prospects of the Tamaulipas colony. Gen. Joubert said:

"We intend to locate colonists who will lend every energy to the upbuilding of that section of Mexico. We were surprised to find land so fertile and well watered, and in many respects so similar to the best land in South Africa. The transportation of our colonists and their household goods will be looked after by the New York syndicate, of which Senator Butler is a member. Each family will be allowed to hold as much land as can be cultivated. The colonists will be given the use of the land free, and supplied with work animals and implements for a period of two years. At the end of that time the first payment and interest will become due."

IRISH FAMILIES COMING.

Concerning the proposed Irish colony Gen. O'Donnell said:

"Many of the poor farmers of Ireland would want nothing better than a chance to secure land in a country where their rights would be respected. I intend to give them this chance. I will make a trip through Ireland in the interest of an Irish colony on a portion of the Tamaulipas tract, and I know I can induce scores of industrious Irish farmers to become residents of Mexico."

The Tamaulipas colony will be the second Boer Colony in Mexico, Gen. Snyman having completed arrangements for the establishment of a Boer colony in the State of Chihuahua some months ago.

DEVELOPMENT OF RESOURCES.

In connection with the Lopez ranch Senator Butler announced that the New York syndicate was making arrangements to thoroughly develop its resources, which include asphalt, oil, timber and minerals. He will have the general management of the work, and $300,000 gold will be placed at his disposal at once. The plans of the syndicate include the construction of a main line of railroad either into Tampico or to a connection with the Monterey division of the Mexican Central, and branch lines to various portions of the tract. Of the resources of the immense ranch the timber is considered the most valuable, and one of the first steps will be the erection of sawmills at convenient locations. Forests of ebony, walnut, oak and hickory are scattered throughout the tract. Through the syndicate the Warner-Quinlan people have become interested in the asphalt deposits.

INDUSTRIAL NEWS NOTES.

The National Railroad of Mexico is preparing to install automatic electrical interlocking plants at the principal crossings along its line. The plants will be the first of the kind to be installed by any railroad in Mexico. The crossings in Monterey, City of Mexico, San Louis Potosi, Acambaro, Toluca, Gonzales Junction, Saltillo and Neuvo Laredo will be protected by the automatic devices. A. J. Thornton, division engineer of the National, has returned to the City of Mexico, after making plans for the installation of the plant in this city.

The smelter of the American Smelting and Refining Company at Aguascalientes is now operating at its full capacity, treating about 1500 tons of ore per day. Five furnaces are devoted to the treatment of copper, and three to the treatment of lead. The business of the smelter is such that there is now a scarcity of cars for the transportation of ores.

Maj. Henry Catlin, chief mining engineer of the Mexican Mining and Exploration Company, of which Admiral Schley and other prominent Americans are members, announced in this city this week that the company would establish one or more smelters in Mexico. The company owns the Asuncion mine in Mitre Mountain, this city, and several mines in the Parral district, and is negotiating for several other Mexican properties. The smelters will be built primarily for the handling of the output of the company's mines. Maj. Catlin said that the locations of the proposed plant had not been decided on.

The Mexican International Railroad is engaged in building two immense reservoirs on its line, one at Anhela and the other near Reata. Dams are being constructed, and the water from the mountains will be caught and stored. It is believed that sufficient water will be secured to meet all the demands of the road.

The La Cruz Plantation Company, composed of Iowa and Minnesota capitalists, has just taken charge of the La Cruz plantation, comprising 20,000 acres of rich agricultural land, about thirty miles from Victria in the State of Tamaulipas. G. W. Carpenter, C. W. Bibb and S. H. Miller were in Monterey this week buying implements and other supplies. The company will engage in the cultivation of sugar, corn and rice on an extensive scale, and the raising of cattle. There are now 400 people living on the plantation, and this number will be doubled.

It is said by railroadmen in a position to know, that the Mexican International road is contemplating abandoning the proposed line from Durango to Mazatlan, all surveying a new route from Durango to San Blas, a port farther south on the Pacific Coast. The harbor at San Blas does not equal that at Mazlan and many more miles of road will have to be built, but it is said that a much less expensive route can be secured by making San Blas the direct coast terminus. Because of the mountainous grades between Durango and Mazatlan the building of a line connecting the two cities would call an immense expense. If the line is built to San Blas, it is said that Mazatlan will be given railroad connection by a line along the coast.

FRENCH RESIDENTS CELEBRATE.

Although there are less than fifty French people living in Monterey, the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile, July 14, was enthusiastically celebrated here. The French took possession of the Iturbide Hotel in the morning and kept open house during the day. Several thousand dollars' worth of champagne was served to guests. The band of the Ninth Infantry Regiment was secured for the day and stationed in the patio of the hotel, and the selections were confined to those of French composers.

Juan Wessner of Saltillo, who is engaged in building a long-distance telephone line from Torreon to Monterey, was in the city this week. He announced that by the middle of August the installation of the local 'phones would begin, and before the local work was completed the long-distance line would be placed in operation. The long-distance system will be extended to embrace Saltillo and Durango as well as Mohterey and Torreon.

LANDSLIDE AND ROBBERY.

A disastrous landslide occurred Monday night on the Mexican Central line near Tamasopo, a station between San Luis Potosi and Tampico. A stretch of track was swept away, and the damage has not yet been repaired. Freight traffic on that branch of the Central is practically at a standstill, and passenger traffic is greatly interfered with by the necessity of transferring passengers at the scene of the disaster. A passenger train passed the place a few minutes before the landslide occurred.

Roberto Low, owner of "La Fama" cotton mill, at Leona, seven miles from Monterey, received a letter Wednesday demanding that $10,000 be placed at a designated spot in the hills near the fill by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. It was stated that if Mr. Low failed to deposit the money the mill would be blown up with dynamite Wednesday night. The letter bore several Italian names, with the word "Anarchists" below them. Mr. Low notified the Monterey police, and several policemen were sent to the mill. They remained until morning, but the "anarchists" failed to appear. The letter is now regarded as simply an attempt to frighten Mr. Low into parting with $10,000.

Biggest Meat Eaters Living.

If Germany does not remove the bars she has raised against the importation of American meat products her middle classes will be left to the alternatives of starvation or emigration, according to an investigation made by the National Provisioner, the organ of the provision trade in this country.

The paper thinks there are indications that the restrictions governing meat importation will be lightened instead, to the great benefit of American trade, for the simple reason that, unless that is done, Germany cannot feed her own people.

It figures that there are out of the total population of 56,000,000, 7,000,000 German families whose annual earnings average only $225, or $45 a head a year, and 5,000,000 more families that earn not more than $500 a year, or $100 a head.

Just how much meat these can afford to eat when that article was from 50 to 100 per cent. higher in price than it was here—and millions of dollars' worth have been barred since by the prohibitive meat regulations—cannot be estimated.

Apart from the raising of prices by the restrictions of the supply, it is argued further that Germany cannot feed her own people anyway. By official count a little more than two years ago the country had only 18,000,000 cattle, or less than the number of hogs, 19,000,000 sheep and almost 3,000,000 goats to feed her population.

Assuming that the same proportion is killed there annually as here and the weight of the animals to be the same, there would be only seventy-six pounds of meat a head each year, or a little over three ounces each a day, for the whole population, which is clearly not enough.

With only 50 per cent. more population than Germany, the United States kills three times as many cattle, nearly five times as many pigs, and seven times as many sheep annually, and when all the great amount sent out of this country is allowed for, there is still left three times as much meat for every head of the population as there is in Germany.

That fact, the paper argues, makes us the biggest meat eaters in the world and the nation with the stoutest manhood, and in time it will make Germany come to us for some of our supply.—[New York Sun.

For their heroic work in rescuing the Spanish steamship Ereza in a storm off Bermuda, in February, 1902, the members of the crew of the American steamship Yeoman will receive $20,000. After more than a year of litigation Judge McPherson, in the United States District Court at Philadelphia, has entered judgment in that amount, MURDERED WHILE ASLEEP.

PUEBLO (Colo.) July 30.—[illegible] Masterson, a foreman at the [illegible] works, was murdered shortly after midnight last night while lying asleep. Suspicion rests on members of a gang of laborers of which the dead man was in charge, and sixteen of them have been arrested. Masterson had, the previous night, discharged three men. The weapon used in the murder was a shovel and his skull was fractured.

MINES AND MINING.

ALICE ROLLINS CRANE WAS POLITELY FIRED.

RETIRED FROM MANAGEMENT OF WOMAN'S MINING COMPANY.

Female Promoter, Writer of Stories and Wife of Russian Count Too Clever—Career as Manager of Alaska Mines at an End.

Is the "Countess Moraczewski," more generally known in this city as Alice Rollins Crane, female promoter and writer of little tales, "on the square?"

Probably Alice Rollins Crane would be shocked should she learn that this question is asked by any of the score or more of local women who, six years ago, decided to link their fortunes with hers in an attempt to extract the yellow metal from the gold fields of Alaska. At any rate they are curious, as little did they reck of the many trials and tribulations that were to grow out of that connection.

Alice Rollins Crane first came into prominence in this city in 1896, when she organized the Los Angeles Woman's Mining Syndicate, composed of about fifty females, who were induced to advance close to $2500 to be used in acquire northern mining properties, that, according to the terms of a contract entered into at that time, were to be the property of Alice Rollins Crane, but from which a certain percentage of the earnings were to be paid the syndicate. This syndicate was never incorporated, but on October 12, 1900, the Los Angeles and Yukon Mining Company was formed by the members of the Woman's Mining syndicate, and this company acquired an interest in the properties secured by Mrs. Crane.

Through the process of time and the evolution of circumstances local investors learned that they had exchanged their capital for a choice assortment of experiences, and that if Alice Rollins Crane were allowed to continue in the management of the northern properties, which can only be valuable after thousands of dollars have been expended in development, they might not even have the property to show for their investments.

Now they have "fired" Alice Rollins Crane. Politely, of course, but nevertheless she has been asked to step down and out and the management of the Alaska properties in which the local company retains an interest has been put under the charge of Capt. William Galpin, who is described by the Daily Klondike Nugget of Dawson as "an erstwhile country gentleman of the old English school and sometimes sour-dough of the broad Yukon vale."

Alice Rollins Crane's fall from grace is largely due to evidence furnished by Capt. Galpin, who wrote local stockholders that the lady promoter was no lady. He stated that though he had been in partnership with the fair operator, he had discovered that she was not working in the interest of other stockholders, and that since her marriage to a scion of Russian nobility with an unpronounceable name, who formerly kept a roadhouse, this has been most marked.

In view of the evidence furnished, others of the company have discharged Alice Rollins Crane.

Dr. F. W. Steddom of this city, secretary of the Los Angeles and Yukon Mining Company, in speaking of the recent action, said yesterday: "We had great faith in Mrs. Crane, but events have led us to believe that she had other than our interests at heart.

"The original contract between Mrs. Crane and the syndicate was not a valid one; but when the Los Angeles and Yukon Mining Company was formed a new agreement was entered into, and the company now owns interest in several very promising mines in the Klondike district, but it will take many thousands of dollars to open them up as they should be handled. Mrs. Crane retains her interests in the company, but she will not be allowed to continue in the management."

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

STOCKTON TO YOSEMITE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Charles Gage of Denver, representing a syndicate of Chicago, New York and Cleveland capitalists and Edwin De Haven, who is identified with several mining enterprises in the Tonopah district, are perfecting plans for an eletric road between Stockton and the Yosemite Valley. The plan is to build a standard-gauge road from Stockton to the valley by way of Chinese Camp, thence to Big Oak Flat around the saw mills to Merced, Hamilton and Crocker and thence to the entrance of the valley. In discussing the road, Mr. Gage said:

"It is a private enterprise and is backed by a number of persons who were interested in the building of the Cleveland Interurban road and the electric line through the Las Animas country in Colorado. The road will be built for freight as well as passenger traffic. With a branch that we intend to extend into Tuolumne county we shall have 184 miles of line, the power for which will be generated from stations, which we shall build on the Merced and Tuolumne rivers. The projectors of the road hope to have the road doing business between Stockton and the valley within fourteen months."

PHELPS-DODGE & CO.'S PLAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) July 30.—A Star special from Douglas says that it has been definitely learned that Phelps, Dodge & Co., owners of the Copper Queen mine at Bisbee and the famous Nacosari copper mines in Sonora, Mex., are making arrangements to employ Chinese labor at their Nacosari mines instead of Mexicans. The Chinese work for less and are steadier.

Some two weeks ago a tramp steamer landed 1400 Chinese at Guaymas, it is learned, and that an agent of the company secured 400 of them for work at the mines. It is also understood that it is the purpose to employ Chinese labor on the railroads. The company claims that Mexican labor is very unreliable and scarce in Sonora and that other white labor cannot be obtained. It is estimated that fully 4000 Chinese have landed at Guaymas within the last sixty days and have been given employment.

Several lines of women's Kid Gloves to be closed out—$1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 sorts, at Seventy-five cents, today and tomorrow. Invincible real Kid Washable Gloves—black, mode, tan and pearl; mochas in black, mode and gray—all at 75 cents.

BLANKETS
NOW OR NEVER

The great Mid-Summer Blanket Sale positively ends tonight. How any frugal-minded man or woman can procrastinate to the point of missing such a money saving chance, is more than we can comprehend.

$3.50 Blankets For $1.95
$4.25 Blankets For $2.45
$5.00 Blankets For $3.55
$6.75 Blankets For $4.25
$8.50 Blankets For $5.65

The saving is better than a third on every pair of Blankets you buy today—with one exception, the $5.00 line at $3.55. But this is more than made up on many of the other lots marked suspiciously near to half regular prices.

People who appreciate Bargains will be readiest to respond.

MUST PAY THE FIDDLER

Young Toughs Who "Shot Up" Long Beach Sunday to Be Vigorously Prosecuted—Three in Jail.

It was fun for the young toughs from this city to go to Long Beach Sunday and incite a number of newsboys to riot. It was even funny to them when they almost killed a dwarf who was in charge of a miniature train on the beach. For some reason it took the Long Beach authorities some time to wake up to the realization that the offenses committed by these hoodlums were serious; but when they did wake up they proceeded in no uncertain manner to secure the proper punishment of the gang. Warrants were issued yesterday for the arrest of a dozen or more of the crowd, and last night Frank Oden, Thomas Whitman and John LeRoy were locked up in the City Jail, pending their being taken to Long Beach for trial. The officers are looking for the other members of the gang.

The public indignation of Long Beach will express itself in a mass meeting this evening. Censure and prosecution are not directed against the newsboys as such, but against the young toughs who egged on the disturbance, and who are responsible for what happened.

PERSONAL.

Smith McKay, a mining man from Denver, is at the Van Nuys.

Charles Nelson, a San Francisco lumberman, is staying at the Van Nuys.

F. R. Comee of Boston, leader of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is a guest at the Van Nuys with Mrs. Comee.

G. S. Holmes and O. P. Posey returned yesterday from a trip to their mining property near Good Springs, Nev.

OFF FOR BOHEMIA.

Louis F. Vetter, ex-Councilman and bon vivant, will leave Saturday night on the "Owl" for his annual summer pilgrimage to the sylvan shrine of the San Francisco Bohemian Club. "Weaving spiders come not here," will be the sign over the entrance to Vetter tent. There may be some little rest for the weary in the wooded retreat of San Francisco Bohemians, but these little summer junkets have more often been characterized by most strenuous exertions after pleasure.

Santa Barbara.

The Southern Pacific will sell round-trip tickets to Santa Barbara and return every Saturday during the summer, including board for one day at either Hotel Potter or Arlington for $4. Tickets are good going on 3 p.m. train on Saturdays and to return until following Tuesday. Hotel accommodations are for one day, beginning with dinner Saturday night. When you consider that the regular one-way railroad rate to Santa Barbara is $2.35, this is an opportunity that appeals to everybody—the hotels being the finest on the Pacific Coast. Full particulars at 261 South Spring street, Los Angeles.

Weather Conditions.—Cool, cloudy mornings continue on the Pacific Coast, and clear weather in the interior, with warm day temperatures. The pressure is low in the Southwest, but no rain is reported north of the Mexican line. Rain and a thunderstorm are reported from Dodge City and also from Havre, Mont.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Clouding tonight; becoming fair by Friday noon; light to fresh south to west winds.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Weather conditions and general forecast. Warmer weather prevails generally over California. In Nevada there has been a slight fall in temperature, and in Idaho and Eastern Washington a decided fall. Afternoon temperatures of about 100 deg. are reported generally from the valley. There has been a sharp rise in pressure over the northwestern portion of the country. Rain has fallen at Portland, and a thunderstorm is reported at Pocatello. Forecast:

For Northern California: Fair Friday; warmer; fresh northerly winds inland; brisk westerly winds on the coast.

Southern California: Fair Friday; showers in the mountains; fresh southerly winds.

Nevada: Fair Friday; warmer.

San Francisco and vicinity: Fair Friday; warmer; brisk westerly winds.

Sacramento and vicinity: Fair, warmer, Friday; fresh north wind.

DOG ATTACKS WOMAN HURTS HER SEVERELY.

VISITOR IN VENTURA LYING IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

Mrs. Will Wood of Gila Bend, Ariz., Knocked Down and Terribly Shocked by Great Dane—Fight Over a Gambler's Estate.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, July 30.—Mrs. Will Wood is lying at the residence of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Evans, in a dangerous condition resulting from an attack upon her by a cross-bred Great Dane dog and bloodhound. The brute did not actually bite the woman, but he jumped upon her and fiercely planted his teeth in her jacket, the force of his attack knocking her down and giving her a shock which it is feared her delicate condition will not withstand.

Mrs. Wood is a resident of Gila Bend, Ariz, and came to Ventura to spend the summer by the seaside with her relative. They reside in a little cottage on Meta street, between Oak and California, and each pleasant day Mrs. Wood made it her practice to take the short walk to the beach. The dog was the property of Ben Craig on California street, and was usually kept in the back yard. Mrs. Wood had seen it out in front, however, and on one occasion at least had put her hand on its head and thought she had made friends with it. Tuesday evening Mrs. Wood took a walk to the beach in company with Mrs. Evans. On returning, and just in front of the Craig place, the women were startled by a great uproar from the dog, which tore toward the front fence, clearing it easily and making madly toward Mrs. Wood. She was frightened and as the animal jumped at her throat she partly turned, receiving the force of the impact on her weight on her back. She was thrown off the sidewalk and into the street, the dog on top of her with his teeth planted in her wrap. Mrs. Evans screamed at the dog and he slunk away. As Mrs. Wood fell her back struck the cement curb. She could not arise and a cot was secured at the residence of Mrs. Crump near by, and with the help of young men who came up she was removed to her home. It was feared for a time that she would not fully from her injuries and the serious shock to her system, and she is not yet out of danger, but her friends hope for the best. The owner of the dog had him shot.

A GAMBLER'S ESTATE.

There promises to be a pretty warm battle over the estate of the late Al Hiller, the gambler from Oxnard who died at the Whoolen Hospital last week. Hiller left $3500 or $400 and a diamond ring worth as much more. It is said he left other valuables, which will bring his estate up to perhaps $1000. He left a wife in Sacramento and sisters, also, in the State. Through Attorney Percy of Oxnard letters of administration have been applied for by Hiller's Oxnard friend, Harry Lamb, who figures the estate worth about $500, placing the value of the diamond ring at $150. It is stated that the Public Administrator understood that a move was on foot among Hiller's friends to handle the estate without bothering the courts over the matter and that the Public Administrator then wrote Mr. Lamb of his understanding of the matter as regards the wife and other relatives of the dead gambler and that then Mr. Lamb filed his petition for letters testamentary. This did not satisfy the Public Administrator and he also proceeded to file an application for letters in opposition to the Lemb petition, meantime writing the widow of what had taken place and asking what should be done in the premises. A hot fight is promised when the two petitions reach the court, unless the widow steps in and declares herself.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Presbyterians of Ventura will have a handsome new church edifice, the new church to be built upon the site of the old at the corner of Meta and Oak streets. This was fully decided at a meeting held at the church last night. At the meeting an invitation was also received from Rev. Dr. Morrison of the Methodist Church across the street, for the Presbyterians to accept the use of that church building while the new church was in course of construction, the ministers of the two churches alternating in preaching, while the congregations and Sunday-schools united each Sunday. The invitation was accepted with thanks. The present building has served the Preabyterians for some thirty years as a church. Rev. C. B. Rogers, pastor of the church, left today with his family for a vacation in the northern part of the State, where the family of Mrs. Rogers reside.

A SAD SONG.

Love is the light of the world, my dear,
Heigho, but the world is gloomy;
The light has failed and the lamp down burled,
Leaves only darkness to me.

Love is the light of the world, my dear,
Ah me, but the world is dreary;
The night is down, and my curtain furled
But I cannot sleep, though weary.

Love is the light of the world, my dear,
Alas for a hopeless hoping,
When the flame went out in the breeze that swirled,
And a soul went blindly groping.

Some New and Useful Inventions Described.

RAPID PHOTOGRAPHIC PRINTS.

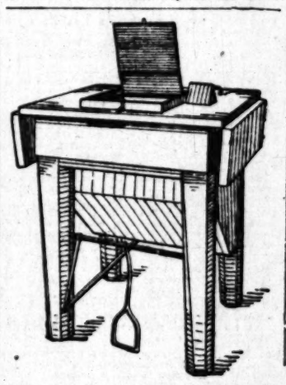
[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

The record for rapid photographic printing has been broken by a machine recently invented and which is now engaged in the work of turning out prints for the publicity bureau of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. This machine is a very compact affair, no larger than a small table. The cabinet seen in the illustration herewith reproduced, under the table top contains a 500-candlepower electric light, which is constantly in operation and which is covered in order to concentrate all the light rays on the sheet of sensitive paper. The latter is held in place over the light by a device which is to be seen in the top of the table.



MACHINE FOR RAPID PHOTOGRAPH PRINTING.

The printing operation is performed by the manipulation of a treadle, which is moved back and forth under the table, and the prints are made almost as rapidly as this can be done. In fact, the speed of this machine is almost as great as a footpower printing press.

The paper used in the machine is what is known as the developing paper, which is sensitive to artificial light. The sheets of the desired size are placed in some convenient place on the top of the table. The operator puts the sheet in place and drops the lid over it, which insures perfect contact of the paper with the negative. Pressure on the treadle opens a wing shutter under the table top, which has heretofore protected the negative from the action of the light. A second or two at the most is sufficient for the exposure, and as the treadle is allowed to fall back into its normal position, the shutter is again closed. Upon raising the lid the paper is projected by a spring attachment, leaving all in readiness for the succeeding sheet.

The operators at St. Louis have become very proficient with this clever bit of mechanism, and one of the young ladies recently established the record of 846 prints in one hour, the same negative being used during all that time. On another occasion, when it was necessary to make [illegible] thirty different negatives, 1500 prints were made in three hours. The latter task, under ordinary circumstances, would have required the services of six men.

The prints made use of so lavishly by the Exposition authorities are for the purpose of advertising the event. The prints are sent to newspapers and journals of various kinds which make use of matter of this character.

New Heater for Gas Jets.

An attachment for boiling water and performing such operations on a jet fitted with an incandescent mantle is among the recent novelties. There are many attachments on the market for heating water over a fishtail burner, but with an incandescent burner such fittings are useless. The accompanying illustration shows an all-brass stove, which can be used under the circumstances by removing the mantle and chimney holder. It is asserted that it will boil a pint of water in about three minutes.

Changeable Gun Stock.

The gunstock has for a long time been made on standard lines, one being much the same as another despite the fact that the men making use of them were of various shapes and sizes. The only difference in the construction of gun butts has heretofore been in the matter of weight, which has sometimes been effected in a very slight reduction of the proportions and again by cutting away the interior of the wood, making a shell rather than a solid piece.

An adjustable gunstock has recently appeared, the object of which is to permit the raising and lowering of the same to any desired angle or position and to effect the operation quickly. The joint is made immediately back of the lock chamber, the end of which is made rounded or semi-circular in form with toothed or serrated edges on the sides. The outer, or smaller end of the stock is made with a recess designed to receive the end of the locking chamber and also supplied with teeth, which are for the purpose of holding the two surfaces rigidly together. The two parts are held together by a bolt topped off with a thumbscrew, and when it is desired to make any change in the shape of the gunstock it is merely necessary to unloosen this screw and the parts may be placed in any desired position.

This is a feature which will be appreciated by sportsmen, for there are not a few of such shape and size that they would like to make some change in the shape or angle of the gunstock used by them. Heretofore this has been only possible by having a stock made to order, which is a rather expensive indulgence.

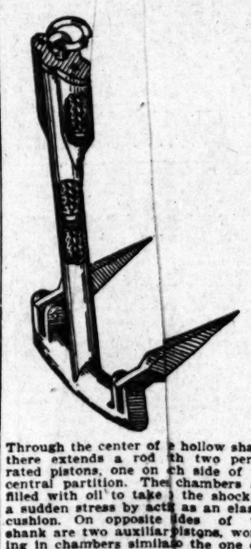
Treadle on the Letter Box.

There has been recently called to the attention of the postal authorities, with a view to its adoption, a device which will be at once recognized as a convenience to clerks, typewriters and office people generally, who have the handling of any considerable amount of mail matter. That is the mounting of a treadle on the letter box so that a person with arms and hands filled with letters, may be enabled to manipulate the lid of the box entirely without the use of the hands. It is a frequent thing in the business section of any large city to see a clerk or typewriter with both hands filled with envelopes, struggling to get the lid of a box in the side of the door. Some benevolent person has to come to the rescue and hold the box open while the deposit is made. This new attachment does not in any way interfere with the manual operation of the box lid when desired, but it is such a simple matter to touch the toe to a convenient treadle that it is thought that upon the introduction of the treadle it will be universally adopted.

The construction of this device is quite simple, and it is hardly worth while to go into any detailed explanation of its parts. The inventor says that it can be readily placed upon the boxes which are already in use, and that the cost will be very slight.

Springs in the Anchor.

The constant tugging and pulling on the cable chain of a boat at anchor in a somewhat rough sea is very great, and when maintained for any great length of time seems to have a weakening effect on the chain links, which part under the severe stress. The boat is not only thereupon put in grave danger, but there has been sustained the loss of the anchor and part of the cable which is often a matter of very considerable moment. An anchor has been recently placed on the market, the design of which is said to overcome this danger by offering a yielding connection between the anchor and the cable chain, which connection absorbs all sudden or undue strain and increases the life of the chain and anchor by a very great deal. The shank of the anchor is hollow and its interior is divided into three partitions.



Through the center of the hollow shank there extends a rod with two perforated pistons, one on each side of the central partition. The chambers are filled with oil to take the shock of a sudden stress by acting as an elastic cushion. On opposite sides of the shank are two auxiliary pistons, working in chambers similar to the one described, but of smaller dimensions. All three pistons are held in their normal position by means of springs, which carry them back to the proper places after each disturbance.

By the operation of the perforated pistons and the auxiliary pistons a complete cushion is obtained, and yet the parts are of sufficient strength to stand the wear and tear which they are put. Such a device would be of great value to the smaller craft along the sea coast and especially to a great many fishing boats which are compelled to anchor in exposed places at times.

Telephone's Dangers.

Sometime ago it was discovered that the deadly microbe had chosen the telephone transmitter for one of its favorite haunts, and that persons who made frequent use of these instruments were in great danger of absorbing a bunch of disease distributors every time they had occasion to conduct a few minutes' conversation with some distant friend or business acquaintance. This announcement was followed by the introduction of means of disinfection, which kept the transmitter in more acceptable shape.

Recently a French investigator has discovered that the receiver of the telephone is a very fruitful means of scattering germs which are said to do serious damage to the auditory nerves, in some instances destroying them entirely. In order to overcome this danger there has been recently introduced the little piacque, which is shown herewith and which persons making frequent use of the instruments in public places, are supposed to carry in their pockets and to use whenever they have occasion to do any conversing over the wires. The device is simply slipped over the receiver before it is placed to the ear, and it is supposed to avert all the dangers of the promiscuous telephone habit.

Metal Shoe Sole.

A removable metal sole for shoes is a novelty which will be appreciated by many laboring men, more particularly those engaged in some classes of mill work, who are compelled to wear hobnail shoes in the performance of the daily labor and who may not desire to be thus encumbered in going to and from their work is a device recently brought out to meet this demand, the metal sole can be taken off like a skate and laid aside until again wanted.

The removable metal shoe sole is shown herewith. It consists of a shape of the size and lines of a heavy shoe sole, with portions cut away to decrease the weight as far as possible. On the front and side edges are clamp pieces adapted to engage with the soles of the shoes and hold the metal sole in place in much the same manner as is done in the case of locking skates. At a suitable point forward of the heel there is secured to the leather sole a plate with a tongueplece adapted to lock with the rear part of the metal sole and to hold the same rigidly in place and yet to permit of its convenient removal when it is so desired. The wearing surface of the metal sole is furnished with points much the same as those of the hobnails. Besides being a very great comfort, this scheme is said to make a very great addition to the life of a pair of shoes, for the reason that the wear is equally distributed between the leather and the metal sole.

Heart Wounds.

In wounds of the heart itself the escape of blood is never in large quantity, and the lethal consequences are due to the fact that the escape of blood from within its cavity (or cavities) into the surrounding sac of the pericardium mechanically interrupts the alternate contraction and expansion by which its pumping is maintained. Accordingly, the results of wounds of the heart are usually identical with those of gradual suffocation. This fact was strikingly demonstrated in the case of the empress of Austria. And the diabolic skill and precision with which the wound was inflicted in her case offer a diagrammatic illustration of a necessarily fatal wound of the heart. The instrument used was too large to form a mere "needle puncture;" it was inflicted too high in the chest to be "non-penetrating," for it was aimed with truly fiendish ingenuity at the position of one of the thin-walled of the four cavities of the heart, and the directness of the penetration, combined with the thinness of wall of the cavity, rendered it physically impossible that the wound could be "valvular." The Israelite warrior of old smote the enemy, when possible, "beneath the fifth rib," because the impulse of the heart is felt there. But he probably did not know that it is in that precise position that wound of the heart is least necessarily fatal. The Italian assassin of recent date displays incomparably greater skill and knowledge. The science of the present day also proves that the historic account of the death of Admiral Villeneuve is open to skeptical doubt. And the recent cases of suture of the heart give illustration that modern surgical skill may attempt, and with success, the seemingly impossible.—[American Medicine.

WITHOUT SENTIMENT

BY LILLIAN C. PARDEE.

"I DON'T want to marry you, there!" The girl's resentful tone of mind showed itself in every line of her taut little figure and flushing face.

"Methinks the lady doth protest much," quoted her hitherto mischievously. "I believe you have a secret hankering, after all, for me, and to try experiments in matrimony—even Englishmen, Germans, all other known varieties of frappe-ness."

Bee flushed guiltily under the Parthian shot, and opposite her other member of this "incorrigible Carter family committee," an incorrigible, styled this one, a fast councils.

"Mamma, you don't approve of international marriages, I know you don't," accused Jo.

Her mother smiled serenely. "I think a man who hasn't at least his native heath during the first half of his thirty years is said to have all his future living to him still."

"Yes, I told him last night that was waiting for you, he said, solemnly, "that I could be an Americanized. 'By what you mean civilized, I fawned in turn. 'Preasactly,' I replied, with a hic."

"Oh, Nell, you didn't say any of your verbal corpses of the King's English—and be so incorrect in his speech," broke in Jo, horrified. Then she sighed, and to the raison d'etre of the meeting. "So very correct—she embodies the whole life and ity of the Hon. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—Representatives of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues met at the Hotel Victoria here today and discussed the proposed tri-partite agreement which, it is expected, will be entered into between the American League, National League and the National Association at the forthcoming conference of these bodies. After considering minor points, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the National Association representatives assembled in New York on this thirtieth day of July, do hereby request that the National League and American League, adding the proposed formation of a tripartite agreement, shall respect contracts and reservation lists."

A communication to the above effect was today mailed to Presidents Johnson and Pulliam. The National Association representatives, Messrs. Powers, Farrell, Hickey and Sexton later conferred with Messrs. Harris of San Francisco and Morley of Los Angeles, representing the California league.

BY LILLIAN C. PASCHAL.

"I DON'T want to marry him there!" The girl's rebellious of mind showed itself in line of her taut little figure and ing face.

"Methinks the lady doth protest much," quoted her high-school mischievously. "I believe you have secret hankering, after all. Honey, to try experiments in melting berge—even English ones, which all other known varieties in frappe-ness."

Bee flushed guiltily under Parthian shot, and appealed to other member, of this "quorum of Carter family committee," as Jack incorrigible, styled these after-dinner fast councils.

"Mamma, you don't approve of international marriages either—you know you don't," accused Bee.

Her mother smiled amusingly. think a man who hasn't set foot his native heath during the first half of his thirty years can hardly said to have all his nationality cing to him still."

"Yes, I told him last night when was waiting for you, Bee," put in Ned solemnly, "that I considered him quite Americanized. 'By which you—she mean civilized, I fawncy,' he drawled 'Presactly,' I replied, sweet—"

"Oh, Neil, you didn't show off of your verbal corpses of murdered King's English—and he so very correct in his speech," broke in Bee, quite horrified. Then she sighed, returned to the raison d'etre of this council meeting. "So very correct—that phrase embodies the whole life and personality of the Hon. John Mountby, late of Britain, now of Wall street. He is correct in his lovemaking that it makes lovemaking at all, only courtship. He takes me to the opera, is properly serious in the matter of chocolates and violets, and bestows upon me all the attention that the proprieties require in a personally-conducted affair de—"

"Marriage," prompted Neil sympathetically. "That's just the trouble, Bee, ina' chere?—no coeur in it—just marriage."

"Helen," remonstrated her mother, "wherever do you get such ideas. I wonder? It's quite improper—and you only sixteen—"

"And never been kissed—with a drawback we will now proceed to study, mommy dear," wheedled the girl with a coaxing expression on her quaint face and a resounding smack on her mother's cheek.

"Don't be foolish, Nell," reproved Mrs. Carter, but with an unrepressed twinkle in her eye. "This is a serious matter. Now, Beatrice, my child, why don't you wish to marry Mr. Mountby? I had rather hoped—he is wealthy, steady and sincere, with no bad habits. Every inch a man," your father says with no frills about him—"

"That's just it, mamma—he has no frills, and I like frills—every woman does—she needs to be told she is nice in order to keep her nice—"

"Is that why you're so nice to Larry Moore's blarney?" questioned Nell demurely. Bee and Larry always quarreled unmercifully. She ignored the thrust and went on with dignity.

"Mr. Mountby's face is always expansive—such terribly good form. He is so reserved and stand-offish. He never gives compliments, except at most laboriously made-for-the-occasion ones. He never says anything about love—only wants a settlement as much sentiment as that may be here," and Bee picked up the coolly pet and buried her pretty face in a half-sob in his friendly fur. Topsy showed his canine love by licking the soft cheek, which a tear was furtively stealing.

"Well, dear," concluded the mother, in a gentle sigh of regret, as Bee arose to leave the dining-room, "I did not marry anyone you do—"

"Oh, I didn't say—" began Bee quickly, and bit her tongue, catching it's merciless eye.

"But," Mrs. Carter paused with her hand on the door, "remember Bee, my daughter, men—even American men—don't hang their best foot in the sight of all eyes."

Hiese endeth the first lesson," hastily concluded Nell; "or is it the seventh—or the seventh? How many there been anyway, Bee? Tom and Chester and Le—"

"Well, I shall refuse this one at once," rebelled the candidate for matrimonial honors, and the council adjourned.

That evening Jack Mountby received his answer. He was the personification of good form, from his smooth-brushed hair and boutonniere garden to his aggressively correct pumps. His well-modulated tones, his calm when he inquired for Miss Carter as though he had called for her at Sherry's. If he felt any perturbation over his impending fate he only showed none in his immaculate manner.

A balmy spring evening Bee had defined that the stage setting and naughty refusal of this impossible Parthman should be quite in keeping with the tragedy of the set piece. She had directed Jenkins to drive her to the Lilac Walk. Her only regular bit of bowery green in the back of her suburban home. She had made a studiously unstudied toilet on strict Melba-at-the-spinning lines—models. Her simple white gown gathered in the moonlight.

When she rose from the bench by the sun dial—an English affair—and came to meet him, Mountby thought he had never seen anything more lovely. It made the thought of the rising of the curtain, but all he said was a stilted word of greeting and the

BRITT AND O'KEEFE.

IN PINK OF CONDITION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Both Britt and O'Keefe are in the pink of condition for the fight tomorrow night at Mechanics' Pavilion for lightweight honors. Britt is under weight, and says he will do nothing tomorrow but take short sprints and limber up in the gymnasium. Britt will come over to this city tomorrow afternoon. He will rest up in a room in a downtown hotel, and at 6 o'clock repair to Corbett's to weigh in. The articles of agreement call for 133 pounds at 6 o'clock or a forfeit of $250. Jimmy says he is under weight and will have no trouble living up to the agreement.

Britt intends to go right at it and fight O'Keefe from the jump. He will have "Spider" Kelly in his corner to handle him, and Jimmy looks upon the "Spider" as his mascot.

O'Keefe did light work at Sheehan's today. He is down to weight, and awaits the signal for hostilities. He is full of confidence, and believes he will beat Britt in ten rounds. Those who have watched O'Keefe work believe he has a fine chance of winning. He does not swing when he punches, but hits out straight with two hands.

The odds are tempting and many will take a chance on the short end. Tonight betting was 2 to 1 in favor of Britt. The advance sale of seats is very large and speaks well for a big attendance. The San Francisco Athletic Club has made preparations.

JEFF SIZES UP CORBETT.

THINKS LATTER WILL RUSH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARBIN SPRINGS, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Corbett was discussed thoroughly, his points of strength admitted and his weaknesses pointed out at Jeffries's training quarters today. There were present a number of sporting men grouped about the champion and Billy Delaney. It was just after Jeff's morning's work, ten rounds of sparring with Joe Kennedy and Jack Jeffries, in which he tired out both, taking them on for alternate rounds; 1200 jumps with the rope, ten minutes of phantom boxing, and another ten minutes with the weights.

Jeff listened carefully to the description of the big punching dummy with which Corbet practices, then he said: "It may give him heft, but it can't help his speed, and when he gets after me he'll need plenty of speed."

Jeffries was in a talkative mood, which is not usual with him. Pausing a moment, he said: "Now, I'll tell you what I think Corbett is going to do. He has been talking about running away for twenty rounds. He's told several people that, and they've told me, but I don't believe it. I think he will rush in and try to knock me out in four, five or six rounds. Everything proves that; his long abdominal training to build up his defenses, his constant sparring and his work with the big bag. Besides, it is his only chance. He can't keep away from me for twenty rounds, even if I'll let him, which I wouldn't. The crowd wouldn't stand for it, and he knows it. Anyway, he'll find me ready."

Jeff's final judgment on Corbett was that he was overtrained.

SHAMROCKS UNDER SAIL.

RELIANCE NOT SENT OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—[From Steamship Erin by De Forest Wireless Telegraph.] The Shamrocks left Sandy Hook at 10 o'clock today in a twelve-knot west wind with splendid racing condition, and ran off shore under their own sail.

Fife did not give the challenger a race over the course, because he wanted to complete the stretching of her new mainsail. Shortly after the boats started the wind increased to fifteen knots, and the Shamrocks faced the heaviest sea in which they ever raced. The challenger's lee rail and half her deck clear to her hatchways were under water. She took the seas in splendid style.

Close-hauled, the challenger not only proved herself a splendid sea boat, but fast in rough water. In half an hour she beat Shamrock I by several minutes. An hour later when the mainsail on Shamrock I split, both boats headed for the lightship.

FIRST CANADIAN CUP RACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DORVAL (Quebec) July 30.—The first contest of a series for the Seawanhka Cup, now in the possession of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, begun here today, resulted in the defeat of the American challenger, Kolutoo, by the Canadian defender, Thorella. At the end of the first round, Thorella led by four minutes and two seconds. In the second round the Canadian boat gained over six minutes on the first and second legs, and finished the round at 3:07 o'clock. At 3:15 p.m. the Kolutoo, the challenger of the Manchester, Mass., Yacht Club, gave up the race. The Thorella crossed the finishing line at 3:44:40, winning the first race of the series.

NAHANT (Mass.) July 30.—The chief event of the invitation tennis tournament at the Nahant Club, this afternoon, centered in the match between H. D. Wrenn and H. S. Mahoney, the British player, which was left unfinished yesterday on account of rain. Wrenn won the match 6-3; 7-5. H. L. Doherty defeated G. L. Wrenn, 6-1; 6-1.

In the doubles, the Doherty brothers played a fast exhibition game with Codman and Horton, winning 6-3; 6-0.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) July 30.—The much-advertised trotting race between [illegible] and The Abbot at Albany Park today for a purse of $2500 was in all respects disappointing. It was a slow race, and Maj. Delmar won in two straight heats; time 2:15 1-4 and 2:14 1-4. There was very little money wagered on The Abbot, odds being sold at $25 to $5.

Among the Handbooks.

CLEVELAND (O.) July 30.—Handbooks were run much more boldly than on the previous days. The crowd witnessed the defeat of three favorites. Summary:

2:11 pace, purse $1000: Miss Willamont won the second and third heats in 2:07 1-2, 2:09 1-4. Pauline G. won the first heat in 2:07 1-4. Jocolesco and Polar Wilkes also started.

2:19 trot, purse $2500: Jay McGregg won two straight heats and the race; time 2:10 3-4, 2:11 3-4. Gray Gem, McAdams, Jr., and four others also started.

Free-for-all pace, purse $1500: Dan R. won two straight heats and the race; time 2:05 1-4, 2:05 1-4. Knox Gelatine, King and Coney also started.

2:10 trot, purse $1500: The Roman won two straight heats and the race; time 2:10, 2:11 1-4. Dan T., Dan Wilkes, A. D. J. and Silver Signal also started.

2:21 trot, purse $1000: Rolinsola won the first and third heats and the race; time 2:12 1-4, 2:12 1-4. Monroe won second heat in 2:12 1-4. Lucy Lee and three others also started.

LONDON, July 30.—Rabelais won the Goodwood Cup (of 2000 sovereigns, for three-year-olds and upwards, two miles and a half,) at the Goodwood race meeting today. Cappa White was second and Merry Saint came in third. Eight horses ran.

Spokane Signs Liebhardt.

SPOKANE (Wash.) July 30.—Len Liebhardt, formerly of the Los Angeles baseball team, has been signed to pitch for the Spokane team in the Pacific National League. Liebhardt pitched for Milwaukee last year.

DEL MONTE RACE.

LOCAL FLYER GOING IN.

A Los Angeles automobile that held the world's record of a mile on a circular track for a period of three weeks will be entered by its owner in the auto races to be run at Del Monte on August 10.

The owner of this machine is Frank Garbutt, a local oil man, and his desire to enter the Del Monte races is for love of the sport of automobiling and to fill in a few of the dull weeks of the summer season. Whether or not he wins a prize, is not of particular moment, although such things are always acceptable.

This machine is a ten-horse power White steam wagon, or touring car, is eligible for all races over 2000 pounds and can be stripped so as to get within the 1500-pound class. By this, it is meant that it can be raced in either of the classes, but it is not to be understood that, like prize fighters, it loses any strength by reducing in weight, for it broke the world's record when entered in a race for machines of 2000 pounds and over and made far better time than in another race the same day in which it was stripped so as to be able to enter in the 1500-pound class.

Those who attended the automobile races at Agricultural Park on May 10 did not know that in the last race of the day Mr. Garbutt's car broke the world's record for a mile on a circular track.

As a matter of fact, no one knew this until some time later, when it was learned that the mile record on May 9 had been 1:19 1-2, held by Percy Owens, one of the men who contested in the recent Gordon Bennett cup race.

In that five-mile race on Sunday, May 10, Mr. Garbutt's time by miles was 1:33 3-4, 1:27 1-2, 1:33 3-4, 1:18 and 1:22. That fourth mile was the world's record, and on May 30, it was lowered to 1:16 flat by Owens.

It is this record-breaking machine that Mr. Garbutt will enter in the events at Del Monte and it can be entered in four races. These are the five-mile open race for machines under 1500 pounds; the five-mile open for machines under twenty-horse power; the ten-mile open for machines of any weight and horse power and the five-mile owners' race. In all of these races he will meet a number of fast machines from the northern part of the State and possibly one from Los Angeles, in Mr. J. Merritt's forty-horse power Mercedes. Mr. Garbutt will leave next week for the North.

TOURIST RETURNING HOME.

Maj. J. Fulmer of this city, who left July 1 in his Cadillac for a tour of Yosemite Valley, has successfully made that hard journey and is now in San Francisco and expects to return here in about ten days.

CLUB RUN.

The Los Angeles Automobile Club will have a run to Santa Monica on Sunday of next week.

HOMING PIGEON FOUND.

LONG DISTANCE FROM HOME.

C. E. Wolfley of Sawtelle writes to The Times that on July 14 he picked up a carrier pigeon near the mouth of Sepulveda Cañon and on the bird's leg was an aluminum band marked "V 10296."

The bird was in an exhausted condition and could hardly move. It had either fallen into or settled down on some sticky substance like crude oil and this had balled its wings and feet with dirt in such a manner that the bird could not fly. Mr. Wolfley is keeping the bird until he can hear from its owner, as he believes it is a valuable pigeon. Just who the bird belongs to is not known at this time, and how it reached the place where it was found is equally mystifying. There has been no pigeon flight by the local homing clubs for several months, the last one ending rather disastrously on account of a storm. This bird may be a straggler blown off its course by that storm.

WILL DRIVE BALLS.

SWEEPSTAKE GOLF CONTEST.

There will be mixed foursomes tomorrow afternoon at the Redondo Country Club course under the auspices of the club. S. C. Lines will be the official handicapper. The contest will be at eighteen holes medal play and will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This appears to be a very late hour to begin eighteen-hole play of foursomes, particularly if the local players who may enter expect to return to this city at any reasonable hour.

It is the intention to have these mixed foursomes every Saturday afternoon for the next two months at Redondo.

HEAD PIN ARTISTS.

MONARCH TOURNEY ENDED.

The summer tournament at the Monarch alleys ended last night with a close and exciting match between the Santa Fé and the Tuxedo teams, the former winning by a score of 2365 to 2346. While the Tuxedo team lost, it is still in first place in the tourney by a safe margin of 275 pins over the Santa Fé team, while the latter is as far ahead of the Engarits team in third place. Chick is the first man on total pins and high average, having made 3186 pins in eighteen games, or an average of 177. The scores last night were as follows:

"TIMES" CUP YACHT RACE.

Regatta Committee Decides to Resail Contest.

August Twenty-second Set for Repeated Event.

Local Auto Race at Hotel Del Monte—Johnson's Tour On the Alleys.

After a session lasting several hours the Regatta Committee of the South Coast Yacht Club decided finally last evening to have the race for The Times cup resailed, setting August 22 as the date. An effort was made by one of the committeemen to have the case against Commodore Herbert Pease's pretty little maiden Venus reopened, but the motion was lost when placed before the judges.

It was also decided by the Regatta Committee to allow Capt. C. H. Wedgwood's fast sloop Marie first place in Sunday's race, and award the handsome racer Helene second place. Dodge & Densham's boat, the Osborn, was disqualified after a wrangle of fully an hour, during which time Dodge submitted his side of the case. Capt. Wedgwood of the Marie was not at the meeting, having been called away on business.

In the matter of the disqualification of the Venus from The Times Cup race of Saturday, owing to the fact that she used a spinnaker boom in booming out her balloon jib, which the committee construed as a violation of the club's racing rules a new phase was presented. Information regarding the correctness of the Regatta Committee's decision was sought from the Corinthian Yacht Club of San Francisco. The reply, by telegram, was as follows:

"Under our rules you can use spinnaker boom to boom out jib, provided boom is included in boat's measurement."

Inasmuch as the racing rules of the South Coast Yacht Club are taken almost verbatim from those adopted by the Corinthians, it is significant to note that they have placed an altogether different construction on the meaning than has the Regatta Committee of the local club. However, the decision is rendered by the judges of the local organization last evening must stand as it is until the directors of the club see fit to amend the rule on this particular point.

Notwithstanding the fact that Commodore Pease's handsome little racer has been disqualified from The Times Cup race of last week, he says he will go after the other members of the fleet when the regatta is resailed. "I am confident," he said, "that the Venus can defeat anything in her class in this section, and another race will only prove what I now claim."

Capt. Wedgwood of the Marie has taken the stand that the Regatta Committee acted justly and wisely in handing [illegible] cup race. In an interview yesterday, he said:

"So far I have refrained from talking for publication, but inasmuch as other members of the South Coast Club have been giving out misleading statements regarding the disqualification of the Venus in the race for The Times Cup, it is only fair to discuss the matter.

"Mr. Fellows takes issue, in an evening paper, with the ruling of the Racing Committee disqualifying the Venus for booming out her balloon jib. This point was fully argued before the Racing Committee passed judgment upon it. The facts are, that the Venus turned her balloon jib from port to starboard during the race and held it out with a boom. Now, this is an infraction of the racing rules.

"A spinnaker boom is the only spar any yacht carries, and it is only a spinnaker boom when used on a spinnaker sail—otherwise it is simply a pole.

"The rule covering this is intended to prevent us from using this pole on any other sail. Mr. Fellows claims that when the Venus used the balloon-jib as a spinnaker it became one in fact. This is not true, for the reason that there is a specific difference in the way the two sails are set. The balloon-jib is fastened to the end of the bowsprit, whereas the spinnaker is fastened to the end of the spinnaker pole and is adjusted by means of a running sheet on the inboard end. The Venus took her loose jib and winged it out to starboard with a boom. Booming out a sail is very unyachtsmanly.

"In my opinion the ruling was fair and the friends of the Venus should not grumble. Look at my case; the Marie was disqualified, after she had technically captured the cup, for failing to fly the owner's private signal flag—a rag smaller than a ladies' handkerchief. I personally filed protests in former races when other yachts had failed to carry their flag and my protests were always overruled by the Racing Committee. However, I am not complaining—the rule is a good one and should be obeyed. I am willing to race the Venus for the cup again provided a fair course is laid out this time.

"Before the races, I mentioned the unfairness of the course and I have now filed a request that in all future triangular races the course shall be an equilateral triangle, with one leg dead to windward. This is the course sailed for the America's cup and all other sportsmanlike races.

"It is well known to all members of the club that the Venus was constructed for speed to windward. The course of Saturday's race, which was ten miles in length, was so laid out that five miles of it was dead to the prevailing wind. We knew beforehand that this was giving the Venus an advantage.

"There will be no hard feelings, as feared by Mr. Fellows, as if this course be adopted the Marie is prepared to sail it over."

On the other hand, Mr. Pease claims that he had a perfect right to use a spinnaker boom in booming out his balloon-jib, and his interpretation of the racing rules of the South Coast Club are fully borne out by the telegram received from the Corinthian Yacht Club of San Francisco.

OCEAN PARK CUP.

Final arrangements have now been completed for the first race for the Ocean Park cup and the prizes to go to those who cannot finish first.

This cup race will take place on Sunday, August 9, instead of August 8, as heretofore announced, and as a starter, there will be two days of preliminary sailing. The South Coast Yacht Club fleet will leave San Pedro in squadron on Friday, August 7, for the Isthmus at Catalina Island and will remain there that night.

After breakfast on Saturday morning, the boats will weigh anchor and start for Ocean Park, being due to arrive there during the afternoon. The power launch Donahue will [illegible] tender. On arriving at Ocean Park, the yachtsmen will become the guests of the Country Club. The tennis courts will be covered with canvas and after dinner in the evening, 200 friends and invited guests will reach Ocean Park on special electric cars, accompanied by an orchestra, and the night will be filled with music, and dancing.

On Sunday morning, August 9, the cup race will begin at 10:30 o'clock. The starting point will be from the end of the Ocean Park pier; thence to a stake boat a mile off Playa del Rey; thence to a stake boat off Santa Monica, and thence to the point of beginning at Ocean Park. The distance will be ten miles on an equilateral triangle.

From present indications, it is expected that boats from both San Diego and Santa Barbara will enter in the race and their owners in the festivities that precede it.

VAN MEANS BUSINESS.

REORGANIZING GUN CLUB.

After a month of inaction the Los Angeles Gun Club reorganization has been taken hold of in earnest, and now there are over twenty names down on the list. Charles Van Valkenburg is behind the project this time, and he means to carry it through to a finish. As soon as half a dozen more are signed, a meeting will be called for the purpose of effecting an organization. It could be called now, but for obvious reasons. The more there are present at the first session the more satisfactory will be the result.

Brotherhood Entertained.

The Fraternal Brotherhood entertained 100 guests at the Burbank Theater last evening.

A Little One.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt in Los Angeles about 9 o'clock last evening. Something heavier was reported from the mountains.

More Rural Delivery.

A dispatch received from Washington yesterday states that additional rural free delivery has been established from Station K of the Los Angeles postoffice.

Buys on North Hope.

Elizabeth Smith of San Francisco has purchased of Mrs. Margaret Bosserman, through Galbreth & Co., a lot, 57x165 feet, with a fifteen-room, two-story frame dwelling, No. 221 North Hope street; consideration named, about $7500.

New Business Block.

Ground has been broken for a three-story brick business building on the east side of Main, between Fifth and Sixth streets, for Mrs. Eliza J. Sanborn. The plans are from the office of Morgan & Walls, and the building complete will cost about $30,000.

Spot Him.

Maj. Connett, head of the Salvation Army in Southern California, says that the man, wearing a uniform, calling himself "Gen. Moore," and soliciting funds for the poor in the name of the army, is not connected in any way with the Salvation Army, and moreover is doing nothing for the poor.

Brownsberger Reception.

The Brownsberger Home School will keep open house at the "home," No. 963 West Seventh street, this afternoon and evening, from 3 to 6 and 9 to 12 p.m. Many invitations have been issued to friends and patrons of the institution. Refreshments will be served and there will be dancing in the evening.

Free Excursion.

Final arrangements are being made by the local Salvationists for the free outing for poor mothers and children which will take place next week. It is safe to say that this excursion will bring joy and sunshine into the lives of hundreds of the poor. Donations of food or money should be sent to Maj. H. Connett, No. 438 South Spring street.

Due to Natural Causes.

The autopsy on the body of Albert De Leur, who was found dead on the beach near Long Beach disclosed the fact that death was due to natural causes. One lung was almost entirely gone and the other was badly inflamed. It is supposed the man died during a fit of coughing. He had been taking chloral for years to allay pain and always carried a bottle of it with him.

Patrolman Suspended.

On a charge of entering a saloon and drinking while on duty and in full uniform, Patrolman J. A. Ditewig has been suspended by Capt. Auble and the case will be presented before the Board of Police Commissioners. Several times during the past two months warning has been given to the members of the police force that the rule forbidding drinking would be strictly enforced. Ditewig happened to be the first man caught, but there are others.

August Weather.

Local Weather Bureau data covering a period of twenty-six years, compiled by Forecast Official Franklin, show the normal August temperature to be 72 deg. The warmest month was that of 1885, average 75 deg.; coldest, 1900, average 68 deg.; highest temperature, 106 deg., August 19, 1885; lowest temperature, 49 deg., August 30, 1901. The average rainfall for the month is .03 inches; greatest precipitation was .61 inches, in 1889; there was none in 1877, 1882-3, 1891-2-7. The average number of clear days, 14; partly cloudy days, 16; cloudy days, 1. The prevailing winds have been fro mthe west. The highest velocity of the wind was 22 miles, from the west, August 18, 1885.

Bee Men's Convention.

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the American Beekeepers' Association will assemble in this city August 18 for a three days' session. The meetings will be held in Blanchard Hall, and the honey men will make their headquarters at the Natick House. Many things, including the general prosperity of the country, the low Grand Army excursion rate to the Coast and the late increase of interest in the doings of apiarists, will probably combine to make this the biggest and most important gathering of honey producers ever held in the United States. Local entertainment is in the hands of a competent committee, and numerous programme features are in preparation.

New Yorkers' Rally.

Arrangements are complete for the excursion and basket picnic of the New York Society at Ocean Park tomorrow. A large delegation from the New York Society of San Bernardino county has signified an intention of participating and a jolly reunion of New Yorkers is assured. A very short programme has been arranged, including an address of welcome by the Mayor of Santa Monica and a few short addresses, interspersed with good music. There will also be a roll call by counties, and it is especially desired that all attend the meeting in the Casino at 2:30 in order to take part in the general rally. The Los Angeles Pacific Railroad is the official route and a committee will be at the Fourth-street station to sell tickets to the members and friends up to 1 o'clock p.m.

Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday received fifteen specimens of fish from Commissioner Filcher of the California St. Louis World's Fair Commission for exhibition at the fair. They will be prepared by C. B. Parker, the Avalon taxidermist, with other specimens that have been taken from Catalina waters. Those received yesterday were salmon, striped bass, San Francisco sole, sea bass and sea trout. The following-named were appointed Excursion Committee to handle the chamber's trip to the Pacific Art Tile Company's plant at Tropico tomorrow: D. D. Whitney, N. P. Conrey, J. M. Davidson, George Elliott, C. E. Bixley, E. A. Olshausen, Theron Nichols, Robert McGarvin. Two hundred and fifty tickets had been distributed yesterday for the excursion.

THREE MONTHS OLD

And Sadly Afflicted with Eczema Quickly Cured by Cuticura.

Grateful Mother Cannot Express Her Heartfelt Thanks.

"My son became afflicted with eczema at the age of three months and I was sorely perplexed. I went to see several doctors about it but they did him no good, so I tried the Cuticura Remedies according to directions and began to notice a rapid cure. So pleased was I with the success that I continued, and now I am so grateful to the Cuticura Remedies that I cannot express my heartfelt thanks. He is now two years old and all cured with no sign of the disease returning. Great thanks to the Cuticura Remedies."

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1.00

For Torturing Disfiguring Humours, From Pimples to Scrofula, From Infancy to Age.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, — all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, the new form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60. Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props.

Concerning the cost of
Steinway Pianos

If any dealer tells you that there is another make of Pianos costing as much at the factory as the Steinway, he is not only guilty of a gross misrepresentation, but is saying that which he knows isn't true—and is trying to impose on your credulity.

Steinway Pianos

Positively cost a Third to a Half more at the factory than any of the half-dozen other makes of high-grade instruments claiming to be in the Steinway class; and the differences in price is not for name and reputation—as so many dealers would have you believe—but for actual time, labor and material.

Steinway Uprights $575. up.
Steinway Grands, $875. up.

The same prices at which they're sold in all the large Eastern cities—even by the makers themselves, in Steinway Hall, New York; and the STEINWAY is the only piano that adheres to a fixed scale of prices North, East, South and West.

FIRE BITING INTO TIMBER.

First Big Mountain Blaze of the Summer.

Burning Since Wednesday Along Fork of San Gabriel.

Seventeen Forest Fires Nipped by Rangers During Month of July.

For the next three months, or until the first of the genuine winter rains have fallen, the San Gabriel and San Bernardino forest reserves, the source of the water supply of Southern California, will be in constant danger from destructive fires. The first onslaught of the demon this season was made Wednesday, when the first serious forest conflagration of the summer started on the Prairie Fork of the San Gabriel River, north of "Baldy," about three miles from the Big Horn mine, where it is still burning.

The fire was discovered at 11 o'clock in the morning, ravaging the foliage of the mountain side. Forest Supervisor E. B. Thomas, who has just returned to the city from a trip into the domain under his charge, noticed the fire shortly before noon while coming down the mountains from Fredalba, and hastening on to Highlands, telephoned to his rangers at Azusa. About the same time the latter received a message from F. C. Fenner, superintendent of the Big Horn mine, at the head of Big Rock Creek, giving the location of the fire.

Ranger Tilghman, on the desert side of the mountain, was quickly informed and left for the fire with a crew gathered from the men of the mine. They began work on the fire about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Men also were dispatched from Lytle Creek and Cajon under Rangers Palmer and Caley. To these fire fighters were added men under Rangers Garbutt and Bradford, who hurried up from San Antonio Cañon, to the east of Baldy. Twenty men besides the rangers are now combating the flames, which, according to advices received last night by Supervisor Thomas, were under control.

Only the constant alertness of the scant force of rangers detailed to patrol the great area of these two reserves, combined with a considerable measure of good luck, has prevented lamentable destruction on the watershed during the month just closing. July has seen seventeen forest fires started and quelled, but fortunately none, save the one which bit into the timber Wednesday, has proven serious. As the coming months pass, the danger will steadily increase, the undergrowth becoming constantly drier and more inflammable, until the rains set in.

As watersheds, the San Gabriel and San Bernardino forest reserves are the most important in the United States; and yet their million and a quarter acres are patrolled by just thirty government rangers—a sturdy crew, who have repeatedly proven their mettle in battles with the flames, but in numbers woefully inadequate to the serious task assigned to them.

Last winter the Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution urging the Washington authorities to make such additional appropriation as might be necessary to recruit the local force of forest rangers to a strength sufficient to cope with the situation here. In May, Supervisor Thomas received notice from Washington that four more rangers would be allowed him for this summer's patrol, bringing his little band to a total of thirty-four men. The first of this month this communication was followed by another, stating that he would have to get along without any additions to the force.

The government appropriation for the present year for grazing and safeguarding the forest reserves of the entire United States is only $375,000.

The catastrophe which is imminent every summer in the watershed of Southern California maybe well understood when it is know that during July, August and September of last year 60,000 hunters and campers entered the San Gabriel id San Bernardino reserves.

"The number of hunte and campers entering the reserves this summer will undoubtedly reach as high as 100,000," said Mr. Thomas yesterday. "Travel through them is increasing all the time, and this increses the risk of fire. There is no debt that the present force of rangers is insufficient. The men have done magificent work so far, but if a fire shod gain serious headway, they wod be almost helpless.

"There have been very few campers apprehended by the rangers this season for leaving fires brning on the reserve. The rangers ave been so watchful that visitors o the reserve have learned to be mus more careful than in times pat. There are thousands of sojournes within the boundaries at present, many of them deer hunters, and there is danger of a big fire any day."

At least forty ranges are considered necessary to patro the reserves in question with effectiveness.

LOS ANGELES WOMEN PLAY STOCK MARKET.

WOULD it be polite to call a lady "bull" on the stock market a cow? Or is she is a bulless?

It is necessary to know this right away. Up in the refined atmosphere of the Mason Operahouse building a lady stock market is in sesion every day. It won't do to commit a faux pas.

As it is not so very desperate, it might be called stock shopping.

It gives you little thrills of real wickedness to patronize it, for the bucketshop is hidden away in a back office. It is ostensibly a public stenographic office.

No man need apply to get in.

This is not a vulgar affair like a man's bucketshop, where a lot of howling Indians claw each other's clothes off. This is strictly and highly refined.

When the wildest fights are on, no one speaks above a nicely modulated tone of voice. If a bulless and a bearess start to bid at the same time they stop and each says, "Excuse me," very politely.

The place is run by Miss E. M. Johnson and Miss E. E. Lacey.

Yesterday a man tried to butt in and was turned down coldly.

Johnson, the head broker, headed him off at the door.

"I'm looking for the stock exchange," said the man, peeping in at a strictly refined outer office, with a typewriter very conspicuously displayed.

Johnson looked cross-eyed up at a stray wisp of hair, wet the end of her fingers, and tucked it away.

"You'll find the mining exchange in the next building," she said, and made to close the office door.

"Why I was told it was here," said the man, gazing rudely around.

Johnson began backing off toward a portiere and whisked it shut. She was too late to hide a refined lady standing at a blackboard in the next room, daintily chalking up figures.

"I know what you are looking for," said Johnson, with a bright inspiration. "You are looking for a stock exchange on Spring street—I've got the card right here."

She began fumbling in a card basket. "Isn't it here where the stock market is?"

Johnson whirled around defiantly. "Why do you want to know?"

"I just wanted to see it," said the man meekly.

"You want local stocks?"

"No, eastern stocks, I guess."

"Very well, we can buy them for you."

"Don't want you to buy them. Want to buy them myself."

Johnson surrendered at discretion.

"There's nobody allowed in here but ladies; this is just for ladies," she said.

"Well, I won't eat the ladies," protested the man.

"You can't go in," said Johnson frantically, tugging at the curtains with her hands behind her back.

The man turned sadly to go.

"But," said Johnson, nervously, "these—these ladies they make real truly investments, you know."

"Then it isn't a bucketshop you are running," said the man with a sardonic smile.

"Oh, no," said Miss Johnson, with nervous emphasis. And she gave the troublesome curtain a frightened final kick.

Later in the day two newspaper men actually gained the inner sanctum and found Broker Lacey in a hat with a fore-and-aft plume engaged in marking up the quotations.

Their mysterious hints about large financial propositions on foot were too much for the feminine curiosity of Johnson, the outer guard. When they got in, however, and offered to buy out the establishment, they didn't look enough like it, and were banished in disgrace.

POSTING QUOTATIONS IN THE WOMAN'S BUCKET SHOP.

DECLARED HE WAS ROBBED.

Clark Kendall Tells Deectives Sensational Story of Assaut but Later Takes it all Back.

Clark Kendall, a well known young man who resides on East Ninth street, caused several officers to devote many hours Wednesday night and yesterday to the effort to apprehend three men and a woman on a charge of robbery; but when Kendall became sober he qualified his story, and asked that the matter be dropped.

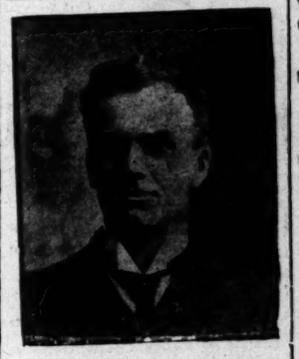
With several acquaintances Kendall had spent Wednesday afternoon drinking at various salsons, and about 9 o'clock at night appeared at a saloon at Sixth and Spring streets with three men and a woman, the companion of one of the other men. Soon after they left the saloon Clark reported that he had been dragged into an alley in the rear of the place, chocked until almost unconscious, and then robbed of $240.

The detectives and patrolmen on duty in that part of the city searched all night for the persons who had been seen with Kendall, but were unable to find them. Yesterday morning Kendall amended his story by saying that he had lost $44.60, instead of $240, and that he did not know whether the money had been taken from him or whether he had spent it. He admitted that in making the rounds of the saloons the afternoon before he might have spent most of his money. He therefore requested that the case be dropped, which was done.

OLIVET'S NEW PASTOR.

Congregationalists of West Washington Street Have a Progressive Leader.

Rev. Dr. B. F. Boller, who was recently called from Cleveland, O., to take charge of the Olivet Congregational Church, at the corner of West Washington street and Magnolia avenue, was for four years State Superintendent of schools for the State of Illinois, and has held pastorates at Chicago, Davenport, Ia., and Cleveland, O. Mrs. Boller is a brilliant woman and in a social way is an important addition to the membership of Olivet Church.



REV. B. F. BOLLER, PH. G.

At the public reception tendered them in the church, many persons were present from all parts of the city. Among others were Francis Murphy and his charming wife. There was a programme of music, speeches and refreshments.

Dr. Boller and Mr. Murphy have in contemplation a temperance campaign for the southwestern part of the city next fall.

LAUNDRY BANQUET.

Employees of the Empire Enjoy a Toothsome Feast in Honor of a Ninth Birthday Anniversary.

Thirty-three of the workers in the Empire laundry on Main street near Second street, celebrated the ninth anniversary of their work in their present location, with a banquet last night at Levy's. The idea originated with one of the employés and it spread until it was taken up by those who sat down to the feast last night. They assembled at 8:15 o'clock and ate and drank and were merry until midnight.

F. G. Watson acted as toastmaster, and seven toasts were responded to, the subjects being those connected with their business and prosperity. The following-named were present: A. N. Davidson, F. E. Fay, J. H. Goodhue, M. J. Conway, Justin Stone, J. M. Meyers, Warren Jackson, F. M. Scott, M. M. Whitney, C. A. Olds, C. D. L. Judson, V. S. Drake, F. W. Haymaker, F. G. Watson, F. J. Wilson, S. H. GRAND ORGANIZER HERE.

Great Boom for the Native Sons of the Golden West—Joint Initiations Arranged.

The presence in this city and other places throughout this section of the State of Andrew Mocker, Grand Organizer of the Native Sons of the Golden West, has given a boom to that organization. This is seen not so much in the organization of new parlors as in the increasing of the membership of those already in existence.

The three parlors in this city—Ramona, No. 109; Los Angeles, No. 49; Corona, No. 196—have arranged for a joint initiation on August 31, when there will be several hundred candidates initiated, followed by a grand celebration of the event, after the strenuous manner of the N.S.G.W. Ramona Parlor at its last meeting received forty-two applications for initiation at the joint ceremony.

Santiago Parlor at Santa Ana initiated twenty-five candidates at its last meeting and San Bernardino and Redlands will have a joint meeting at the latter place about the middle of August. They count on having not less than 100 candidates at that time. Their new hall will be dedicated on that occasion.

TRIO OF ACCIDENTS.

Cases Treated at the Emergency Hospital Yesterday—Kicked by a Horse.

L. Pierce, who resides at Seventh and Main streets, was kicked by a horse yesterday afternoon, being very severely injured on the right side of the head and on one leg, while working at the yard of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company. He was first taken to the Police Hospital and afterwards removed to the Emergency Hospital for further care. He is getting along all right.

B. K. Pelham got two of his fingers in an ice-cracker, and they were so badly mangled that one had to be amputated, and the other may yet have to be taken off.

A. R. Pedder, who works at the California Box Company's establishment, had the radial artery severed in his wrist and it was tied without serious results to the patient.

Work at Ascot Park Begins in Earnest.

ONLY two months ago the site of Los Angeles' new racetrack was an orchard on the eastern part of it. Today, from early morning until dusk, the track presents a busy scene of industry. Dozens of horses and mules drag the breaking plows, or pull big scrapers full of earth, banking up here, hollowing out there, as the surveyors demand, working the whole mass together until a level stretch is secured to serve as a track foundation. A hundred men are busily plying the pick and shovel, setting fence posts, or wielding the saws and hammers of the carpenter as they work on the new stables or nail on the fence boards, and the shouts of gang bosses are to be heard all day long. Contractor A. M. Allen, one of the best known racetrack builders in the country, is in charge of the work, and he is constantly on the field, giving every little detail his personal attention, and seeing that the work is being done literally "from the ground up."

Great progress has been made since the Chinamen vacated a few weeks ago. On the south and north sides, great lengths of fence, ten feet high and unusually well constructed, have been finished, and the framework, poles and crosspieces are already placed all around the enclosure. It is a splendid big piece of ground, sloping gradually to the south and necessitating a seven-foot fill on the lower end, but being otherwise almost ideal for racing purposes. A firm soil, almost free from all kinds of stones, with enough sand incorporated to make sure of quick drying after rains, and easily worked withal, the earth itself could hardly be more favorable.

On the grading most of the work is being done at present on what will be the first quarter of the track. The grandstand is to be situated on the northwest turn, the ellipse running almost exactly north and south and bounding the acres that compose the land of the new Los Angeles Jockey Club. But the graders are only about half of the workers; the rest are carpenters, surveyors and similar artisans.

Already the big stables have been started, and the foundation for them is nearly completed. Contractor Allen has built big barns before and knows a thing or two about how they should be put up, hence the buildings now in course of construction will have several new and excellent features. They are to be constructed so the drainage will be perfect, and the ventilation no less complete. Two buildings will have sixty stalls each; another will have forty, and there will be in addition, private stables galore for such owners as may wish to keep their animals together.

The problem of water is a very expensive puzzle to solve at most racetracks; but the Ascot Park people are unusually fortunate in being located over a splendid flow of the finest and purest imaginable. Even now there is a pumping plant on the premises delivering about 150 miners' inches, and capable of more. Another well of about the same size is to be put down, and the combined flow from both will be about 225 inches, with a reserve more water be desirable at any time. A fine modern pumping plant to cost $7500 will be installed, and the entire establishment is to be built on similar expensive and lasting lines.

The structural steel for the big grandstand has delayed work upon that part of the venture somewhat, but not at all seriously, as there has been plenty for all hands to do elsewhere since the venture was started. Now the steel has been secured, and the installation will be started probably next month. In all the West there will be no such grandstand as that at Ascot Park when the new association opens its gates to the public next Christmas. Built of steel and brick, fireproof in its construction and modeled upon lines somewhat similar to those of Worth in Chicago, it will be a credit to the promoters. In the rear will be a restaurant, a cafe, dressing rooms, and all the conveniences found at the metropolitan tracks of the East, and in addition there will be a special circular clubhouse stand for the benefit of the members of the association.

Ascot Park will be a park in fact as well as in name, as the plans call for a class of work that will require the best landscape gardeners in the country. The natural timber will be used wherever possible, but shade trees and all manner of ornamental and rare plants are to be placed in the enclosure; fine walks and ample drives will make it a pleasant place to visit aside from the sporting attractions. In the middle of the track there will be a small lake, and a grass infield is a part of the scheme.

The work of building an establishment such as Ascot Park is a matter usually of several years, but Contractor Allen expects to beat even the record for quick time made when Ingleside was put into existence. It is expected the stands, and in fact the entire plant will be in shape by November 15. The work of beautifying the grounds can not, of course, be done in any such time. The growing of shade trees is a work of years.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Health met yesterday in executive session at the call of the Mayor, and in the end adopted a resolution asking the Council to annul the present garbage contract.

Superintendent Mulholland finds that the waste oil from the Union Consolidated Refinery on Avenue 22 is a menace to the purity of the domestic water supply, and the Board of Public Works will consider the matter today.

Attorney Conroy of this city has sued an Arizona Judge for $45,000 in revenge for being fined for contempt of court.

Mrs. Driggs's examination on the felony charge of having attempted to influence a juror in the Hill will case began yesterday before Judge Wilbur.

In the Police Court yesterday a jury was secured for the trial of the Black poolroom case.

The Pico Heights "blind pig" case occupied the entire day in Justice Chambers's court.

AT THE CITY HALL.

GARBAGE CONTROVERSY WAXING STILL WARMER.

HEALTH BOARD SENDS RESOLUTION TO THE COUNCIL.

Notifies the Legislative Body That the Contract is not Being Carried Out to Its Satisfaction and Suggests That it Be Annulled.

Mayor Snyder gathered the Health Commissioners under his wing at noon yesterday in the dim and innermost recesses of his sanctum sanctorum, and then read the riot act.

It had to do with the garbage controversy. The members of the Board of Health have not been afraid to face the daylight and to express their opinions on the merits of garbage collection openly. But, apparently, Mayor Snyder had certain ends to attain, and was not entirely certain that the members of the board would prove as docile as could be wished.

And this proved to be the case. The executive session started off all right, but before it had been under way ten minutes Dr. Milbank Johnson and Dr. R. V. Day jumped the fence, which marked the boundary of the Mayor's pet scheme.

Then ensued a lively time. Mayor Snyder argued and threatened, and maybe swore, at the recalcitrant commissioners. He demanded and commanded that they unite to carry out the policy which he as the head of the city government had outlined in his public statements.

And this course brought about a new complication, it is said. Dr. Milbank Johnson wanted to resign from the board, rid himself of the annoyance, and get out of the way of the Snyder band wagon. Such a step would never do, reasoned the Mayor, at a time when the Board of Health was under fire, and Dr. Johnson was persuaded to reconsider his proposed action.

After about an hour had been spent in [illegible] the Mayor's side sided with him on the plan for a course of action. Then the Mayor and Dr. W. W. Hitchcock trained their argumentative batteries on Dr. Day, and the finally agreed to modify his stand to the extent of concurring in the resolution which the Mayor advocated be sent to the City Council.

Before this was brought about Mayor Snyder came very near being angry, and he delivered as heated a curtain lecture to the doctors opposing him as he dared.

This, at least, is the story of the executive session which filtered out to the commission-room, where spectators and reporters waited for more than an hour and listened to the sounds of voices raised above the ordinary pitch.

Health Officer Powers was before the board, and was questioned on the points relating to the work of the garbage inspectors. City Attorney Mathews's advice was sought regarding the legal aspects of the contract.

At 1 o'clock the Board of Health came to order about the commission table, and Dr. Johnson submitted the following resolution for the consideration of the board in open session:

"Resolved, that the City Council be notified that the garbage contractors are not performing the terms and conditions of the garbage contract to the satisfaction of the Board of Health, and being satisfied that it cannot be performed under the present contract satisfactorily; therefore,

"We recommend to your honorable body that you rescind and annul the contract between the city and Franklin & Alexander, for the collection of garbage, executed August 23, 1902. This recommendation is made by reason of the provisions in the said contract which gives your honorable body the power to annul the contract after the Board of Health has notified you that the collection is not to its satisfaction."

The Mayor declared the board adjourned the instant the vote was taken on the resolution.

Every effort was made to keep the details of the executive conference from the public. Mayor Snyder declared that everything was harmonious, but the Chief Executive can overlook a good many discordant notes when necessary. Other members of the board did not desire to discuss the session. However, many details, apparently authentic, sifted through the mask of silence during the day.

It seems that Drs. Day and Johnson at first declared that the board should make every effort to carry out the provisions of the existing contract, or at least make some effort, before demanding a change in the garbage system. Mayor Snyder would not hear to this for an instant, and insisted upon the adoption of the resolution.

Copies of the resolution were placed in the hands of several members of the Council early in the afternoon, and the legislators are preparing some pertinent and perhaps pungent remarks for the Monday session, anent the garbage contract.

Councilmen Bowen, Skilling, Davenport and Kern were about the City Hall in the afternoon, and they all seemed to favor making a request that the Board of Health do its part in forcing the observance of the present contract before further decrying the system.

"It seems to me that we should send a communication to the board, in answer to that resolution, asking what steps have been taken to ascertain that the provisions of the present contract are not binding," said Councilman Skilling. "There is a provision that certain deductions shall be made for failure to collect garbage. As yet no failures have been reported to the Council. If a genuine effort is made to secure the best service possible under the contract, and the effort fails, I will be very willing to talk about a cancellation of the obligation."

Councilman Davenport, whose fiery speech in the Council on Monday brought matters to a crisis, agreed with Mr. Skilling. Davenport conferred at length with the City Attorney in the afternoon regarding the provisions of the contract.

"A gun is useless as a long-range weapon unless it is loaded," he declared, "and I don't believe the best contract ever written worth much more than so much paper unless some attempt is made to observe its provisions."

"Let the Board of Health try to get the best service possible under this contract, and if they fail then I will vote for something else," was the crisp way in which Councilman Kern dismissed the resolution.

It was asserted yesterday that two or three of the members of the board are anxious to resign because the Mayor has held them to a policy for which they are being severely criticized. On the other hand, the Mayor asserted that he had not participated in many deliberations of the board, and was not instrumental in outlining any policy for the board to pursue.

Through the oversight the communication informing the Council of 151 needless failures to collect garbage was not transmitted last week; but the notification will be before the Council on Monday.

The bill for the collection of garbage during July has not yet been presented. The Finance Committee, at least, failed to find the customary demand in the number submitted yesterday.

REFINERY A MENACE.

MAY CONTAMINATE WATER.

This afternoon the Board of Public Works will hear petitions pro and con relative to the refinery of the Union Consolidated Refining Company on Avenue 22 in the First Ward.

There will probably be a heated debate, as the owners of the refinery are fighting to maintain their vested interests. Citizens complain of the odors exhaled by the refinery and ask that it be removed from the First Ward because it is operated outside the special district prescribed for oil refineries.

A report will be presented to the board from Superintendent William Mulholland of the water department stating that the refinery is a menace to the water supply of the city in its present condition. The refinery is located not far from the infiltration tunnel that is being dug from the Elysian Park power plant across the river into the bed of the Arroyo Seco. It is feared by Mulholland that the oil and refuse liquids from the refinery may seep through the ground to the water levels.

In company with Health Officer Powers, Councilman McAleer and Inspector H. A. Barraclough of the Health Department, Superintendent Mulholland made a careful investigation of the plant on Wednesday and yesterday reports of the findings were forwarded to the Board of Public Works.

It is also alleged that the petition filed in behalf of the refinery is signed by a larger number of minors and laborers than by interested resident property owners.

Dislike to Tax Graves.

The petition of the Los Angeles Cemetery Association for a reduction in their assessment on Evergreen Cemetery on the ground that a large number of lots have been sold absolutely to private individuals for the burial of their dead, was heard by the Board of Equalization yesterday and taken under advisement. It is not likely that individual assessments will be levied on the lots as the Councilmen are very adverse to such a course. The assessment as a whole may be lowered, however, so that the assessment will be just as satisfactory to the own[illegible]

AT THE COURT HOUSE

LAWYER TRIES TO GET EVEN WITH JUDGE.

FINED AND RETALIATES WITH A BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

Attorney Jeremiah Conroy Brings Suit for $45,000 Damages Against Judge Davis, of the First District of Arizona—Sizzling Charges.

Thirsting for vengeance against the judge who fined him for contempt of court, Jeremiah F. Conroy, a local attorney, filed suit for $45,000 damages yesterday against Hon. George R. Davis of Arizona.

Judge Davis is in Los Angeles for his vacation. Attorney Conroy has him in the position of the boy without his big brother. This is his great chance to get even while he has the judge where all his judicial wrath availeth not.

Some of the charges in Conroy's suit are sizzling. He claims that Judge Davis held out a letter consigned to the United States mail and unlawfully took therefrom two valuable promissory notes. All of which happened in Arizona in March of this year.

Conroy says that the notes were in his possession as security for a debt owing him from a client—Beauchamp H. Smith. One note was for $5000 and the other for $19,196.22.

The notes cut a figure in a case on trial last March before Judge Davis in the United States court of the First District of Arizona.

Conroy put them in a letter and mailed them for transmission to Louisiana. He claims that Judge Davis, over his protests, had the letter opened and caused Conroy's arrest for contempt of court.

Conroy's plea for a continuance was not granted, and although he denied being guilty of contempt, he was fined $100. He makes the rough charge that the Court had reason to believe that the charges were false when he fined him. He says Judge Davis acted as prosecuting attorney, judge and the whole works.

Conroy avers that the fine was imposed with intent to injure him personally.

Just imagine what would happen if Conroy should say these things in Davis's court!

Conroy would not pay the fine at first, but finally pungled up under protest, after the Sheriff took him in custody to make him serve out 100 days in jail in lieu of paying the fine.

On account of the taking of the notes from the letter, Conroy demands damages in the sum of $35,000. For the contempt business, he thinks he ought to have $10,000.

THE JUDGE'S STORY.

Judge Davis has quite another story to tell in regard to the causes leading up to the filing of the suit for damages. He denies emphatically that there are any personal interests involved, and that his every act was of a judicial nature. In reviewing the matter last evening Judge Davis said:

"This matter of the disputed notes came before me while presiding at Tucson, Ariz., in the court of the First Judicial District. The suit was for the cancellation of the notes, the claim being set up that full payment and satisfaction had been made. Conray appeared as attorney for the plaintiff. During the trial Conray had possession of the notes, and the defendants asked that an order issue placing them in the custody othe court. To prevent this Conroy med the notes to his wife in Los Anges. This fact having been reported ippen Court, I ordered Conroy to recl the letter and file the notes withhe court. This order Conroy compli with, but in so doing made use f language that was contemptuous. However, I took no cognizance oft until the close of the trial. I th fined Conroy $100. Smarting under his punishment, he now seeks to en up by bringing this action for amages. It is a question how far th California courts will review my jlicial acts and the merits of the Arizna case."

MRS. DIGGS'S EXAMINATION.

BEAN YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Drigs's preliminary examination on theitate's prison charge of attempting tonfluence a juror in the Hill will case byhowing him a photograph, began yestiday before Judge Wilbur, sitting as tmagistrate.

L. C. Butr, the juror to whom she is alleged t have handed the "faked" photograph f old Salem Charles, testified in accdance with the facts that have alread been published. On cross-examination Attorney Appel tried to make him amit that he had the photograph for a week or so before the day he said Mrs Driggs gave it to him; also that hetold other jurors that he had it and itended to use it to send the "counterfeiting gang" to prison. Butler denie it all.

At other tnes during the examination it was itimated that Butler actually got the photograph from Harry Morrison, alis Hill, the convict second husband of Mrs. Driggs's oldest daughter.

Lewis Worts, one of the attorneys of record in thewill contest, testified that he went to Mrs. Driggs's house at her invitation ani saw an exact duplicate of the fake plotograph there. He says that she told him her lawyers had sold her out in the will contest and she wanted to krow if the Charles family would not be willing to compromise and give her part of the money.

Witnesses called in behalf of Mrs. Driggs swore that the photograph in Mrs. Driggs's house was not the same as the fake picture. The case will go on today.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

EFFORTS TO CHOKE PICO HEIGHTS BLIND PIG.

SIMON'S OLD PLACE AN EYESORE TO RESIDENTS OF LOCALITY.

An Entire Day Consumed in Securing a Jury for Trial of the Pool-room Case—Bellboy Convicted of Robbing Guest.

William Thomas, who might be termed a herder of "blind pigs," and who has pursued some peculiar dodging tactics, was on trial all day yesterday in the Police Court for violation of the liquor license ordinance, and a night session was held in an effort to finish the case.

Justice Chambers's court showed a great array of whisky bottles, beer bottles, demijohns and willow-covered jugs, gathered in at the joint which was run by Thomas on West Pico street, being in the same building occupied by Sebastian Simon when his saloon license was revoked, and to all intents and purposes the identical saloon.

The place was watched on various occasions until the police thought they had a solid case against Thomas before the arrest was made, and among those seen drinking there and paying for his drinks was Sebastian Simon, the fact being brought out in the testimony of the prosecution yesterday.

When Thomas was arrested for this violation of law and released on bail, he was under sentence from North Pasadena to spend ninety days in the County Jail as part of the penalty of conviction in an identical case up there, but he escaped from the Constable, and was picked up by the merest accident on Wednesday evening, in coming face to face with the officer from whom he had escaped. When he appeared in the Police Court yesterday for trial he was in charge of a deputy, who sat near him all day.

Black on the Rack.

All day yesterday was consumed in Justice Austin's court, save half an hour devoted to transient business, in securing a jury to try "Col." F. D. Black for conducting a poolroom in violation of the city ordinance. It was almost 5 o'clock when the last juror was sworn in and the court then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

At the opening yesterday morning Black's attorneys again caused delay by objecting to the jurors summoned to try the case. On Tuesday, afttr their objection had resulted in ruling out the venire then summoned, Black's attorneys asked that a deputy sheriff or constable be ordered to summon the jury, but Deputy District Attorney Beebe objected to this as an unnecessary reflection upon the police force. So when Justice Austin was about to call the jurors to the box yesterday the attorneys filed an objection to the entire venire because it had not been summoned in accordance with their request. They also objected that some had been summoned after 10 o'clock, the hour set for the trial. Both objections were overruled and a jury was finally secured as stated.

Thieving Bell-Boy.

Harry Stewart, a bellboy at the Fremont Hotel, was yesterday convicted in the Police Court of having robbed the room of a guest. He was really convicted for the theft of some socks from the guest, but a valuable diamond ring which disappeared at the same time has not been found, and is supposed to have been stolen by Stewart at the same time the more trifling articles were taken. He was sentenced to serve 120 days in the City Jail and take his exercise on the chain gang.

THE OIL INDUSTRY

WILL INVADE NEW PROSPECT OIL FIELD.

LARGE HOLDINGS ACQUIRED NEAR NEWPORT BEACH.

Company Backed by Local and Santa Ana Capitalists—Associated Company Gets Foothold at Point Richmond. Stock Market.

Local and Santa Ana capital is interested in a new prospective oil district, and it is understood that all ready several thousand dollars have been raised to thoroughly test the field, which is situated on the coast near Newport.

J. E. Austin, a northern oil man, is said to have secured an option on 2000 acres of land. There are beds of asphaltum and seepages that can be traced for over three miles. The territory is in a section that never has been entered by the driller, and is at last eighteen miles from the nearest proven field.

The intention of the promoters is to establish a drilling outfit on the land as soon as certain negotiations now pending are closed, and one or more rigs will be kept in operation until the promoters are satisfied.

Samples of shale tested would indicate that if oil is struck it will be of a light gravity.

ASSOCIATED AFTER STANDARD.

The Associated Oil Company has invaded the Standard's territory. At Point Richmond and at the terminal of the Santa Fé Railway the company has erected a storage tank with a capacity of 37,500 barrels. It is also planning the erection of two additional tanks of similar capacity, which will be constructed as rapidly as possible.

Plans for improvements at that point include the erection of a pipe line and pumping station, which will enable the company to handle large quantities of oil for the bay trade, that is rapidly assuming considerable importance. The new line will extend from the new tanks along the wharf of the Santa Fé, so that the oil can be run from the tanks to the barges.

TEMPLE'S DESTRUCTION.

Orthodox Hebrews Will Observe the Anniversary of the Destruction of Jerusalem's Temple.

With the setting of tomorrow's sun will be ushered in the solemn fast of "Tishah B'ab," for the orthodox Hebrews. The fast is not observed strictly by the reformed congregations.

For Hebrews of the old school this fast day is filled with deep significance. It commemorates the double fall of the Temple of Jerusalem, first under the forces of Nebuchadnezzar, and then under the reign of Titus.

Notable is the fact, proclaimed by ancient history, that the two destructions took place on the same day of the year, although several centuries apart.

To the orthodox Hebrew it is especially obligatory that this period be observed as a time of fasting and prayer for the restoration of the Hebrews to Jerusalem. This custom has been continued for centuries, and in the European countries many picturesque scenes, typical of the lamentations of the prophet Jeremiah, are enacted at the synagogues and on the streets.

The fast is one that appeals strongly to the patriotism and race spirit of scattered Israel, for all through the ages the Hebrews have held tenaciously to the hope of final restoration to Jerusalem, and the establishment of their temporal kingdom.

Congregation B'nai B'rith will not observe this fast as a congregation; but at Temple Beth Israel there are to be special services, both on Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

The newly-elected cantor, M. Lubbel, who comes from Atlanta, Ga., will chant the principal parts of the "Lamentations of Jeremiah," and extra lamentations, called "Kinoths," written by rabbis of later centuries, will be chanted by the congregation. With the Congregation Beth Israel the fast of "Tishah B'ab" is considered of almost as much importance at the day of Atonement, and much solemnity will be thrown around the services for this fast.

It is stated by prominent Hebrews here that the Zionist movement has re- [illegible] that its growth throughout the United States since these events has been phenomenal, many who heretofore had been utterly opposed to the movement having now joined it with their funds and labors.

A fact that may not be generally known is that many local Hebrews have invested in shares in the international Zionists' Bank, now operating at London, Eng., and which is the financial nucleus of the whole Zionist movement. The local Zionist Association is also investing its surplus funds in this institution.

Macalister and Bradshaw place on record their conviction that the allegations which have been made against the employment of salicylic acid as a preservative cannot be maintained, and challenge the opponents of its use to bring forward a single instance in which it can be shown that bodily injury has resulted from its employment in such a manner. They deny that in the proportion in which they have met with it in articles submitted to them for examination it could be taken by any rational beings to such an extent as to do them any harm whatever. They further maintain that the use of this substance enables the manufacturers to place on the market wholesome, agreeable, and inexpensive articles of food which form an acceptable and beneficial variety in the diet of persons who cannot afford more costly luxuries, and which, above all, supply the place of intoxicating drinks. This is the position which they maintain, and state it after mature consideration and with an adequate sense of responsibility.

Don Manuel Saenz of the [illegible] made another of his flying leaps yesterday and landed near the top in the scholarship score. We thought Don Manuel had dropped out of the "High Five" for keeps. He fooled his pessimistic friends. Manuel is not asleep every time he fails to report progress for a few days, but kept very quiet the fore part of the week, and some of his detractors imagined that he was taking a prolonged siesta and would not wake up at all in time to be a factor in the closing days of the scholarship contest. But he fooled them by showing up strong. The Times office yesterday afternoon with a bunch of 6830 points, the largest number voted at one clip in favor of any candidate, during the present contest, to date.

The Palms is not a very large city and the country around it is sparsely settled. The people do not, that way are not very wealthy, but they have sectional pride, and are especially proud of their representative in The Times' scholarship contest. Don Manuel is such a manly lad that he commands the respect of all his acquaintances, and his friends are determined that he shall be the winner of one of the most desirable prizes at stake in this contest. They are standing by him nobly, as his score shows. The big vote polled by him yesterday put him up from seventh to fourth place, and he is going to fight doggedly to maintain that position. Of course he realizes that he is battling against heavy odds. There are so many fine boys and girls, most of them older than he, pitted against him. Don Manuel Saenz of the Palms made another of his flying leaps yesterday and landed near the top again in the scholarship score. Some thought Don Manuel had dropped out of the "High Five" for keeps. But he fooled his pessimistic friends. Manuel is not asleep every time he fails to report progress for a few days. He kept very quiet the fore part of the week, and some of his detractors imagined that he was taking a prolonged siesta and would not wake up again in time to be a factor in the remaining days of the scholarship contest. But he fooled them by showing up at The Times office yesterday afternoon with a bunch of 6830 points, the largest number voted at one clip in favor of any candidate, during the present contest, to date.

The Palms is not a very large city, and the country around it is but sparsely settled. The people down that way are not very wealthy, but they have sectional pride, and are especially proud of their representative in The Times' scholarship contest. Don Manuel is such a manly lad that he commands the respect of all his acquaintances, and his friends are determined that he shall be the winner of one of the most desirable prizes at stake in this contest. They are standing by him nobly, as his score shows. The big vote polled by him yesterday put him up from seventh to fourth place, and he is going to fight doggedly to maintain that position. Of course he realizes that he is battling against heavy odds. There are so many fine boys and girls, most of them older than he, pitted against him. Some of them live in more populous neighborhoods and have a wider circle of acquaintances and more influential friends. But this young Señor Saenz has the blood of a fighting race in his veins. He does not know what it is to be afraid, and he is not easily discouraged. He comes up smiling every time he goes down, and refuses to be counted out so early in the game.

MANUEL E. SAENZ.

Manuel is only thirteen years old, and it would be hard to find a more finely developed boy of his age. The picture of him printed a few weeks ago did not begin to do him justice, and a better one is presented today. He has handsome features and a splendidly balanced head, that no photograph, however well taken, can flatter. If he succeeds in winning a scholarship, which he undoubtedly will, he will be a credit to the institution that enrolls his name as a student.

MISS PEDELTY'S LEAP.

The next highest score of the day was made by Gertrude Pedelty of Santa Ana. Miss Pedelty's popularity in Orange county rivals that of Ray Price, the "Pride of the Peatlands," who made such a signal success in the scholarship contest last year. She was left a half orphan at an early age, and has had to shift largely for herself since a mere slip of a girl. Her one aim and ambition is to graduate from the Los Angeles State Normal School, so that she can become a teacher in the public schools, which is the life task she has set for herself. With a gain of 4765 points yesterday, she moved up from sixth to third place, and it will be hard to dislodge her from that advantageous position.

ELIZABETH'S LUCK.

The pathetic tale of Elizabeth Dehmlow's hard struggle against unkind fate, published a few days ago, has aroused sympathy of a most substantial kind for that young lady. A kind-hearted gentleman, who learned of the heroic struggle she was making to better her condition by winning a scholarship, was so moved by her pitiful experience, especially by the fact that she trudged ten miles a day through the dusty country roads, that he undertook to do a little work in her behalf yesterday. In a few hours he secured four yearly subscriptions to The Times, and the scholarship points allowed on these, together with what she gleaned from other sources, made her gain for the day 4230 points, and brought her score above the 10,000 mark, besides placing her six numbers higher in the scale. A few more such boosts will place Miss Dehmlow among the sure winners.

ANOTHER SURPRISE.

Another surprise of the day was the phenomenal gain of 4183 points made by C. Hix Thornburg of Long Beach. This young man simply nibbled at the scholarship bait for several weeks, but a few days ago he began to get interested in earnest and now he is going upward with giant strides. He climbed five rungs of the ladder yesterday and landed in thirty-first place. Where he will spring to next is an interesting guess. Go it, C. Hix, and may we all see you keep on humping yourself.

Miss Bower returned from Riverside county yesterday to look after her fences in Pasadena, which need repairing, as others were taking advantage of her absence to get some of the long, green grass which grows so luxuriantly in the most aristocratic suburb of the Angel City. Miss Bower still easily maintains the lead in the race, with Porter Blackburn a good second.

Little Louise Zander, the young U.S.C. undergraduate, made a gain of 1725 points yesterday and crowded Ethel Bryan out of fourteenth place.

Vada Watson continues to keep ahead of Soh Sang Nan, and the colored troops are still fighting nobly in her behalf, with reinforcements coming up rapidly from all parts of Southern California.

Miss Hannah T. Thompson of Pasadena has scored a handsome gain and outstripped the Bishop of Redlands, whose Y.M.C.A. friends will have to be doing something if they expect to see their favorite win.

The score tells the rest of the story.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

REDUCING THE "PARTY LINES."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 30.—In the local telephone service the ten-party lines are being put into six-party lines. This work requires all the available men, so that none can be spared for the putting-in of new 'phones. The opportunity was improved by the union men to start the report that the decision of the management to put in no more 'phones for the present was due to the linemens' strike, which is not the fact. The telephone boycott is cutting no figure in this city.

The plumbers' union has announced that it will oust Plumbing Inspector Walker from office. They say that if he is not removed no union plumber will work on a job with him. There are plumbers who are not tied down by the union, however.

Judge A. Haines will be toastmaster at the banquet to be tendered D. L. Witherton, Esq., at the Brewster Hotel Saturday evening. Most of the members of the bar will attend.

Resident New England people held a reunion at Mission Cliff today. Addresses were made by William E. Smythe, Judge Fuller, Philip Morse and others.

TENT CITY.

VISITORS' NOTES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TENT CITY (Coronado) July 30.—Late arrivals in camp are: Mrs. C. H. Perry, Bostonia; Mrs. Homer G. Taber and party, Kansas; Mrs. James K. M. Gill, Charles Gill, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. K. Lynn, San Francisco; H. C. Shyman and wife, Boise City, Idaho; Mrs. H. W. Adams and child, New Mexico; M. A. Wilson and wife, Barstow; Mrs. E. S. Robinson, Chicago; M. O. Curtis and wife, Stockton; C. D. Barton, San Bernardino; F. C. Lane, Dallas.

The Victor Herbert concert occurred last evening, being the first in a series of special concerts to be given by the Tent City Band.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Frazier of Frankfort, Ind., and Douglas W. Robinson of Louisville, Ky., were at the hotel yesterday. As will be recalled, W. F. Norton, the eccentric old man who died at Coronado a few months ago, deeded his property along the ocean boulevard here to Mr. Robinson and his sister, Mrs. Carrie Robinson Frazier. Neither of them intend making their home here, Mr. Frazier is superintendent of the Toledo and St. Louis Railroad.

Richard Mahon, who died at Los Angeles yesterday, was formerly in the employ of the Coronado Beach Company.

Lewis R. Kirby was the host [illegible] party and supper last evening, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Callender, Mrs. A. N. Sanford, Los Angeles; Maj. and Mrs. Ballache and Miss Ballache.

A theater party was given last evening by Mrs. W. D. K. Gibson, the guests being Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Mrs. Mullins, Mrs. Forman, Mrs. Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Postley, Mr. and Mrs. Wangenheim, Mrs. Arthur Brander, Miss Lily Spreckels, the Misses O'Connor, Miss A. B. Montgomery, H. S. Montgomery, Claus Spreckels.

IMPERIAL.

MYSTERY OF A GRAVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

IMPERIAL, July 30.—A mystery has developed at the abandoned Carissa Creek oil well, twenty-five miles west of Imperial, in one of the least-frequented spots of the Colorado Desert. Persons returned from there state that they saw a grave 300 feet from the well, on which a headboard had been placed, bearing the legend: "Horse-thief killed May second." An old man whose name is not known, and who had been staying at the well some months, was not to be found. The grave was not opened and no investigation has been made.

RAILROAD TALK.

Every day the Southern Pacific road adds to the material being accumulated for the extension of the Imperial branch on to the international line or further. It is understood here that construction of the road will be begun October 1. It is also reported, without verification, that within sixty days work will be begun on a railroad from Imperial fifteen miles due east to Holton. This road is projected by W. F. Holt, who was the prime mover in the road now reaching Imperial.

THE BROWNSBERGER.

BROWNSBERGER SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

BROWNSBERGER SCHOOL TENNIS COURT.

The street view of premises 953-7 West Seventh street would not suggest to a casual visitor the extent of the work conducted by the Brownsberger. The character of the founder is not aggressive, and in outward appearance the home of the school is in harmony with the dignity and exclusiveness of its management.

Once on the grounds you are surprised by the number, size and equipment of the school rooms. There is an easy capacity for three hundred students. During the height of the past season the number of pupils exceeded two hundred, and important additions and improvements have been made to accommodate the increase that have already applied for admission.

The new gymnasium is very large, entirely above ground, fully lighted, thoroughly ventilated, and equipped with the most approved apparatus, which is free to the students. Classes will be formed by those who wish special training. The tennis court lies just beyond, and judging by what we saw, it is well patronized.

The bookkeeping room is above the gymnasium; lighted by many large windows on three sides; completely furnished with modern appliances to conduct the intensely practical work which is making the Brownsberger famous.

An additional room has been constructed on account of the phenomenal growth of the Shorthand Department. Each of the many rooms of the school is in charge of a separate teacher.

A Training Department is conducted in connection with both the Bookkeeping and Shorthand courses. In this room pupils are graded, graduated and placed in positions in business according to their record for accuracy and speed. They spend from one to four hours daily, according to their advancement addition, each pupil has a school chine at home; 106 machines of various makes are owned by the Brownsberger.

On Friday, July 31, a reception be held at the school from 3 to 6, a reception and dance from 8 to for the express purpose of inviting inspection of friends and the public generally of the new gymnasium, well as other buildings. An informal good time, including refreshments dancing, is promised. A fine orchestra furnishes the music.

TWENTY-FIFTH THOUSAND

Free-Labor Number

The Times has just issued another edition of its special four-page Free-Labor Number for circulation among "independent workers, captains of industry, and all employers and employees who prize their lawful rights." Its contents are mainly reproductions of editorial articles and facts and statistics which have appeared in this paper from time to time heretofore, and are now brought together in this form. The matter shows again, and even more clearly, what The Times stands for, viz.: Liberty regulated by law, and independent, untrammeled labor; also what it is unalterably opposed to, viz.: Strikes, boycotts, picketing, conspiracies and needless industrial disturbances, to the great detriment of the country.

CONTENTS

I. To All Who Seek the Truth.

In A New York Haunted House.

NER-E-RACKING NIGHT.

W YORKER'S EXPERIENCE WITH A ANGE OLD COLONIAL MANSION. E STARTLING INCIDENTS WHICH MED IMPOSSIBLE OF RATIONAL PLANATION.

BY T. D. SULLIVAN.

(Correspondent-elect from New York City.)

HIS is, I think, the strangest experience in a career that has not been monotonous. It is true, and at one I had some trouble keeping it out ne papers. Now there is no more on for keeping quiet about it, so I as well tell the whole story for the time.

e reason why I need not keep the et any longer is because a big, old-ioned red brick building was torn n this year. It was once a private idence, then an office building, and its site is the site of a steel sky-per. That is the way New York ks.

at at the time this narrative deals the house was a residence—a big, bling, roomy old residence at that, odeled from a colonial mansion.

stood once in the suburbs, but the grow up around it. While this red its picturesqueness it boomed value. A new street (the house d on the upper west side) was to cut through, which would place the se and its surrounding strip of und in the desirable position of a ner lot." Any real estate man will erstand how this change will in-ase the value of the property.

here was a young fellow, whose her had been a dear friend of mine, had recently married. His bride taken a fancy to the house, and her sband, being rich and eager to grat-any whim of hers, had bought it in a sheriff's sale of uptown property. e purchaser is now a United States ngressman. I have not permission use his name, so I will call him arke. His chief opponent at the sale s a real estate dealer—O'Gorman is ar enough to his real name to suit esent purposes. This O'Gorman was shrewd, shifty, unscrupulous chap, e had visions of the great future of e upper west side; visions that later me true. He had bought up various rcels of land there, and had seen at glance how valuable would be the bit property which Clarke wanted. So bid stiffly against the young bene-ct. But Clarke's purse was the nger, and O'Gorman was beaten.

"If you ever get dissatisfied with the d place I'll take it off your hands at e figure of my best bid today," he id to Clarke after the sale.

Clarke laughed at him; gave orders r the house's renovation, and sailed ith his bride for Europe on a six onths' trip.

THE TROUBLE BEGINS.

was sitting in my office one day out half a year later when Clarke auntered in. I saw from his face he as bothered about something. After ar first greeting, he came to the point. "I've made a bad investment in that ," he said. The colo-ial builder's name was Jan arthoff, and the house was still re-erred to in the neighborhood by his ame.

"Doesn't Mrs. Clarke like the place as uch as she expected to?" I asked him.

"She hasn't had a chance to judge f it," he said, "and I don't mean that he shall. The house is haunted."

"Haunted? What nonsense!"

"That's what I thought when I came ome last week from Europe, and found hat not a single day's work had been one on the repairs I ordered," answered Clarke. "I went to the contractor and he calmly informed me he wouldn't touch the job, and that I could have my money back. He said that ghosts had frightened his workmen half to death; that he'd seen and heard things there that couldn't be explained, and that every man in his employ would strike if he ordered them to work there."

"And you believed all that rot?" I laughed.

"No," replied Clarke seriously. "I didn't. I thought he was lying. I went over the house myself and—well, what he said was true. You can guy me if you like, old man, but the house is haunted, and I'm going to get rid of it."

"I suppose white monsters clattered their chains at you," I hazarded, "and you ran a block before you identified the hideous specters as a pack of mice scampering in the loose plastering of the walls?"

"If you take it that way," he said, offended at my guying, "there's no use inviting any more of your jokes by telling you what really happened to me there. I'm going to hunt up O'Gorman, tell him the truth, about the place and see if his offer to buy it still holds good. He may be willing to pay something for it as a land speculation. He never could get a tenant to stay there."

Now Clarke's absolute sincerity began to make an impression on me. I saw he was terribly in earnest; that he believed he was telling the truth, and that he was really ready to sell the valuable property for a song.

"Look here, Clarke," I said, "I'm sorry I guyed you. But it all seems so absurd. You know as well as I do that there are no such things as ghosts. Don't be foolish and give up the place till you've made sure. What are you going to do this evening?"

"Nothing especial. Why?"

"Come and dine with me. Then we'll take a box of cigars, a bundle of candles, and a light lunch along, and go together to this haunted house of yours for the night. I've always wanted to see a ghost. Maybe I can find some explanation for it all."

My first idea, on hearing his story, had been that O'Gorman, in order to gain possession of the property he coveted, had bribed the contractor to spring that ghost yarn. But when Clarke himself had apparently seen or heard something to verify the crazy belief the affair began to take on a more serious aspect.

Like most sane men of strong nerves I had always pooh-poohed the idea of ghosts, but the prospect of spending a whole night in a supposedly-haunted house promised to be interesting.

A NIGHT INVESTIGATION.

I took a long nap that afternoon to obviate the chance of going to sleep during the vigil, and promptly at 10 that evening I started, with Clarke, for the Bartholf mansion.

It was, as I said, a rambling old brick dwelling and built in colonial days by an eccentric Dutchman, concerning whom some odd stories still survived. The neighbors, it seems, had regarded him as a sort of wizard or magician.

As we walked the uneven path to the front porch the old pile of brick looked in the moonlight like the regular dime-novel "haunted house," and as Clarke let us in through the great blackened oak doors the darkness of the huge hall seemed to rush forward to meet us.

We set about our preparations in a businesslike way. We established our headquarters for the night in the big drawing-room to the right of the hall. We lighted a half-dozen candles, stuck them in the rusty iron sconces about the wall, and set about examining the room. The walls were lined with faded tapestry; one or two old half-defaced pictures hung here and there, notably one of old Jan Bartholf himself, which was directly above the mantel. Several pieces of furniture occupied the bare floor, whose hard wood boards were warped by dampness and neglect. We made sure that no hiding place for lurking mischief-makers existed within the four walls of the apartment. Then, candle in hand, we made a systematic detour of the whole, dusty, creaking house.

"Well," said Clarke, as we reached the top of the wide staircase on our return toward the ground floor, "if there'd been a man or even a mouse concealed anywhere we'd have found him. Let's go back to the drawing-room, and —why it's dark down there!"

We were half way downstairs as he spoke. On our way up the light of the candles in the drawing-room sconces had cast a glow across the hall. Now, except where illuminated by the two candles in our hands, the whole lower floor was in dense blackness.

GHOSTLY MYSTERY.

"What do you think now?" asked Clarke. I made no reply, but ran down the remaining steps into the drawing-room. The smell of extinguished candles filled the room. All was dark save where a broad patch of moonlight, from the one unshuttered window fell on the floor. In the very center of that patch was an old mahogany rocking-chair.

THE EMPTY CHAIR WAS ROCKING SLOWLY BACK AND FORTH.

It was rocking with a quiet, regular motion, as if some invisible guest were taking his ease and swaying himself to sleep.

"Do you see that?" whispered Clarke over my shoulder. "That's what I saw when I came up here in broad daylight."

"It's—it's a current of air," I explained. But even as I said it I knew that no real draught could enter that closed room with force enough to blow out six candles and start a heavy chair into motion. Moreover, the air in the room was dead and motionless.

"I never used to believe in this sort of thing any more than you do," said Clarke, "but who can doubt it now?"

"I can doubt it," I answered. "Help me light these candles in the sconces, and we'll make another inspection of the room."

We lighted the candles. As we set foot in the room the chair had ceased rocking. We once more made the rounds of the apartment, patting the tapestry against the walls with our hands, looking under each bit of furniture, sounding the bricked-up fireplace, and in other ways making sure no trick was played on us by human agency.

"If anybody is putting up this line of practical joking," I said, "he can't do anything while we're in here. If it's a ghost——"

The sound as of someone sobbing and panting for breath came to us, while I was speaking. It seemed to be in the room, within arm's length of us.

"That's easily explained," I said, as Clarke grabbed my arm. "The wind in the empty passages of the house and the chimney make——" candles were burning. Even as I looked, first one and then another of those remaining two lights went out. It was as though someone had passed along that side of the room and extinguished them.

We were in total darkness, for I had closed that one open window shutter.

In the dense blackness, as I groped for a match, I could hear that great rocking-chair slowly begin to creak back and forth.

I found a match at last, and struck it. We relighted the candles. Then I turned to look at the rocker. It was standing motionless.

We stared hopelessly into each other's faces. I hope mine wasn't as scared and white as Clarke's.

"And this is the sort of house you advise me to bring my bride to!" he said at last. "We've seen enough. I'm going home."

"You're going to spend the night here, as you promised, I answered. "This ghost seems to be a harmless sort of creature. As long as he contents himself with puffing out candles and making chairs rock, he can't bother us greatly. Let's have a smoke and talk it over."

I sat down in the ghostly rocker and lighted a cigar. I kept a keen eye on the candles, resolved to get some clew, if possible, to the way they were extinguished. Clarke threw himself on a sofa at the other side of the room.

"It's no use," he said. "I'll get rid of the house as soon as I can and at any terms. I'm sorry, because my wife had set her heart on living here. With a little repair this would be an ideal home. Except for the ghost. What are you doing?"

THE GHOST.

I had risen to my feet and come to the middle of the room. The rocker in which I had been sitting was in the shadow. The candles as we had rearranged them were all at the lower end of the room, near the big mantelpiece. As I had sat idly listening to Clarke's complaint my gaze had chanced to fall on old Jan Bartholf's picture. I could have sworn that I saw the eyes in the tarnished face close and then open.

"I'm just strolling around for exercise," I said, carelessly. "It makes one so nervous to sit still in here and——"

As I got to this point my steps had carried me, in a circuitou route, to the mantel.

With a sudden motion and exerting all my strength I seized the big picture and wrenched it from its fastenings.

It fell to the floor with a crash, and there, in a great hole in the wall which the canvas had covered, crouched a human body.

With a second sweep of the arm I seized it as it was about to vanish into the dark passage behind the opening, and pulled it into the room, where it tumbled headlong on the floor.

"There's your ghost, Clarke," I said, brushing the dust off my clothes and watching the figure scramble to its feet. You're a clever chap, O'Gorman, but you're not clever enough. That's all the trouble with you. Now, Clarke, if you'll keep your hands on this worthy house-haunter I'm going on an exploring expedition."

Clarke had the struggling fellow by the throat, and I lighted an extra candle and clambered up into the hole above the mantel. "I'll be back in a minute," I said.

The aperture led to a passageway nearly three feet wide that ran the entire length of the house, being depressed to a height of about three feet at places, where the windows intervened. This explained the unusually-deep window seats I had noted. The inner walls of the passage (those nearest the rooms) were literally honeycombed with augur holes, whose aspect showed them to have been bored many years before.

SECRET PASSAGES.

Through these apertures it had been a simple matter for O'Gorman to detect the whereabouts of the candles in the sconces, and, by a sudden puff, to blow them out. The threadbare tapestry did not obstruct the air, and one could see dimly through it. The passage ran clear arou the house, between outer and inn walls, connecting by ladders with similar secret passage on the floorbove. A ladder descended from the ound floor passage to a space betwn the drawing-room flooring and cellar ceiling. This space was quite large enough to admit the body of a m. As I glanced into it I could see drawing-room candle light filtering tough the cracks in the flooring. A sider-bladed knife thrust through the cks at the right place would readily ccount for the rocking of the chair. One light push of the knife point wdd set it in motion.

Old Jan Bartholf mt have had odd theories on the subjt of building. What may have been the original object of these passages—peep-holes, etc., no one can tell. Wither he sought to spy on his fanly or guests, or whether he feared h might one day need shelter from juice or from Indians, I don't know. erhaps to foster the popular belief in h magic powers.

But the secret chaners were there; and O'Gorman had mie clever use of them. But for his fly in using the cut-out eyes holes inthe portrait in order to watch us fro a better point of view, he would ssuredly have gained his point and lught the house of Clarke for a song.

O'Gorman confessed to us that, while wandering over the hose with a view to buying it, just beire Clarke had outbid him, he had bndered on the secret passage behind Bartholf's picture. The idea of scaing Clarke into selling cheap had occured to him soon fter.

On O'Gorman's givin us a written confession, Clarke (gretly against my advice) let the fellow o. He was so much relieved to find the house was not really haunted, he said, that he hadn't the heart to draghe whole story into the public prints by prosecuting the swindler. T. D SULLIVAN.

The art of stock speculation is described by Sereno S. Pratt, associate editor Wall Street Journal, in his article to appear in next Sunday's Times.

CURSE OF LIQUOR AWFUL IN ENGLAND.

BABIES BORNE AND BRED TO WOE BY DRUNKEN MOTHERS.

Tippling Women Bequeath Disease, Weakness or Appetite to Their Offspring and Even Nurse Their Innocent Infants on Alcoholics — Startling Statements of Investigator.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 15.—Naturally the amount of drinking that goes on in this country is not a subject about which English people like to hear much, and perhaps this accounts for the scant attention which the London press has given to the startling statements concerning drunkenness among the women of Great Britain, and to the extent to which infants are taught to drink, which Miss Frances Zannetti has just made before the Society for the Study of Inebriety.

the poor at Manchester, has been making a special study of intemperance among mothers and its effect on child life, and "terrible" is about the mildest word she can find to describe the results of her investigations. Police reports in Manchester for 1902, she says, showed that the greatest number of women convicted for drunkenness during the year were of ages between 20 and 50. Thus during the most useful period of their lives thousands of women were not only destroying their own constitutions, but probably giving birth to neurotic, vicious children, tainted with alcoholism and disease, large numbers of whom, did they survive a neglected infancy, grew up weak and rickety, to lower still further the standard of national efficiency by adding to the burden of pauperism and crime. Among the women, the gross death rate from alcoholism was 74 per 1,000,000 higher than among males, and from 1881 to 1900, while the male death rate from this cause increased 48 per cent., that of females went up 73 per cent.

Miss Zannetti maintained that there would be fewer juvenile criminals if mothers were temperate. Numbers of infants, she said, were actually nursed upon alcohol, since the habit of drinking beer, stout and other alcoholics during recovery from child-birth was a common one among women of the lower classes. And, she continued, this practice was responsible for much female inebriety, for many women then tasted alcohol for the first time through the foolish advice of nurses. Frequently a woman who had reformed during her detention in a retreat, lapsed after the birth of another child. And as though sufficient injury had not already afflicted the child through its mother, its digestive disorders were recklessly treated with drops of gin and brandy, and it was encouraged to taste beer whenever its parents were drinking.

This woman inspector declared that in Manchester women were accustomed to gather together for what they called their "share of a pint," and in the afternoon tea containing gin or rum was dispensed by one woman to her friends, who, in their turn, treated her.

In commenting before the Society for the Study of Inebriety, upon what Miss Zannetti had said, Dr. Claye Shaw, the psychologist, declared that of infants born of drunken mothers, 56 per cent. died at birth or in early infancy, and a large proportion of the remainder provided inmates for asylums and prisons.

Andrew Carnegie's gifts for the year numbered 158, and amounted to $6,679,000. They were for buildings, and given subject to the usual conditions that a site be provided and that 10 per cent. of the amount of the gift be pledged for annual maintenance. His gifts for libraries now aggregate $38,505,600.

AUCTION OF Ocean Park Lots.

Investigate this auction sale at once and be on hand next Saturday at 2:00 p. m. on the tract to secure a desirable lot in Vawter's Fourth Street Tract.

This tract lies on an elevation overlooking the entire stretch of beach at Ocean Park and affords a beautiful view of the mountains and the ocean. The tract lies upon the Electric Railway line which affords rapid and frequent service to and from Los Angeles. This tract is an ideal site for summer homes and has many advantages. Stores are within easy reach, yet it is away from the crowded thoroughfares and glare of the beach sand.

MONEY WILL DOUBLE.

The history of Ocean Park proves that money invested while lots are at a minimum price will surely double in a year or two. Property adjoining this tract which sold two years ago for $500.00 sold recently for $2,000.00; and individual lots which originally cost $350.00 now bring $800.00 to $1,000.00.

Terms of Sale—$50.00 cash down and $10.00 per month, 6 per cent. interest on deferred payments. 5 per cent. reduction on deferred payments to those who desire to pay all cash

Titles are guaranteed perfect; certificate from the Title Insurance & Trust Company with each lot.

HALF-RATE EXCURSION.

Half-rate excursion leaves Fourth St., Los Angeles, over the Santa Monica electric road at 12:30 Saturday, August 1st, and goes direct to the tract. Half-rate tickets can be purchased at Hubert's Information Bureau, 211 W. Fourth St., Los Angeles.

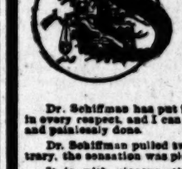
HAVE been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth he did it without any pain to me. It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment. MILO M. POTTER, Prop. Van Nuys Hotel and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

Ten years ago a reputable D. D. S. of Va. told me that a certain molar tooth could not be satisfactorily saved and that it would probably not be of service for one year. It has not only served me for ten years, as Dr. Schiffman saved and crowned it, and comparatively speaking without pain. I sing his praises.

L. M. ANDREWS, Pastor M. E. Church, South, Cor. 6th and Mateo Streets.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain. D. K. TRASK, Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

Dr. Schiffman extracted a tooth for me absolutely without pain. His advertising phrase, "Didn't Hurt a Bit," is literally true. R. D. HOLABIRD, Pacific Electrical Works. Under Nadeau. First St.



EVERAL years ago Dr. Schiffman did some crown and bridge work for me which has proved entirely satisfactory. The work was done painlessly and with great skill. It gives me great pleasure to recommend him. IRVING R. SMITH, L. A. Times.

Dr. Schiffman has put in almost an entire upper bridge for me. The bridge is perfect in every respect, and I can use it as well as my natural teeth. The work was promptly and painlessly done. JOHN W. WILLIAMS, 900 Twelfth.

Dr. Schiffman pulled two of my wisdom teeth, and it didn't hurt a bit; on the contrary, the sensation was pleasant. GUY L. HARRISON, Vice-Pres. Herald Pub. Co.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he killed and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown, which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain. JUDSON R. RUSH, Of Davis & Rush, Attorneys, 204 Rogers Blk.

I have had porcelain crown work and some fillings done, also had ten teeth and roots extracted by Dr. Schiffman, and take great pleasure in recommending his method to anyone wishing dental work done without pain. MRS. C. T. W. SCHRAMM, Mother of Paloma Schramm, Cor. Austin and Wadsworth.

Dr. Schiffman has put in a very satisfactory piece of bridge work for me and I cheerfully recommend him to anyone in need of dentistry. F. FLORENTINE, 1883 North Main St., County and City Criminal Photographer.

About a year ago I had a solid gold bridge put in by Dr. Schiffman. The work was absolutely painless, and has proved entirely satisfactory, and I cannot say too much in praise of the doctor. GUS BASLER, 213 W. First St.

Dr. Schiffman extracted my teeth and replaced same by bridge work. He also treated and filled two teeth, which I thought were too far gone to save. The above work was all done painlessly and is perfectly satisfactory. E. A. POLLARD, 727 Central Ave.

This is to certify that Dr. Schiffman did some crown work for me seven years ago and the work is as good today as it was when he finished the job. S. J. McKENZIE, Police Officer, 1422 Essex St.

I have had fourteen teeth extracted positively without pain by Dr. Schiffman. L. B. OSBORN, Ocean Park Postmaster.

Have just had a large back tooth extracted by Dr. Schiffman; had been bothering, but it was only a trifle and gave no pain. FRED A. DAY, Deputy City Assessor.

WALL STREET IN "THE DUMPS."

One is tempted to ask, as he looks at the continually declining prices in the New York stock market, whether this is the year 1896 or the year 1903. Has the great advance movement in American industry, the immense prosperity of the country, amounted to nothing? Have the hands on the dial plate of time been turned back? Are we confronted now, as in 1896, with the danger of the silver standard, paralyzing all our energies, making us hoarders of gold and misers in productive enterprises?

That there were sound economic reasons for a reaction in the stock market from the high prices of the "boom," no one can deny. In the full flush of our prosperity that came upon us with a rush as soon as we had planted our nation upon the sure foundation of the single gold standard, we ran into excesses, and, on the side of our security market, produced all the evils of overproduction. The output of new stocks and bonds exceeded the capacity of the investing market to absorb, many doubtful and over-capitalized concerns were promoted and the credit facilities of the banks became congested. A reaction was due, it was necessary, and it came in the right time. But granting all this, it is proper to inquire whether this reaction has not now gone to the other extreme. The stock market seems not merely to be paying the penalty for its excesses, and to be discounting the possible effects of the severest monetary stringency. It seems to be doing more than that, and to be engaged in the extraordinary undertaking of wiping out all the fruits of the seven years of prosperity.

Surely those years have added something to the value of securities. Those who are enjoying the benefits of the great earnings of the railroad and industrial companies know that values have been increased, since the starting of the period of prosperity in the fall of 1896. Yet the stock market is apparently engaged in extinguishing those values so far as prices represent values. The dividends and interests continue, for the productive forces of the country maintain their full earning power, but the value of the securities, as measured by the quotations on the tape, have been so far reduced as to indicate a desire on the part of Wall Street pessimism to get back to the standard of 1896. The investors who hold on to their securities, in spite of the declining values, are still in receipt of their regular income, but their fortunes, as measured by Wall street prices, are much reduced, and it should be remembered that for an active business man, declining prices make a vast difference in his ability to carry on large operations, because the securities he owns do not possess their former value as collateral at the banks. A stock selling at 90 may be paying as much, in rate of dividend, as it did when it was selling at 125, but, whereas in the latter figure it would be margined at 105 at the bank, at 90 it is good only for 70.

There is no question that the pendulum of reaction has swung altogether too far. That, indeed, is one of the common faults of the stock market. It never does things in moderation. It is either too enthusiastic or too depressed, either too bullish or too bearish. It has now got into one of its depressed moods, and is looking at the situation through spectacles that are colored blue. It exaggerates everything which tends to cause weakness, and minimizes everything which speaks of continued business activities and strength. Wall street has the disease known as the "dumps." It is a bad case, it needs immediate attention. The country at large gives not the slightest sign of being afflicted with this malady. But it is a contagious disease, and unless a rigorous quarantine is raised in Wall street, there is danger that it may spread outside. Mr. Cannon, who is to be Speaker of the next House of Representatives, does not express that appreciation of the needs of financial legislation which would be expected from a man occupying his position, but he certainly speaks the truth when he says that the country at large is pros

"In Illinois everybody is hustling," he says. "It's the hardest sort of thing to get anybody to do anything, because they're all up to their ears in work. There isn't a sign of trouble out our way, and we wouldn't know there was anything wrong anywhere except for the dismal reports from New York saying that the bulls and bears are having a few little differences of opinion over the values of some things."—[Wall Street Journal.

MACKEREL SCARCE. According to reports of returning fishermen mack erel are about the most difficult fish to find and catch of any sort fishermen go after. Schooners have scoured the Georges, the Bay of Fundy and the Maine coast without success. It ap pears from what they report that the schools of fish supposed by some to be mackerel are really herring or porgies. In places the waters swarm with these two varieties, but not a sign of mack erel. Other vessels report schools headed eastward, going out to sea and very wild. Returning schooners bring almost none with them. At Gloucester a number of schooners are waiting, and when a fleet large enough has col lected they will go to the Bay of Fundy, if, in the mean time, the fish do not appear somewhere else. Others are sailing here and there looking for fish, mostly with indifferent success.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CITRUS-FRUIT SHIPMENTS. Ship ments of citrus fruits from Southern California on Wednesday were 30 car loads of oranges and 12 of lemons. The total shipments for the season, from November 1, 1902, to date, are 21,081 car loads, of which number 2361 carloads are lemons.

HINT FOR TAILORS. A tailoring establishment at St. Louis has worked up an immense trade in the large terri tory covered by the newspapers of that city entirely through advertising. In every issue there is a full column "ad." describing goods, quoting prices, etc., and periodically a fitter is sent out to take the measures of those who re spond to the newspaper advertise ments.—[Philadelphia Record.

WEST KNOWS NOT WALL STREET. James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway Company, is quoted in an interview at St. Paul, Minn., as follows: "Our broad acres do not feel any tremors in Wall street. From St. Paul clear through to the Pacific Coast the people are engaged in producing foodstuffs, in lumbering and mining, in developing the great natural resources of the country. Therefore they are prosperous, and I see no reason to believe that this pros perity will not continue."

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Without special feature were the lo cal produce markets today (Thurs day.) Conditions are steady, but busi ness is rather slow on account of end of-the-month and end-of-the-week days. Nevertheless the summer has been phenomenally generous in the matter of trade.

There was no change in the egg sit uation; the market is firm and move ments are good; ranch receipts con tinue light; carload of fresh eastern expected to arrive immediately.

Butter and cheese firm, but without change in price.

Potatoes, good stock, hard to get; onions rfather slow; reds gone; yel low Danvers becoming more plenti ful.

Glut in peaches and plums and other fresh fruits continued at the public market; retail dealers seem to be well stocked up.

Fish plentiful.

Doves scarce.

Other commodities steady at jobbing prices heretofore quoted.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 30.—Yesterday's check to the rise in prices was supplemented today by reaction. There was no acute weakness, except for the eccentric plunges among the inactive specialties, but the demand diminished to nominal proportions. Commission houses, which reported yesterday an awaiting inquiry for stocks, found today that the slight reaction in prices had almost entirely discouraged this buying and in some cases had induced buyers to get out of the market again hurriedly. A constant drip of small selling undermined the market, and caused prices to crumble. The early selling centered on Atchison, followed up the late movement of yesterday. The general list resisted for a time until some of the specialties began to make violent declines. The weakness then became quite general. Several of the professed reasons for yesterday's selling of Atchison were cleared today without strengthening the stock in the market. Official denials were made of rumors of a coming bond issue and of an alleged unsuccessful attempt to negotiate a temporary loan by the company. The reports of rains in the Southwest, which were a benefit to the corn crop, disposed of another ground for weakness. The selling was partly by professional bears, but the suspicion remained that long stock was coming on the market and made an unfavorable impression on speculative sentiment in the wheat market. An unfavorable showing of June net earnings by reason of flood damage and a bear raid to dislodge a pool holding of the stock were hinted at. A feature of the situation is the revival of various reports running from the plausible to the highly improbable, of new combinations and absorptions of railroad systems. The policy of combination of available railroad systems doubtless has favored the railroad world, and the liquidation which has been forced in some shares has offered attractive opportunities for absorption, in strong contrast to the extravagant valuations at which the mergers of the boom period were consummated. Some resumption of the speculative excitement in cotton was against the stock market, and the large speculation developing in the grain markets is looked upon with a degree of apprehension owing to the general financial situation. Corn showed strength today in spite of favorable crop news and there was some fear that the spring-wheat crop was suffering further deterioration. The money market showed a growing ease for time loans, but the movement of prices of specialties on the Stock Exchange indicated that there was some selling out of collateral in loans. Stocks recovered a large part of their declines late in the day, when the liquidation in Atchison had spent its force, and the closing was apathetic and not far from last night's level. In the bond market, Chicago Terminal Transfer 4s were offered down 6½ just before the close. Toledo, St. Louis and Western 4s fell 3. The bond market was quite broad and showed a good inquiry, although some of the inactive investment issues were marketable at considerable concessions from last prices. Total sales, $2,460,000. United States 3s declined 1 and the old 4s 1½ per cent. on the last call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, July 30.—There was a good general demand for wheat at the opening, due to the advances in the foreign markets, and initial sales were at higher prices, September being ⅝ to ¾c higher, at 79¾@79¾c. The higher prices brought out heavy realizing sales, and the market turned weak early in the day, September declining to 78¾. Reports of frosts in the Northwest and good buying by large commission houses brought about a rally later in the session, the market becoming strong, September advancing to 80¾. Liquidation by local longs late in the day, together with the easier tone in corn, caused another setback, but the close was firm, with September ¼ to ⅝c higher, at 79¾@79¼. Further rainfalls in the West, including the greater portion of Kansas, caused an easier tone in corn, and there was considerable selling throughout the entire day, but the strength in wheat had a rallying effect, and at times the market showed some firmness. Shorts were good buyers on the declines, and there was also fair buying by commission houses. The close was steady, with September unchanged at 52¾. Oats ruled quiet, with prices firm in sympathy with the strength in wheat. Commission houses were early sellers, but the demand was sufficient to hold prices. The close was: September, ¼ to ⅜ higher, at 33½. Provisions opened weak, with considerable selling pressure on lard. At the outset, the market appeared to have little support, but later there was enough local buying to cause a slight rally. The close was easier; September pork 5c lower at 1.00, with lard off the at 7.97½; September ribs were up 5c, closing at 8.72½.

The leading futures closed as follows:

New York Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, July 30.—This being the last notice day for July delivery, it had been looked forward to as a critical period in cotton, and while not particularly active, the market this morning displayed considerable nervousness. July opened 20 points higher at 13.20, and in five sales reached 13.40, a net advance of 40, while in New Orleans the bull leaders were reported to be bidding for July in blocks of 5000 bales at 13c, without finding sellers. The rest of the list opened easier, but immediately firmed up, with July under covering of the high cables, the strength of New Orleans, and talk of too much rain in the western belt.

The cotton market opened easy at an advance of 20 points on July and August, while the new crop was one point higher to five points lower, and during the entire session ruled irregular, showing considerable excitement at times. July closed at 13.40, a net advance of 4 points, while August was net 7 points lower. The new crop closed near the bottom and net one point higher to 7 points lower. The general tone at the close was steady.

BALDWIN'S RACE TRACK.

He Says it Has Long Been a Part of "Arcadia" and Will Be Used for Exercising Only.

In a letter to The Times J. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin says the racetrack on his ranch has been in existence for thirty years, never has been used for other than training purposes, and never will be. He adds:

"I am willing to wager $5000 gainst a like sum that no race track nor "Monte Carlo" is established here during my lifetime, the winner to donate $5000 to charity.

"In the Daily Pasadena News Mr. Hahn states that I am quoted as saying, with an oath, "We'll show 'em a race track, and plenty of it, th long-haired kickers.'

RIVERSIDE'S LIBRARY WILL OPEN TODAY.

PUBLIC RECEPTION TO BE HELD IN CARNEGIE BUILING.

County Game Warden Reports Almost Catching a Government Forest Ranger Violating the Game Law. Fight for Street-Paving Contract.

RIVERSIDE, July 30.—Tomorrow afternoon the new Riverside Carnegie Library Building will be opened to the public for the first time. The library books have been transferred from the old room in the Loring Block, and everything is in readiness for the opening. Between 2 and 5 and 7 and 10 p.m. there will be a public reception, to which everyone is invited, the affair being entirely informal, with no exercises or speeches. Saturday morning ta 9 o'clock the library will open for business and library hours will be observed thereafter.

The Riverside Public Library is a mission-style building, the cost of which was something over $20,000. This amount was given by Andrew Carnegie, and represents the actual cost of the structure, not counting furnishings or interior decoration. The interior is one large room, separated into three parts by large pillars. At the back is the librarian's desk, and back of that is a large alcove for the book stacks. On either corner at the rear is a room, one for meetings of the library trustees and the other for the reference books.

The roof in the main part is arched, with lights sunk in the ceiling, while on the tables are other lights, there being 200 in all. The interior decoration was done by Signor Nicolini, and is pronounced a beautiful piece of work. There are no violent colors, the artist using only the daintiest tints to get a quiet chromatic effect. A background of modified Pompeiian yellow is used throughout the dome and side rooms. Old rose is the groundwork of the panels, an inner band of old ivory, the same color as the staff, covers this, and for the interlaced geometrical figure a deeper shade of rose is used. There is a general effect of soft yellow coloring throughout, even the leaves of the wreaths over the arches and the predominating color in the figures which represent music, art, literature and history, being yellow. These figures are placed at the four prominent corners of the main room, over the arches. Over the small windows at the front and rear are scroll effects, with appropriate mottoes and names of great men. The entire effect is one of quiet harmony, and is very pleasing.

The library building stands on a spacious lot at the easterly corner of Orange and Seventh streets, and is surrounded by wide grass lawns, with no shrubbery. The librarian is Miss Grace Mansfield, and the library trustees are Lyman Evans, George H. Dole, W. L. Peters, G. E. Bittinger and H. L. Carnahan. The architects of the building are Burnham & Bliesner of Los Angeles and the contractor is J. W. Carroll of this city.

GAME WARDEN VIGILANT.

E. F. Binder, County Game Warden, returned this morning from an extended trip over the San Jacinto Mountains, where he has been looking into the work of enforcing the game laws, both State and county. He traveled over 200 miles on horseback. He reports having seen several deer, and that in one instance he came near catching a violator of the law. F. H. Heffert, one of the forest rangers, was the offender. Game Warden Binder heard a shot and saw a deer run, and at once made for the place where the shot had come from. He came upon the forest ranger's camp, and Heffert, not knowing Binder, asked if he had seen his deer. Binder could not have him convicted on his own testimony, so he let him alone, and wrote to the chief ranger demanding Heffert's immediate discharge. This afternoon Binder left for another trip over the mountains.

ON THE SIDE.

Suit was commenced today in the Superior Court by W. A. Hayt to collect a note for $1100 given by the Riverside Fair and Driving Association and indorsed by W. M. Bartee, I. A. Witherspoon, J. H. Thompson, R. L. Bettner and F. D. Lewis. Interest since December 3, 1901, is asked.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley and Mrs. H. R. Greene and daughter, who have returned from Laguna, will spend the remainder of the summer at the Tent City, where they have secured a palm cottage for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Dougall are back from Long Beach for a few days' visit. They expect to return to the coast for a longer stay tomorrow.

There is a war on between two asphalt firms over the street paving which is under contemplation in Riverside. The Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilson Company of Los Angeles secured the signatures of a large number of property owners along Main, Eighth and Seventh streets to a contract by the terms of which the company agreed to put down the asphalt paving for 18½ cents a square foot. The Barber Asphalt Paving Company is desirous of having the work let by public bids by the city, and is trying to break up the game of the Fairchild company. To this end an agreement is being circulated by agents agreeing to do the work for 15½ cents a square foot. Fairchild has a large majority of the property owners already tied up, but the Barber company is making headway. Meanwhile the city is going ahead with the advertisement calling for bids. The Barber company points to the contract they secured from Redlands for 15½ cents per square foot as evidence that the people will save money by letting the several firms interested in the work bid on it in the usual manner.

The auctioneer's voice reaches to the sidewalk, but if you want to sell anything, The Los Angeles Times' voice reaches through the whole Southwest. Telephone your wants to Red 661 and our Riverside Agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office.

HEMET.

LARGE STABLES BURNED.

HEMET, July 30.—What proved a very disastrous fire broke out in the rear end of the Hemet Company's feed and livery stables in Hemet today. It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the breeze across the valley was strong, and the large stables, being of wood and well stored with hay, burned with great rapidity. By the time the hose was properly adjusted to the fire plugs and the water shot on the stables the fire had gained such a lead that the fighters were at a great disadvantage, and their efforts soon were of no avail. The Hemet stables were among the best equipped in Riverside county, and in it were kept a few fine thoroughbred horses owned by Millionaire Whittier of the Hemet company. Much of the valuable equipage was burned, together with a fine thoroughbred horse, and other horses were so severely burned as to make them practically valueless.

Adjoining the Hemet Stables on the east were the large stables leased by the California Health Resort Company, and in which is the headquarters for the Strawberry stage route, which were also burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. The total loss will reach over $5000. The property was insured, but not sufficient to cover the loss. Several men were severely burned while rescuing valuable horses. This is the third accident in recent years in which the Hemet company sustained heavy losses.

SCHOOL OF FORESTRY OPENS AT IDYLLWILD.

COURSE OF LECTURES BY TWO ABLE EDUCATORS.

Los Angeles Visitors at Mountain Resort Tell Snake Story and Prove it. Notes of the Various Doings of the Summer Campers.

IDYLLWILD (Strawberry Valley,) July 29.—The summer school of forestry opened yesterday afternoon with a lecture by Dr. W. L. Jepson of the department of botany of the State University. Two lectures are given at the sanatorium every morning, one at 9 o'clock and the second at 10, and several have been promised for the evenings, to be fully illustrated by lantern slides.

Idyllwild is in the main pine belt of the San Jacinto Mountains, and several afternoons will be devoted to excursions into the surrounding forest, which is said to be rich in flora immediately available for illustrations.

Dr. Jepson will give ten lectures, treating the subject from a botanical standpoint, while ten by Prof. Stubenrauch will deal largely with the economy of forests, their uses and abuses. The subjects and their subdivisions are as follows:

"Life History of a Tree" (Dr. Jepson,) four lectures on the activities, structure, and methods of reproduction of a typical forest tree; "Classification of Forest Trees" (Dr. Jepson,) three lectures on the classes of forest trees and their salient peculiarities; "Forests of California" (Dr. Jepson,) three lectures on the forest regions of California, their composition and relation to altitude, rainfall and temperature; "The Practice of Forestry" (Prof. Stubenrauch,) four lectures on the general principles and fundamentals of forestry; "Silviculture" (Prof. Stubenrauch,) four lectures on silvicultural methods, natural and artificial regeneration of forests, propagation, planting and thinning; "Afforestation and Reforestation" (Prof. Stubenrauch,) two lectures on the treatment of barren or cut-over areas, with special reference to conditions in California.

The course to be given later by Hon. T. P. Lukens of Pasadena and the subjects to be treated, have been mentioned already in these columns. These lectures will be August 6 and 7. The school will continue until August 16.

"Although there are many definitions of the term 'forestry,' by far the best ones 'the rational and economic treatment of forests,'" said Prof. Stubenrauch, speaking at the opening session, speaking on "The Life History of a Tree." "Ever since the conquest of Mexico by Cortez," said Dr. Jepson, "the European races have made ruthless war on our forests, and it is only in recent years that people are beginning to recognize that the forests are a priceless heritage, and their waste no longer to be allowed. The old idea that 'brestry' means 'something to do with trees' is being rapidly replaced by the knowledge that the word has a wide significance and includes among other things, botany, chemistry and civil engineering."

SNAKE STORY WITH A SNAKE.

Although the woods are said to be full of makes this year, and although few campers can be found so poor at least in imagination that they cannot tell of one, two, or even three rattlers that have disputed the right of way with them, no one has been bitten, and few can give the story substance by showing the "pelt."

But the black skin of a rattlesnake brought in from Cold Creek Cañon by Dr. S. S. Salisbury and party, convinces the most skeptical Thomas in camp. A party of twelve drove in the morning to Inspiration Point and down the cañon, taking luncheon. As they started to return to the wagon in the afternoon, Mrs. J. V. Vickers of Tombstone, Ariz., who was walking ahead, saw what she thought were two dead branches of trees laid snugly together near the path. When one of them coiled and raised a flat fanged head in plain intimation that he had been disturbed in his regular after-dinner nap of forty winks, which he had been enjoying on the soft, warm, sunny side of a board, Mrs. Vickers yielded the path. Dr. Salisbury and Mr. Vickers dispatched the reptile, which measured nearly four feet.

COMING AND GOING.

E. A. Curtis came from Los Angeles Tuesday night to join his wife and daughter, who are members of the Ferd K. Rule party.

Mrs. L. M. Coulter and Miss Charline Coulter of Los Angeles and Dr. and Mrs. R. O. Moody of San Francisco are among Tuesday's arrivals.

Herbert Denman, a New York artist, who has spent a year at Idyllwild, will leave tomorrow for Los Angeles en route for his home in the East.

Mrs. W. G. Cochrane returned to Los Angeles on Tuesday's stage, as did Mr. and Mrs. William E. Oliver and son, who have been enjoying a tendays' outing at the Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver were members of a large riding party that went over the trail to Tahquitz Peak Monday. Mrs. S. E. Hunt, Mrs. Cochrane's mother, who has been here since Saturday will go down tomorrow.

Miss Bella Sackett and Miss Helen Cole, with Miss Smith, who is a teacher in the State Normal School of Los Angeles, returned to the city yesterday after a month of tent life in Strawberry Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. C. Angevine of Los Angeles, who are camping here, are anticipating a visit from the temperance lecturer, Francis Murphy, and Mrs. Murphy.

Dr. Macleish has returned to Los Angeles, leaving his family here under the chaperonage of their aunt, Mrs. Hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albers returned to the city Monday after ten days' sojourn.

Miss M. L. Gardner and brother, Paul, who have been among the Lodge guests several weeks, returned to Los Angeles Tuesday.

W. M. Murray, E. A. Heinzeman, W. E. Dean, W. E. Dean, Jr, J. A. Dean, E. S. Gilmore and Charles Gilmore, are among the Los Angeles visitors here.

J. V. Vickers and eldest daughter, of Tombstone, Ariz., have arrived to join Mrs. Vickers and another daughter, who have been here a week.

Mrs. W. M. Friesner and son, James, occupy their tent on the hillside, just beyond the Lodge.

Mrs. Susie N. de Luna and daughter, Miss Edith, of Ocean Park, are registered at the Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ahern are recent arrivals from Los Angeles. They are accompanied by their daughter, Miss Louise.

ELSINORE.

CURTIS-MILLS.

ELSINORE, July 30.—J. H. Curtis, an Elsinore business man, was married yesterday at the home of his cousin, J. W. Mills in Riverside, to Miss Alice Mills of Ottawa, Can. The bride arrived in Riverside Wednesday from her home in Canada. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mills of Elsinore went to Riverside Tuesday to attend the wedding.

SAN BERNARDINO.

CHILDHOOD FRIENDS WEDDED.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 30.—Considerable surprise was caused here today by the announcement of the marriage at Los Angeles of Mrs. Ida Meisenheimer and Monroe Dye. The bride has for a number of years resided here, where she has occupied a high place in musical circles. Dye is a wealthy ranch owner of Visalia. The two had been friends in childhood. Recently he learned that she had become a widow, and from the correspondence he commenced the marriage resulted.

MARTINEZ GETS CREDIT.

Juan Martinez, one of the inmates of Folsom who is receiving praise for his actions in defending Guard Chalmers from the attacks of the escaping convicts, was sent from here last year for robbery, under a fourteen-years sentence. Martinez and another man held up and robbed a stranger of $50, stood trial and were convicted. His companion received a sentence of twelve years. Martinez has always been considered a very hard character, but his brave fight has caused a wave of feeling here in his favor and there is strong talk of circulating a petition asking that he be pardoned.

BRUTAL HUSBAND.

The officers are looking for a man named Esmeralda, who is wanted at Beaumont for an unusually ferocious assault upon his wife. For some time the home of the couple has been the storm center of considerable quarreling and drinking. Early this morning, according to reports from there, the woman was found in her house covered with blood flowing from innumerable wounds on her face and head, where Esmeralda had beaten her with the jagged end of a heavy earthenware plate, which he had first broken on her. After chopping her face and head and inflicting terrible gashes, he attempted to string her to a door, but her weight proved too much for him in his intoxicated condition, and before morning he fled. It is not thought that she will recover.

QUAKE CRACKS CLOCK.

A rather severe shock of earthquake visited this city at 9 o'clock this evening. The vibrations continued fifteen seconds, and the principal shock was the heaviest felt here since the Christmas quake of 1898. The only damage reported was the cracking of the face of the clock of the Courthouse tower, sixteen feet across.

BERDOOLETS.

The Southern Pacific company announces that next Saturday the first active work of straightening the road between here and Colton will commence, twenty wagons and twice as many men being put on the job. The improvements involve an outlay of nearly $75,000, including a new depot and large freight house.

Half a ton of baled hay was stolen from a wagon in front of the residence of Albert Parish on Base Line last night.

Stock Inspector A. B. Wise has returned from a thorough investigation of the stock conditions on the Mojave, and reports that the statements made by cattlemen that stock affected with Texas fever was shipped in from the north is without the least foundation.

George Davis, who arrived here some days ago from Oakland, died last night. He had been an invalid some years. The remains were shipped north for cremation.

Roy Sternberg of Ontario was committed to the Highland Asylum yesterday. He was recently caught attempting to fire an Ontario packing-house.

REDLANDS.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

REDLANDS, July 30.—At 8:59 this evening an earthquake shock was felt here, coming as a heavy stroke from the northwest. No damage is reported. A message from the Edison works in Santa Ana Cañon states that the shock was heavy there, but no serious damage was done.

PAVING CONTEST LET.

To the Barber Asphalt Paving Company of New York, with headquarters in Los Angeles, for Southern California, has been awarded the street-paving contract. The bid was 15 2-3 cents a square foot for the paving, 10 cents a square foot for guttering and 1 cent lineal foot for gutter facings. The approximate cost of the work is $16,000. The streets to be paved are Cajon from Olive to Citrus avenues, Citrus avenue from Fourth to Fifth street, State street from Fourth to Fifth, and Fifth from Citrus to Central avenue.

SEASON OF BUILDING.

Never before in the history of Redlands have there been so many public buildings in process of construction as now. With the following on hand and still others in contemplation, there will be a very busy building season: Union High School and McKinley grammar school, University and Contemporary clubs, Trinity Baptist and Presbyterian churches, Home Telephone, Hubbard, Gregg, Cave & Riggs, Field and Bill business blocks, not to mention dozens of residences, ranging in cost from $1000 to $20,000.

HERE AND THERE.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh, Dr. Albert Murray Hewitt of Los Angeles and Miss Nettie Audell McIntosh were wedded tonight. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. F. Johnson of Trinity Episcopal Church. Dr. and Mrs. Hewitt will live at Hotel Afton, Los Angeles.

YOUNG BOY AND GIRL ELOPE FROM FRESNO.

SENSATIONAL ESCAPADE ENDED AT BAKERSFIELD.

Girl Goes East, Pursued by Father, Who Claims She Took All His Money, and Boy is Arrested and Released. Freight Wreck Delays Traffic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sensational midnight elopement and early arrival in Bakersfield, the hasty departure of the girl for Missouri, and the arrest and subsequent release of the young man, is the story of the day in two San Joaquin Valley cities. Ray Boyd, aged 18, and Rosa Fields, aged 15, were the hero and heroine of this escapade. Young Boyd is employed as a butcher in Fresno, and lives with his mother. The girl is the daughter of a street-car employé in the Raisin City, and while her mother was on a visit to relatives in Missouri she was her father's housekeeper.

Last night the two disappeared from their homes, and, taking the Owl, came to Bakersfield, where they stopped at the Arlington Hotel, registering as "Thomas Brown and wife, San Francisco." Early this morning the City Marshal received a telephone message from the Fresno Chief of Police, stating that a warrant had been issued for their arrest on the complaint of the girl's father, who charged her with embezzlement of $530, the entire amount of his savings, which he had committed to her care. But when the officers went to the hotel the birds had flown. It was soon learned that the girl had purchased a ticket to Joplin, Mo., and had departed on the Santa Fé Overland for the East. The young man was arrested at the depot this afternoon as he was about to take the train for Fresno. He was much scared when told of the charge of embezzlement, but stoutly maintained that he knew nothing of it. So far as he knew the girl had but $50 in bills, and he did not know how she obtained that. Only $7 was found on his person when he was searched.

He acknowledged the elopement, and declared that the girl was going to Joplin, where her mother is staying, to ask permission to marry him. When the girl's father at Fresno learned of his daughter's departure for the East, he immediately started in pursuit, abandoning prosecution of the young man in custody in Bakersfield, who was released upon the order of the Fresno Chief of Police.

FREIGHT WRECK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 30.—An extra east-bound Southern Pacific freight was wrecked at 3 o'clock this morning near Ravena. The accident was caused by a broken flange, and two oil cars and two cars of stock were derailed. No one was hurt, and the stock escaped injury. All traffic between Bakersfield and Los Angeles will be tied up until about 2 o'clock this afternoon, and all passengers on the south-bound Owl and No. 8 had to be transferred. The north-bound passenger trains had both passed before the accident.

OXNARD.

WYOMING'S VISIT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

OXNARD, July 30.—Yesterday morning the monitor Wyoming arrived off Hueneme, and last evening steamed away for Santa Barbara. Capt. V. Cottman and his officers were the guests while here of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Oxnard, who are distant cousins of the captain. Nick Cottman, for several years manager of the Chino factory, is also a brother. Mr. and Mrs. Oxnard gave a barbecue Thursday morning at McGrath's Beach in honor of the officers and Miss Pichon, sister of Mrs. Oxnard, it being her birthday. In addition to the ship's officers there were present as guests Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Driffill, Mr. and Mrs. J. McCoy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Duperu, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rose, Messrs. A. Hashe, Count Wormbrant, Nick Cottman, Misses Mary and Emma Driffill, the Misses Leonardt of Los Angeles, Hazel and Ruth Virden, Roger Williams and the two sons of L. J. Rose. A pavilion for dancing had been built at the barbecue grounds and the music was furnished by a Santa Barbara orchestra. As master of ceremonies Count Wormbrant was a decided success, and the whole affair was very enjoyable. After the barbecue a number of the guests visited the monitor, where they were shown the wonders of that floating battery. Thursday from 10 o'clock until 4 the Wyoming was open to visitors, and her launches were kept busy going back and forth freighted with citizens who cared to view the latest addition to the navy.

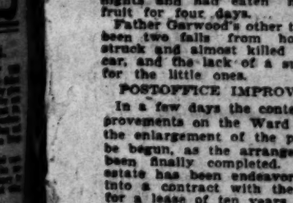
Dishonest Walking Beam.

It is said that there are charges of Dist.-Atty. Jerome of collusion between fifty and sixty contractors charging walking delegates and extorting from builders and property owners $400,000 during the last two years. Absolute faith cannot be placed in affidavits, but it is reasonably certain that the powers vested in walking delegates or business agents of unions or the officers of some labor unions have been used for purposes of blackmail. Money has been paid to head off threatened strikes and to settle strikes that have been ordered. It may be true, however, that employers should allow themselves to be bled, but they have generally reasoned that it was cheaper to submit to blackmail than to have strikes and be offered with by a strike.—[Chicago Tribune.

Motion will be made at Norwalk to quash the indictments which have been pending two years against Thomas Martin and Harry Veltheus of the Delaware Surety Company, charged with false swearing in regard to the capital of the surety company. The men named never have pleaded to the findings, which were an outgrowth of litigation between the big copper companies.

I computed the cost of using my gas-cooking stove: simmerer, one, for 10 hours, all day: four cents. What, do you think I did in those ten hours? Steamed pudding, three hours; boiled ham, five hours; custard pudding, half-hour; oatmeal, twenty minutes; soupstock, forty minutes; potatoes, half hour. How's that for four cents?



They all yield to the wonderful healing power of this unequaled remedy. Sold by druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. Send for free book of testimonials. Address, Heiskell Ointment Co., Tulsa, I. T.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

PACIFIC ELECTRIC'S GRAB IN PASADENA.

STEALS A STRIP OF STREET WHILE PEOPLE SLEEP.

Charles E. Garwood's Little Son Runs Away and is Found After Four Days Up a Peach Tree—Walter Peebles Turner Dead.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 24 South Raymond avenue, July 31.—So far the Pacific Electric has been pretty good about getting permission to spin its steel spiderweb about the Crown of the Valley, but night before last it worked overtime and completed the mesh at the head of Orange Grove and Colorado street without the required franchise.

A strip of street running 100 feet from the end of the old line to the corner was necessary to connect the old line with that to be laid north on Orange Grove by a new franchise granted some time ago. This franchise did not include the 100 feet, and it was an out-and-out steal from the property owners, who have all along been opposed to allowing the road to go around this corner. At the time of the granting of the franchise allowing the line to run west on Colorado to Orange Grove the combined objection of a majority of the property owners in the vicinity of the terminus succeeded in limiting the franchise to within 100 feet of the boulevard.

The principal loser by the steal is Mrs. S. G. Reed, owner of "Carmelita," the handsome residence on the northeast corner. The tracks of the curve run within fourteen feet of the curb and entrance of her driveway. Mrs. Reed last night expressed great indignation at the hold-up, but has taken no action against it as yet. The act was performed during the night while the Councilmen slept. Mayor Vedder had nothing to say last night beyond "Too late; no one is more surprised than I am."

Steps have been taken to prevent a march across the disputed alley at the car barn by stationing a night watchman on the ground. However, in the latter case it appears that some few of the property owners are rather unreasonable, the principal objector being Charles Richardson, who wants $1000 damages for the privilege. The company has made an offer to run a paved alley between Raymond and Fair Oaks on the south wall of the barn and another on west from Raymond on the north wall. All of the owners favor this but three.

RUNAWAY BOY.

Charles E. Garwood, a carpenter living at No. 928 Cypress avenue, has no end to his troubles. His wife committed suicide about two years ago, leaving three little sons, now aged 6, 8 and 11, who have been one end of Garwood's trouble ever since. "The other end is not yet in sight," says the sorely-tried father. Monday afternoon the middle son, George Wendall, disappeared and frantic search has been the order ever since. The police department and all friends were called into play and the Arroyo Seco and surrounding country was scoured, all to no avail. As the boy had often threatened to take to life, as his mother did, if he was sent back to the Orphans' Home in South Pasadena, where he was kept for one month not long ago, it was feared that the youngster had carried out his threat, and it was only a poor little cold body his father expected to find.

Willie, Georgie's 6-year-old brother, was more hopeful, and saying, "Oh, he's just mad," went off to hunt by himself. Willie knew where nice ripe peaches were hanging, and knowing his brother's fondness for the fruit, went to the favorite spot several times yesterday afternoon. Of course he went only to find his brother. Well, he found him; up in one of the most promising trees, and asked him to throw him down one and then come down himself. Hand in hand they went home together. "I got him, dad. He ain't nothing but just mad." And everybody heaved a sigh of relief and wished that they might each have a turn at the paddle. The runaway had been sleeping under the big willow tree at the top of the hill for three nights and had eaten nothing but fruit for four days.

Father Garwood's other troubles have been two falls from houses, being struck and almost killed by a trolley car, and the lack of a suitable home for the little ones.

POSTOFFICE IMPROVEMENTS.

In a few days the contemplated improvements on the Ward building for the enlargement of the postoffice will be begun, as the arrangements have been finally completed. The Ward estate has been endeavoring to enter into a contract with the government for a lease of ten years of the lower floor of the Ward block for the use of the postoffice, but by the terms of the lease the estate was to stand the expense of the change to be made, and as this will amount to about $5000, the contract threatened not to go through. Many merchants jumped at the chance to change the site of the office to East Colorado street, but the banks and merchants in the vicinity of the present site got together and contributed $1100 towards the expense of the change, and the office will remain where it is. As West Colorado street is to be widened nine feet at this point, the entire front of the building will be torn away and if possible, consent will be obtained from the Council to do this at the same time that improvements are made inside. The commission has not yet been appointed to levy the amount of damages that will have to be paid for the widening, and this raises the question.

MORE PARK TROUBLES.

More was doing in Central Park at a late hour Wednesday evening than for some time. Whether an improvement or not, a three-foot picket fence was erected around the condemned lot of Mr. Houser, against which the city has filed condemnation proceedings to be heard in the Superior Court September 18. Houser fears that he will get only $700, which has been paid by the city for adjoining property, and he thinks he ought to get a little over $2000, and is going to make a stand. The lot has a frontage of twenty-five feet on Fair Oaks and is 150 feet deep. Ten feet of the alley which used to run in the rear is also claimed.

SAD DEATH.

Within three days of the second anniversary of his marriage, and leaving a fond widow and thirteen-months-old baby to mourn his loss, Walter Peebles Turner died Wednesday night of quick consumption. Mr. Turner was the elder and only surviving son of Dr. William D. Turner of North Raymond avenue, and had a large circle of warm friends in this city, where he came to live ten years ago. At the time of his marriage he opened a drug store in Anaheim and built up a good business, but owing to failing health he was compelled to give it up July 3, and returned to Pasadena. He was taken to Simmons's ranch, near the mountains, where he lived in a tent, but failed rapidly, and was brought home a few days ago in an ambulance.

Mr. Turner was 33 years old and a native of Illinois and married Miss Edna Young, a sister of Mrs. J. H. Dorn of this city. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the parlors of Reynolds & Van Nuys, and friends are invited to attend. The services will be in charge of the Masonic Order of this city, and the body will be cremated.

TAB NOTES.

Mayor Vedder was asked yesterday, "How about municipal ownership of water?" "Nothing doing. I am afraid if I discuss that I will lose my appetite for dinner." "Has the city a real ambition for municipal ownership of water, or is it just a periodic spasm?" "Oh, yes, it has an ambition along that line, but the new City Hall is not yet completed."

The handsome drinking fountain for Library Park has arrived and is being set up. A stream of water is to run from the center of the design and there will be four compartments to drink from and two dog bowls at the base. Extending up from the center is an electric light stand containing three globes. It will cost about $250.

Co. I of the Seventh Regiment will spend its annual encampment and drill at Coronado for ten days, leaving for that place at 8:06 Monday morning, August 3. The camp will be called "Camp Last" in honor of the commanding officer of the First Brigade.

Officer McIntyre found "the worst specimen yet" of the hobo variety at the Santa Fé last night. The beau told the officer he was looking for a place to "flop," as he had just arrived from the East and was very tired. He was left flopping uneasily in the jail. The name given was G. H. Aldred.

C. Carles was yesterday's plucking from the sidewalk with the tired wheel that hates the rutty streets. He comes up this morning for contribution.

I. H. Stratton of the First National Bank will leave next week for Colorado Springs on his summer vacation.

John H. Smith of South Pasadena died at the Pasadena Hospital instead of the County Hospital, as was stated in this column.

The Sunday Times "Liner" section is the business clearinghouse of the Pacific Southwest. If you don't read it you are not up with the procession. Telephone your "wants" to Red 1451 and our Pasadena agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office. Artists' materials at Wadsworth's.

POMONA.

NEW OPERAHOUSE.

POMONA, July 31.—Reconstruction of the Fraternal Aid Association's building opposite the Methodist Church is progressing well. It was decided by the directors last night to convert the entire upper story into an operahouse instead of a lodge room, as was first intended. Frank D. Green, who is supervising the reconstruction of the building, states that a stage thirty-five feet across the front, twenty-five feet deep and twenty-two feet high will be built, and will be equipped with scenery, curtains and all modern appointments to accommodate large theatrical companies. The stage alone can be made to hold several hundred persons. Demi-opera chairs will be used and the main auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1000 with the balcony. The seats on the lower floor will be arranged on a regularly-graduated and portable incline, so that the floor may be made level if desired for fairs, etc. The lower story of the building will be rented by the Paine Feed and Fuel Company.

MINOR NOTES.

Co. D is planning to go to the regimental encampment at Coronado with sixty men on the roster. Rev. C. D. Williamson of this city, appointed chaplain of the Seventh Regiment, has taken the oath of office.

The funeral of Albert E. Clark was held this afternoon at his late residence on Alvarado street, Rev. C. D. Williamson officiating. Pomona Lodge, F. and A.M., attended in a body and conducted a Masonic burial at the cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillmore have purchased the Saddlerock restaurant on Main street.

Dr. and Mrs. I. M. Dillman, Misses Grace and Myra Bartlett and Will Bartlett left today for a two weeks' outing in Lytle Creek Cañon.

"Our wants are more than our needs." Save bother by telephoning your ad. to The Times, and then you will "want no more." Telephone your wants to Black 1111 and our Pomona Agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office.

SAWTELLE.

SAWTELLE, July 30.—The Good Templars yesterday evening elected as Past Chief Templar Mrs. Etta B. Taft; Chief Templar, W. H. Metcalf; Vice Templar, Clark Wicks; Recording Secretary, W. B. B. Taylor; Treasurer, S. H. Taft; Marshal, Grace Allen; Guard, Clarence Grewell; Financial Secretary, C. C. Weaver; Sentinel, J. W. Hoyt; Superintendent Juvenile Temple, Mrs. Hattie Hill; Organist, Miss Daisy A. Calhoun.

Steps have been taken to organize here a lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and application for charter has been made.

MONROVIA.

STREET IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

MONROVIA, July 30.—Initial steps were taken last evening for the organization of a street-improvement society. A public meeting was held, at which Henry Canoll was selected as chairman, and C. H. Anson secretary. The work to be taken up will be paving, grading and guttering of streets and the laying of cement sidewalks, as well as the planting of shade trees. All public-spirited citizens are invited to join. Several committees have been appointed and the work of street improvement will be taken up in earnest.

JOTTINGS.

The subscription list for the new First National Bank of El Monte was opened this week, and a good proportion of the stock is subscribed by business men and farmers of the town and vicinity. As soon as stock is fully subscribed organization will be effected, and the bank will open for business within a few weeks. It is given out that John H. Bartle of this place will be made president of the new bank.

The Granite Bank and Trust Company will commence business Monday morning. In its handsome granite building on Myrtle avenue.

Perry Buckner, one of Monrovia's bright, young colored boys, will leave September 1 for Booker T. Washington's Institute at Tuskegee, where he will complete his education, and fit himself either for a teacher among colored people, or learn a trade.

Allen Nye has returned from a two weeks' outing in the mountains. He secured one fine buck in Chilia Cañon.

STOMACHS IN DANGER, COOPER SAYS.

OLIVE GROWER SOUNDS ALARM AT LONG BEACH.

Inquires if Increase in Cases of Heart Failure and Defective Digestion is not Due to Impure Foods—Davis on Highways.

LONG BEACH, July 30.—The typewritten voice of Elwood Cooper of Santa Barbara county sounded a shrill note of alarm on the pure-food question at the Seaside Institute for farmers here this morning.

"Is not the remarkable increase in the number of cases of heart failure and the extension in the census of deranged stomachs due to food adulterations?" was one of the questions pointedly put. Mr. Cooper, through his typewritten essay, which was read by M. V. Hartranft of Los Angeles, expressed himself in a gloomy and discouraged style about trade conditions with reference to the food question.

"The conditions of trade," he said, "are such that honesty stands aghast and cries, 'How long? Oh Lord! How long?'

"Unsuspecting citizens must be enlightened. Honest dealing and honest industry must be dignified and protected from unscrupulous competition. There is no State appropriation for the enforcement of the pure-food law. Action should be taken by citizens and commercial and agricultural bodies to secure such an appropriation."

Mr. Cooper did not mention the olive-oil industry. He said that to particularize with reference to adulterated products would consume too much time.

"Only a few days ago," said Prof. Loughridge of the State University, "I witnessed the analysis of a sample of vinegar from the table of a friend and of a sample of milk from the table of another friend. Both samples contained formaline."

"I want to speak of the jams and jellies found in the markets," said Mrs. Sherman, the dairy woman and vineyardist of Fresno. "Articles which are sold as those products in the San Francisco markets are offered at prices lower than the pure products can be manufactured. Take fruit at prices as low as $12 or $15 a ton, and buy sugar to use with it, and the jelly you make will cost more than that sold in San Francisco can be bought for."

"The use of glucose as an adulterant," said Prof. Cook, "can generally be detected by the brassy flavor which follows a taste of the article containing the glucose."

Some of the reasons why trees of varieties which grow tall in the East and stocky when planted in California were given this afternoon by Prof. Loughridge of the State University. He ascribed the difference to the presence of lime in the California soils in proportions about ten times as great as in the eastern soils generally. "Liming of the soil," he said, "once in a few years is sufficient. The lime should be air-slacked before being applied to the soil. Many soils can be rid of alkali to a large extent by superfluous irrigation, which carries the alkali down far enough so the roots of most crops will not reach it. In the case of black alkali, when that method is employed, a hardpan is formed, but that kind of formation can be prevented by applying gypsum, which acts as a solvent."

A rousing attack on those who are lacking in civic pride was made by Mrs. L. F. Darling, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. She vitriolically paid her respects to advertising billboards bearing crude signs grossly lacking in art. "Southern California," said she, in speaking of the need of good roads, "is one great neighborhood of thrifty towns, and these should be connected with the best of thoroughfares."

Charles Cassat Davis, chairman of the Highway Commission of Los Angeles county, presented a statement of some of the chief operations of that body. "The commission," he said, "was appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Only $500 was appropriated for the expenses of the commission, so it has not been able from its funds to make any extensive improvements. One of the things on which it is working is the preparation of a map showing all the public roads of the county. The commission does not sanction the use of public funds for the improvement of private roads, and one of the purposes of the map is to show which roads are public. There are many cases of private thoroughfares which have been used for considerable periods as public roads. The commission has given a good deal of attention to the scheme for blocking, naming and numbering the country roads. The commission cooperates with communities which desire to have milestones placed along the highways. Each community is expected to provide and place the milestones, but the commission makes the measurements."

In conclusion, Mr. Davis spoke of the urgency of good roads as an attraction to the winter crop of tourists.

An exhibit of eight varieties of raspberries and three varieties of blackberries grown on the Signal Hill berry farm was made today by E. R. Meserve. The design of the exhibit is to show the value of each of the varieties for specific seasons. By request of those attending the institute, Mr. Meserve will make an exhibit Friday of tomatoes and melons.

TO ACT ON RUFFIANISM.

The incidents of lawlessness in connection with the Los Angeles Record newsboys' excursion to this beach last Sunday are to be taken up at a citizens' meeting called for that purpose. A call has been issued for a gathering to be held at the City Hall Friday evening, and has been signed by numerous citizens. S. C. Kendall, one of the signers of the call for the meeting, called at the office of the Los Angeles Record and inquired concerning the case, but about the only information vouchsafed by the publishers of that twilight sheet was the statement that the incidents of ruffianism here Sunday were not due to any fault of the Record. The people of Long Beach were declared to be the ones responsible for the outrages committed.

CUTTING WATER RATES.

An interesting war in domestic water rates is on. The Citizens' Water Company which entered the local field in competition with the Seaside Water Company, has laid mains through a considerable part of the town and has been offering to give service at rates lower than those which have been in effect with the Seaside company. Now the Seaside company has issued notices to patrons informing them that it will furnish service at rates reduced to one-half the prices which have been in effect.

BRIEFS OF LONG BEACH.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis and son of San Dimas are spending a few days at the beach.

The case of W. J. Way, the hotel man tried on a charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon and on which the jury disagreed, has been dismissed by Justice Brayton. The case of J. V. Bartow, charged with battery in connection with the same incident, has also been dismissed by Justice Brayton.

Dr. J. Needham of Glendora is spending a few days at the beach.

A. C. Malone left last evening for Chicago in response to a telegram announcing the critical illness of his brother in that city.

Justice Brayton has dismissed the case of S. J. Shafer, Jr., charged with having stolen a bath suit from the bath house. The dismissal was for lack of evidence.

Dr. E. O. McIntyre and K. W. Wing, on the launch Ivy, yesterday caught over forty bonita, bass and yellowtail.

The sessions of the Methodist camp-meeting are proceeding as arranged, and with a large attendance. Most of the sessions are routine in character. At the meeting this forenoon a sermon was delivered by Rev. F. D. Maher of Ontario.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND.

BREVITIES AND PERSONALS.

AVALON, July 30.—C. Meadows, "Arizona Charley," is here again, having come over for a bit of fishing with his friend, Capt. Burton C. Mossman.

Mrs. Ella Randolph King of Denver arrived here yesterday and is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. C. Sanger, on Eucalyptus avenue.

Mrs. M. Patrick, Forest Day and Mrs. Ida B. Murray of Denver are guests on the island.

Miss Dora Ruiz of the Tajanta ranch is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cline.

Clarence Whipple and bride, neé Miss Rose Roula, arrived here yesterday and are the guests of Mrs. E. Somers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley M. Stevens of Pasadena are at the Metropole.

Dr. Scudder's family arrived yesterday from Pasadena and are now at home in their camp on Clarissa avenue. The arrivals were R. H. Scudder, Misses Esther and Jessie Scudder and Miss Twinting.

Tuna are in evidence again and several strikes have been reported in the last two days, although there have been no net results in the shape of tuna taken. The tuna season is supposed to close with the end of July, and but five have so far been taken. The crop has been a frost.

F. P. Newport and wife of Los Angeles now hold the record for the largest yellowtail of this season, having taken one this morning which weighed forty-six pounds. It was taken at Church Rock with the launch Augusta, Mehrie Cobb skipper. Mr. Newport is having the fish mounted.

William O'Brien and William Hawkins of Colorado Springs, with their wives, were out with the Helen this morning and had wonderful success. The fishing was so fast that at the end of two hours they had all the sport they cared for and came in. Their catch included eleven yellowtail.

Mrs. J. H. Stephens went to the mainland this morning for a few days.

Miss Sylvia Waters, a teacher in the San Bernardino schools, visited the island today.

Chief of Police Elton and wife registered at Hotel Metropole today. They were accompanied by George Wittman, Chief of Police of San Francisco.

James Murray of the Los Angeles police force came today to put the finishing touches on his vacation. He has just returned from the eastern jaunt with the Shriners.

Harry Elms of Los Angeles is at the Metropole.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning are entertaining a little house party, comprising William M. Garland and wife and Walter J. Newhall and wife.

Mrs. J. Loew, the tiniest woman on the island, distinguished herself this morning by taking an eighteen-pound yellowtail.

Mrs. H. W. Mansard of Chicago left today after a pleasant visit to the enchanted isle.

R. L. Hazen, Deputy County Recorder of Los Angeles county is here for a fortnight's outing.

C. D. Grant, representing the National Packing Company of Kansas City, has been spending a few days on the island.

J. Frank Boyer, Clerk of O'Brien county, Iowa, and an expert golf and tennis player, will leave today after a pleasant visit to the island. His score at golf was 40 or better and the tennis sharps are now recovering their nerve.

Supervisor P. Wilson, with his wife and two daughters and R. L. Hazen of Los Angeles, W. Umberger, City Councilman of Kansas City, with large cattle interests in Kansas, Mrs. R. Williams and Mrs. Wooster of Pasadena were out with the Magic Isle this morning and all the ladies caught yellowtail.

W. B. McLean, while adding a veranda to Mrs. Frank Pryor's cottage on Sumner avenue, ran afoul of a swarm of bees which had made a home in the attic, and they fiercely resented intrusion. He was obliged to retreat and then he went at them with a lighted torch which won the day.

SIERRA MADRE.

FOOTHILL HAMLET ITEMS.

SIERRA MADRE, July 30.—Mrs. Cook and daughters of Pasadena, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Beck, from the East, spent a day at the foot of the old Wilson trail.

Dr. A. J. Rust has gone on a business trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Van Devere is visiting friends at Redlands.

J. G. Blumer and family will spend August at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Mace Thomson of San Francisco have been guests of J. W. Thomson.

Mrs. Melville of Los Angeles is the guest of J. E. White.

C. W. Clark and party returned home Wednesday from laying several miles of pipe line near Mojave.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Elliott and family of Los Angeles were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Barlow at "La Mananica" Saturday and Sunday

SAN PEDRO DREDGING GOES STEADILY ON.

LARGE DIPPER MACHINE IS TO REMOVE ROCK.

Channel to Wilmington Talked of, and Important Project Said to Be Backed by Southwestern Lumber Company. Sailboat Goes to Bottom.

SAN PEDRO, July 30.—The North American Dredging Company of San Francisco, which has the contract for the inner-harbor improvements at this port, contemplates sending a large dipper dredge here in a few weeks, which it will use in deepening the entrance channel near Dead Man's Island, where is claimed to be a solid rock formation. The machine that is to come to San Pedro is now used in harbor work on Puget Sound. It is one of the largest dredgers in existence, and will remove several thousand yards of dirt a day. It is said the rock can be cleared easily with the new machine.

CHANNEL TO WILMINGTON.

Olympian, the huge suction dredger now in use here, is expected to finish its part of the contract in about three months. With this work completed, vessels heretofore kept out of the harbor on account of drawing too much water will be able to come in and discharge their cargoes. Dredging will not be stopped, but a large machine to be constructed by the government will take up the work. Already the railroad companies are preparing for the increase in traffic, anticipated with the opening of the entrance channel.

There is a well-founded rumor that the suction dredger Olympian will dredge a channel to Wilmington, after the completion of its present contract. The scheme appears to be of large proportions, as it is said to be the intention to open a ninety-foot canal, with a depth of about eighteen feet at high tide, to admit of the passage of ordinary three-masted schooners, when laden with heavy lumber cargoes. Back of the project is said to be the new Southwestern Lumber Company, which lately built a large planing mill and removed its yards to Wilmington. The cost of the work will be small, comparatively speaking, as the dirt to be removed is soft and easy to handle.

This scheme, if carried out, will be of inestimable value to San Pedro and Wilmington. It will also add wonderfully to the growth of Terminal Island, and will doubtless be the means of bringing Long Beach in closer touch with the harbor. Those who have studied the conditions here say the proposed work will do more to build up the port than anything possible. It will place San Pedro in a position to accept all classes of traffic, as there will practically be no end to the dockage facilities. Ready capital for new enterprises will also be forthcoming, unless the railroads succeed in gobbling up everything in sight.

HARBOR CITY BRIEFS.

The large steamer Despatch is due from the north with a cargo of lumber for the government breakwater. In the cargo are a number of stringers to be used in extending the trestle. The pile driver has started to drive pilings again at the breakwater, and it is expected to put down as many as 400 in the next thirty days. Work is progressing rapidly on the great artificial seawall, and officials in charge of the construction work say it will be completed in about eighteen months.

The local Court of the Knights and Ladies of Security, organized some weeks ago, held a public meeting at the Wetherby Operahouse this evening and installed officers. A banquet and dance took place. There were many guests.

A sailboat belonging to Wren Horrel, a local fisherman, broke from its moorings several nights ago and sank off Dead Man's Island. Capt. Christ attempted to salvage the boat yesterday, but found large holes in the hull, where she had drifted on the rocks, and could not save her.

Charles Nelson of San Francisco, president of the large steamship and lumber company which bears this name, accompanied by L. W. Blinn of Los Angeles, visited here today.

E. Baldwin and wife of Oakland are spending several weeks as guests of Mrs. Pearl Hyde.

A party consisting of Mrs. Dr. Hulet, Mrs. Dr. Reynolds and Miss Hyett chartered a launch yesterday and was taken for a trip to Terminal, Long Beach and Point Fermin.

D. A. Moore and wife have gone to New York to visit relatives and friends for several months.

N. Korthe of this city and Miss M. Hartley of San Francisco will be married in Los Angeles Wednesday. They will reside here.

T. G. King and wife of Orange county are visiting here.

REDONDO.

SEASIDE BRIEFS.

REDONDO, July 30.—The City Trustees last evening made it compulsory for applicants for restaurant liquor licenses to apply in writing to the Board. The plan is to limit the number of licenses of this class.

The map of the new Nob Hill tract lately platted by the Redondo Improvement Company has been accepted by the city.

F. J. Shepherd, general superintendent of the Santa Fé Coast Line division, accompanied by J. C. Kelms, superintendent of car service, of Albuquerque, N. M., spent yesterday at the beach inspecting wharf No. 3.

Miss Maud Graham of Colorado Springs has taken apartments at Hotel Redondo.

J. G. Lowder, Jr., of Texas is domiciled at the Redondo Hotel.

J. A. Graham and wife of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lombard of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill of Riverside and Mrs. E. N. Barlow and daughter, Mrs. James Parsons of Denver are recent arrivals at the Tent City.

The steamer Dispatch arrived last evening from the Columbia River with 1000 poles and 150,000 pickets for James Wier Company.

The steamer Chehalis arrived today from Grays Harbor with 600,000 feet of lumber for Ganahl Lumber Company.

The steamer Melrose arrived yesterday from Gray's Harbor with 800,000 feet of lumber for Montgomery & Mullin and 200,000 feet for Ganahl Lumber Company.

SAN DIMAS.

LARGE RESERVOIR.

SAN DIMAS, July 30.—The San Dimas Irrigation Company has contracted with a Duarte firm to construct a large reservoir at the head of San Dimas avenue, to supply the domestic water for the town. When completed this will be the largest covered reservoir in this part of the country.

The members of the Auto Club of San Dimas are planning an excursion to the Seaside Farmers' Institute Saturday.

The San Dimas Lemon Association, in common with other lemon growers, has had considerable difficulty with its sweating rooms. The plaster would repeatedly fall off the walls and ceilings and interfere with the sweating process, and it became necessary to adopt other lining. All the sweating rooms have been relined with elaterite roofing and are a perfect success.

A number of ranchers here are going to the Farmers' Institute at Long Beach Saturday, the special interest in that day's programme being the address on "Fertilizers" by Frank L. Palmer of North Pomona. Mr. Palmer is the manager of the Seth Richards ranch at La Verne, the largest orange grove in California and the largest navel-orange grove in the world.

The old La Verne schoolhouse has reached its destination and has been placed on the lot near the Methodist Church. As soon as the foundations are completed the building will be fitted up for a public hall and library.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

It's not often that a father marries off two daughters at one time; still less frequent is it for a parent to lose three daughters before the fatal thrust of Cupid's dart in a little over one month; yet, that is exactly what has happened to D. L. Roach of this city.

On June 9 an elder daughter was married, and the remaining two girls —all of Mr. Roach's family, went the matrimonial way the first of this week. On Tuesday noon Miss Lena Mary Roach was married to Charles D. Breedlove of Yuma, Ariz., while at the same time Miss Anna M. Roach was married to Arthur H. Lacy of this city. The double ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father, at No. 438 Custer avenue. Officiating were Rev. Bunker of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, and Rev. J. A. Crouch of Yuma.

Nearly 125 guests were gathered within the walls of the Roach homestead, and the house was beautifully decorated in honor of the event, white and green being the prevailing scheme. The parlor was a bower of fern and honeysuckle, with a large floral canopy pendent above the spot where the marriage service was read.

The brides were attended by Miss Ethel Sidener as maid of honor, while L. D. Roach, their brother, acted as best man. James Lacy, brother of Arthur Lacy, played the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus" as the party entered. The two grooms came in at one side, attended by their single escort, while from the other side of the room came the brides, leaning on the arms of their father. Both the young ladies were gowned in white batiste over silk taffeta, trimmed with white satin ribbon. Bouquets of carnations and ferns were carried.

The ministers used the Episcopal ring service, and the father gave the brides away. With the dark-shaded rooms, and the yellow glimmer of the artificial lights, the double nuptial scene was impressive. After the ceremony a wedding banquet was given to the immediate relatives and about twenty-five of the intimate friends, after which the party started for Coronado for the usual honeymoon trip. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy will be at home at No. 490 Custer avenue after September 15. Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove will be at home in Yuma after October 1.

Miss Lena Roach was a highly-successful school teacher in the Territory, having spent four years in school work in Arizona. Mr. Breedlove is an attorney of Yuma. Mr. Lacy is with his father in business in Los Angeles, while his wife is well known among the younger social circle of the locality in which she lives.

Wedding Anniversary.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Hutchason celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding Wednesday evening, entertaining at whist in their delightful new home on Washington street.

The house was profusely decorated, the parlor and hall being in red and green, while in the dining-room large masses of daisies were artistically arranged. The scoring was done in a unique manner, each guest being given a little tin bucket in which to keep the candy hearts that recorded the points. The prizes, a Venetian glass vase and a cut-glass inkstand, were won by Mrs. Dent and Mr. Franklin. Gen. Matthews was the recipient of a cut-glass vase, the consolation prize.

Those present were Gen. and Mrs. J. R. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Dent, Judge and Mrs. Page, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Messerly, Mr. and Mrs. Burkhalter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. Fillmore, Mr. and Mrs. Webster, the Misses Page, Dent, Judd, Gibbs, Burkhalter and Slaughter, and Messrs. John B. Franklin, Walter Reece and Burt Helms.

Wedding Reception.

A delightful wedding reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Rodger at their new home, No. 1115 Wall street, Tuesday evening. Crokinole, cards and music took up the time and dainty refreshments were served in the dining-room. Pepper boughs were artistically used in decorating the interior, while Japanese lanterns swung from the porch. Mr. and Mrs. Rodger were the recipients of many presents.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Charry, Mrs. Metz, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Prindle, Misses Hattie Ruggles, Persis Bingham, Mabel Prindle, Katherine Rodger, Olivia Smith, Belle Patterson; Messrs. Ernest Langbien, Clinton Johnson, Roy Nelson, Rudolph Metz, H. Lee, C. Prindle, Newell Ruggles, Louis Duncan, B. Crocker and C. Moon.

"The Skylarks."

The Skylarks, a jolly club of young men, entertained their lady friends at Hadrich's last evening with whist, music and a supper. Decorations were in cardinal and gold, and menu cards were beach souvenirs, with backs of ocean photographs, bound together with moss and seaweed. Several well-rendered flute solos were given by Mr. Page.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Randall, the Misses Boynton, Merston, Colebridge, Shannon, Meredith and Burswick, and Messrs. Smith, Reynolds, Belknapp, Burr, Merston, Bridges and Page.

Notes and Personals.

Of interest to many is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Clara Dorothy Duehring, daughter of Mr. Dorothy Duehring, daughter of No. 1408 West Twelfth street, to W. H. Ely, a resident of Los Angeles, employed with the Home Telephone Company. The wedding will take place in October.

Miss Anna Eflinger of Bluffton, Ind., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Stejanek of No. 634 East Twenty-first street.

Mrs. S. J. Newlee of No. 920 East Twenty-fifth street is entertaining Mrs. Dora Wish of Stafford, Ariz.

INJUNS HAVE A POW-WOW.

Local Iroquois Club Deeply Stirred by a Times Editorial and a Question of Pie.

About forty members of the Iroquois Club met last night, smoked the pipes of peace and resolved to vindicate themselves in the eyes of the public.

There was an animated discussion concerning the editorial in last Sunday's Times, with reference to the former meeting of the club when Senator Bard was foolishly scored for his action concerning Arizona Statehood. Those present last night felt that The Times should be lambasted for the manner in which it lampooned the club and the speakers, but who was to undertake the job? Finally a committee, consisting of Sire Clark and C. N. Wright, was appointed to hunt up Mark A. Smith of Arizona, who was one of the speakers against Senator Bard, and enlist him for the task, at a meeting of the club to be held on next Thursday evening.

Another live subject broached was that of city and county consolidation. There was a warm discussion of this question, and it was quite generally the Democratic theory that the consolidation of the two governments would cut them entirely out of "pie." Some of the braves stood in great awe of the vote at the Soldiers' Home. In order to get more light upon the subject, Earl Rogers and Frank Finlayson were appointed a committee to provide speakers to present the pros and cons of this question at the next meeting.

That extra inducements might be held out to the members to attend this important meeting, when The Times is to be served with a roast and the question of "pie" discussed, a committee was appointed to provide a smoker and the attendant frills. Let all the braves take notice.

REMNANT SALE

LAST DAY OF HALF YEARLY CLEANUP SALE.

HAPPIEST PLACE TO TRADE [INC] Hamburger's 121 to 131 N. Spring St. Los Angeles

Beach Tickets with $2.50 Purchases and over Saturday

THIS great sale has been in progress nearly three weeks and has been the biggest midsummer sale we have ever held. Our only object has been to reduce all stocks before our semi-annual stock taking August 1, but naturally such rapid selling has left us with a number of broken lines in remnant lengths of some very choice merchandise which in order to dispose of on this, the last day of the great sale, have been reduced so low in price that you can afford to supply yourself with a number of very useful pieces at really less than the actual cost in some cases to manufacture. We are satisfied that the Los Angeles public will agree that never before in local merchandising have such chances been offered to secure really worthy goods at such little prices.
